Court Takes Voting Case Under Study

Judges To Rule On U. S. Appeal At Later Date

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The authority of the federal government over states in civil rights cases came into sharp focus Friday in a voting case before the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

The federal government argued the state of Alabama can be enjoined in the Macon County vote registration case.

Alabama countered that only individual persons may be sued under the Civil Rights Act, and that the sovereign states traditionally are exempted from such suits.

WEIGH TESTIMONY

The three-judge court took the case under study after about one hour of testimony. Chief Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson said the case would be weighed impartially.

Asst. Atty. Gen. W. Wilson White, chief of the civil rights division, told the court he believed the main issue to be determined is whether the state of Alabama is subject to injunctive action under the Civil Rights Act.

The federal government appealed the case after U. S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., at Montgomery, dismissed the government's case March 6.

Hare said Congress did not intend to make any exception to legal provisions against suits against sovereign states. White argued Congress did. Both men cited testimony before Congressional hearings to back their claims.

Counsel for Alabama argued that only in proprietary cases, where state owned property is involved, does the law allow a state to be sued.

White said former U. S. Atty. Gen. Brownell told congressional hearings the Justice Department was asking authority to begin civil injunctive proceedings against states in vote denial and other civil rights cases.

Their Marriage Breaks Up

The 15½-year-old marriage of former dancing star Eleanor Powell and actor Glenn Ford, long considered one of Hollywood's happiest, broke up Friday when she filed suit for divorce. Angry Critic Blasted Back By Strauss

Cabinet Nominee Gives Rebuttal To Top Physicist

The physicist, David R. Inglis, looked on as Strauss issued a point-by-point rebuttal to charges Inglis had levelled Thursday before the Senate Commerce Committee. Strauss called them "undocumented opinions. . .unverified allegations. . .a series of misstatements."

LASHES BACK

Inglis, incoming chairman of the Federation of American Scientists, had testified that Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, had slowed scientific development because of his anti-intellectualism and "overzealousness" for security in the AEC post.

In lashing back at Inglis for what he called the physicist's disregard for scientific "objectivity and verification of the facts," Strauss said the truth was he gave scientists unprecedented representation on the AEC when he was chairman.

They said Inglis was a former member of a group once cited by the House Committee on Un-American Activities and had made statements in defense of convicted perjurer Alger Hiss. This provoked a dispute over "McCarthyism."

Inglis interjected that he was a long-time Republican until Strauss' activities in the Eisenhower administration led him to support Adlai E. Stevenson in the 1956 presidential campaign.

The committee has been holding hearings off and on since March on Strauss' nomination. He has been serving in the cabinet since October under a recess appointment.

Strauss received a bit of help Friday from Sen. John O. Pastore (D-R.I.), acting committee chair-

Jail Where Man Is Held Kept Secret

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — Jittery officers — fearing mob action against a Negro accused in the savage rape and slaying of a white woman — Friday played a touch - and - go game to hide his whereabouts.

Ora Lee Rogers, 23-year-old Ville Platte man, was whisked into Rapides Parish (county) jail here by heavily armed deputies. Officers tried to keep his presence secret in an apparent security move.

Then a few hours later, the accused man was questioned here and spirited out again to an undisclosed hideaway.

ADMITS STABBING

The rape-slaying of Mrs. Lumley Guillory, 36, occurred in the tiny south-central Louisiana community of Reddell. The victim's young daughter was sleeping in an adjoining room, officers said.

Sheriff Frank Fontenot of Evangeline Parish said Rogers, under questioning earlier, admitted stabbing the woman.

Dist. Atty. L. O. Fusilier said he planned to charge Rogers with rape and murder. He planned to confer Saturday with the district judge to call a special session of the Evangeline Parish grand jury to consider the case.

Fusilier denied the authorities in the parish feared mob action, but said the Ville Platte jail is 50 years old and not secure enough to hold a dangerous prisoner.

Public indignation revolted at the early morning killing. Mrs. Guillory, a prominent woman in the tiny community, was bludgeoned with two hammers, stabbed in the chest with a 10-

Surrender Ends Panama Invasion

PANAMA (AP) — The invasion of Panama fell apart Friday in the coastal area where it began. The bedraggled invaders surrendered and were taken without a fight to face their punishment.

The main body of the invaders from Cuba — more than 80 men — put down arms in a quick, bloodless climax to the action that began last weekend in this strategic Central American country.

The surrender to Panamanian troops was carried out under the eyes of representatives of the Organization of American States in the little coastal town of Nombre de Dios. The invaders took over the town after their landing and then holed up there and spent most of the week talking surrender.

PUT DOWN ARMS

The announcement that they had given up was made by Fernando Lobo, head of the observation team rushed to Panama by the Organization of American States to check on the invasion.

He said more than 80 and perhaps as many as 86 men had put down their arms and handed themselves over to guard troops. Panama Minister of Government, J. D. Bazan put the number at 87.

Lobo, Brazilian ambassador to the OAS, said, "There are a few

Ship Blast, Fire Injures 5 Men

WEST VANCOUVER, B. C. (UPI) —An explosion and fire raged through a Norwegian freighter forcing the crew to abandon ship Friday night after five crew members were injured.

Earlier reports had indicated that two sailors had died in the explosion that rocked the freighter Ferngulf late Friday but these were later discounted by harbor officials.

House Ends Hearings On Civil Rights

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A House judiciary subcommittee wound up 17 days of hearings on civil rights legislation Friday preparatory to starting work on a bill.

The hearings, which covered almost two months, ended with a flurry of statements on both sides of the civil rights issue. An additional week was allowed for other statements to be filed.

The last witness was Gordon M. Tiffany, staff director of the federal Civil Rights Commission. He denied charges that the commission's televised hearing in Montgomery, Ala., last December was conducted in a "circus-like" manner.

Gov. John Patterson and other Alabama witnesses made the charges in testimony last month.

Tiffany said the commission followed procedural rules similar to those of Senate hearings. He said no complaint was made about camera lights or facilities in the room at the time of the hearing.

He testified after Joseph L.

Luce Resigns, Senate May Censure Foe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Clare Boothe Luce regretfully resigned Friday as ambassador to Brazil on grounds that Sen. Wayne Morse's "extraordinarily ugly" charges made it impossible for her to fulfill her delicate Latin American mission.

Shortly after the lady diplomat handed her resignation to President Eisenhower, Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) called on the Senate to censure Morse for his attacks on Mrs. Luce. Capehart said he would confer with other senators to decide what action to take.

BLAMES MORSE

Mrs. Luce told the President that if she went to Brazil, Morse's "furious and foolish" charges could be exploited by "any political element" seeking to discredit the United States. She also said she would be subjected to Morse's "continuous harassment."

"And the sad fact is not that I, but Brazilian - American policy, would be the victim," she said.

Morse, chairman of the Senate foreign relations subcommittee on Latin America, said Mrs. Luce and the President "are to be commended for the decision they have reached." He added that he stood "on the record" he made in fighting her nomination.

The fiery Oregon Democrat also said he would "never flinch" from a similar fight in the future even though "it is never pleasant to get involved in a controversy such as this."

Mrs. Luce's husband, publisher Henry R. Luce, who had urged her to resign as a result of her row with Morse, had no statement on her resignation. But he previously had cited some of the reasons given by Mrs. Luce in her letter of resignation to the President.

Mrs Luce, who has said her troubles started when Morse was kicked in the head by a horse, also had no comment on her resignation other than the reasons cited in her letter.

The President accepted her resignation with regret at an hour-long White House meeting during which she turned down his personal plea that she reconsider. Mrs. Luce was confirmed by the Senate, 79-11, just four days ago and thus never took her post.

TAKES LIE DETECTOR TEST

Mother Quizzed In Girl's Murder

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — The mother of three-year-old Sharon Crossman, the victim of an unknown assailant, became "emotionally upset" during a lie detector test Friday night and investigators called off interrogation of Mrs. Eleanor Crossman "until a later date."

Homicide Chief Harry Klenk said results of the test, conducted at police headquarters for about two hours, were "inconclusive." Klenk said Mrs. Crossman, who submitted to questioning voluntarily, appeared in such an emotional state "we were not able to gauge her replies correctly."

RETURN HOME

Mrs. Crossman, 27, and her husband, Robert, 28, who accompanied her to police headquarters, were permitted to return home to complete funeral arrangements for little Sharon. The battered body of the frail, blonde youngster, missing for more than 50 hours, was found Thursday night under a porch in a teeming district on the city's East Side.

Chief Klenk said Sharon's funeral will be Monday. He declined to say when Mrs. Crossman would be questioned again.

Police brought Mrs. Crossman to headquarters in an attempt to

Crackdown Set On Abuses Of Traffic Laws

Monroe police authorities looked at reports of increases in minor traffic violation-caused accidents yesterday and announced an immediate crackdown to boost an already stiff traffic law enforcement policy.

Chief James C. Kelly Jr. and Major Jack Davis, head of the traffic division, concluded "we can't do anything about the accidents caused by weather conditions, but the violations can probably be cut more".

Both said that current rigid enforcement of traffic regulations would get a shot in the arm.

Kelly pointed to 128 accidents in April this year compared to 92 of last year.

For the first four months this year there have been 451 with 410 for the first four months of 1958.

There were 21 injuries last month and 20 for April last year. No deaths occurred either month.

LAST DEATH

The last death, March 1958, was that of a young Negro boy struck by a car on Powell Avenue at Halsell Street.

Kelly pleaded again for careful driving and said he hoped for another accident-free year. Free

U.S. Antitrust Complaint Filed

In a civil complaint filed in U. S. District Court, the government charged that Hertz, by acquiring other concerns, has throttled competition in renting automobiles throughout the United States.

9-Foot Channel Funds Opposed By Rail Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—Railroad opposition to appropriation of funds for projects which would improve the Arkansas, Ouachita and Alabama-Coosa rivers for navigation was sounded before the House Public Works Appropriations subcommittee Friday.

The opposition came from Doswell Gullatt, testifying in behalf of the Assn. of American Railroads.

Earlier this week the committee heard testimony from various groups seeking funds for projects which would provide nine-foot navigation channels on the Ouachita and Arkansas.

Gullatt said he had an analysis concerning the proposed Ouachita project which shows "there is no basis for the economic justification" for the Ouachita navigation project and no federal funds should be voted for it.

Likewise, he contended, there is no bona fide engineering or economic appraisal available to justify construction of the Arkansas navigation project.

Therefore, he said, "any estimate submitted by the Corps of Engineers as to the ultimate cost of this project is conjectural and

Productive Field Prospects Seen As Well Finished

The successful completion of a new wildcat oil well in Richland parish opened up possibilities for another productive field in the petroleum - rich 14 - parish Monroe district, according to Duncan S. Cook, head of the local office of the state conservation department.

Ben D. Marks' Baker, et al, No. 1 struck the oil deposit in the Tuscaloosa Sand on April 16. The well is located one and a half miles northeast of Mangham in Section 33, Township 16, Range 7 east.

Last Thursday the well gauged 66 barrels per day through a 9-64 in. choke. Oil of 38.9 gravity is flowing from perforations between 3270 and 3278 feet. Total depth is 3326 ft.

McCarter, who is also a private oil and gas exploration consultant, said that Marks well, just 1,500 feet from the new producer, was temporarily abandoned about two weeks ago in favor of the Baker No. 1 location.

However, he said, the hole was not plugged and now probably will be put back into operation.

Iraq Point Four Program Slows

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Government officials said Friday that American contractors and technicians in Communist - threatened Iraq have been increasingly harassed and threatened in recent months.

One official said Point Four programs had been slowed almost to a halt. Others said U.S. engineers and contractors helping to build roads and dams have encountered countless hindrances. One official called it "sabotage."

Some Americans have been threatened but none has been mistreated so far. The trouble appears to be at least partially Communist-inspired but not a nationwide organized effort. Even so, officials said it presents serious implications for continued commercial operations in the Mideast country.

WIFE WATCHES IN HORROR

Two Survive Fall From Sixth Floor

NEW YORK (AP)—A Queens woman watched in horror Friday as her 3-year-old son and then her husband hurtled to the ground from their sixth-floor apartment.

Police said the father threw the boy out the window and then jumped out. Both survived the fall and were reported in fair condition at St. John's Hospital, Long Island City.

The Haynie family's day of horror began before dawn when the father, Horace, 34, a steelworker, wakened his wife, Leeanna, 34, and their six children.

Mrs. Haynie later told police he began "yelling and praying" and ordered her to summon a priest, but "no cops."

The woman was returning with two officers when she saw her son, Abraham, hurtling down. She screamed. Her husband then plunged to the ground.

Father and son landed on a rain-sodden lawn.

The five other children, 8 months to 11 years old, were found cowering in a room upstairs.

FOR TECHNICAL REASONS

U. S. Cancels June Venus Rocket Shot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States Friday cancelled plans to fire a rocket to Venus in June because of "technical difficulties."

The announcement was made by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which said an attempt will be made later. Official sources said the next likely time for a Venus shot would be Jan. 13, 1961.

The space agency said it had "postponed" three space launchings originally planned for April and June.

The April shot was billed as an attempt to put a satellite into an elongated orbit reaching 30,000 miles into space. The satellite would have been launched with an Air Force Thor-Able four - stage rocket of the type that sent America's first lunar probe into space.

On June 3 and June 4, the space agency had planned to launch a Thor-Able and an Atlas - Able on Venus trajectories.

The space agency said the postponement was prompted by "technical difficulties."

"Engineering difficulties developed in both the payload and the boost-vehicle systems," Dr. Abe Silverstein, NASA director of space flight development, said. "Therefore the firings have been postponed until a later time."

He said the Air Force was in complete agreement with the decision.

NASA said the satellite planned for a long elliptical orbit reaching 30,000 miles into space would have tested equipment to be used in the Venus shots.

The two June shots would have been designed "to obtain cosmic radiation and other data on journeys millions of miles into space in the general direction of Venus."

Court Takes Voting Case Under Study

Judges To Rule On U. S. Appeal At Later Date

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The authority of the federal government over states in civil rights cases came into sharp focus Friday in a voting case before the U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals.

The federal government argued the state of Alabama can be enjoined in the Macon County vote registration case.

Alabama countered that only individual persons may be sued under the Civil Rights Act, and that the sovereign states traditionally are exempted from such suits.

WEIGH TESTIMONY

The three-judge court took the case under study after about one hour of testimony. Chief Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson said the case would be weighed impartially.

Asst. Atty. Gen. W. Wilson White, chief of the civil rights division, told the court he believed the main issue to be determined is whether the state of Alabama is subject to injunctive action under the Civil Rights Act.

The federal government appealed the case after U. S. Dist. Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., at Montgomery, dismissed the government's case March 6.

Hare said Congress did not intend to make any exception to legal provisions against suits against sovereign states. White argued Congress did. Both men cited testimony before Congressional hearings to back their claims.

Counsel for Alabama argued that only in proprietary cases, where state owned property is involved, does the law allow a state to be sued.

White said former U. S. Atty. Gen. Brownell told congressional hearings the Justice Department was asking authority to begin civil injunctive proceedings against states in vote denial and other civil rights cases.

Angry Critic Blasted Back By Strauss

Cabinet Nominee Gives Rebuttal To Top Physicist

The physicist, David R. Inglis, looked on as Strauss issued a point-by-point rebuttal to charges Inglis had levelled Thursday before the Senate Commerce Committee. Strauss called them "undocumented opinions. . .unverified allegations. . .a series of misstatements."

LASHES BACK

Inglis, incoming chairman of the Federation of American Scientists, had testified that Strauss, former chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, had slowed scientific development because of his anti-intellectualism and "overzealousness" for security in the AEC post.

In lashing back at Inglis for what he called the physicist's disregard for scientific "objectivity and verification of the facts," Strauss said the truth was he gave scientists unprecedented representation on the AEC when he was chairman.

They said Inglis was a former member of a group once cited by the House Committee on Un-American Activities and had made statements in defense of convicted perjurer Alger Hiss. This provoked a dispute over "McCarthyism."

Inglis interjected that he was a long-time Republican until Strauss' activities in the Eisenhower administration led him to support Adlai E. Stevenson in the 1956 presidential campaign.

The committee has been holding hearings off and on since March on Strauss' nomination. He has been serving in the cabinet since October under a recess appointment.

Strauss received a bit of help Friday from Sen. John O. Pastore (D-R.I.), acting committee chair-

Jail Where Man Is Held Kept Secret

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP) — Jittery officers — fearing mob action against a Negro accused in the savage rape and slaying of a white woman — Friday played a touch - and - go game to hide his whereabouts.

Ora Lee Rogers, 23-year-old Ville Platte man, was whisked into Rapides Parish (county) jail here by heavily armed deputies. Officers tried to keep his presence secret in an apparent security move.

Then a few hours later, the accused man was questioned here and spirited out again to an undisclosed hideaway.

ADMITS STABBING

The rape-slaying of Mrs. Lumley Guillory, 36, occurred in the tiny south-central Louisiana community of Reddell. The victim's young daughter was sleeping in an adjoining room, officers said.

Sheriff Frank Fontenot of Evangeline Parish said Rogers, under questioning earlier, admitted stabbing the woman.

Dist. Atty. L. O. Fusilier said he planned to charge Rogers with rape and murder. He planned to confer Saturday with the district judge to call a special session of the Evangeline Parish grand jury to consider the case.

Fusilier denied the authorities in the parish feared mob action, but said the Ville Platte jail is 50 years old and not secure enough to hold a dangerous prisoner.

Public indignation revolted at the early morning killing. Mrs. Guillory, a prominent woman in the tiny community, was bludgeoned with two hammers, stabbed in the chest with a 10-

Luce Resigns, Senate May Censure Foe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Clare Boothe Luce regretfully resigned Friday as ambassador to Brazil on grounds that Sen. Wayne Morse's "extraordinarily ugly" charges made it impossible for her to fulfill her delicate Latin American mission.

Shortly after the lady diplomat handed her resignation to President Eisenhower, Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) called on the Senate to censure Morse for his attacks on Mrs. Luce. Capehart said he would confer with other senators to decide what action to take.

BLAMES MORSE

Mrs. Luce told the President that if she went to Brazil, Morse's "furious and foolish" charges could be exploited by "any political element" seeking to discredit the United States. She also said she would be subjected to Morse's "continuous harassment."

"And the sad fact is not that I, but Brazilian-American policy, would be the victim," she said.

Morse, chairman of the Senate foreign relations subcommittee on Latin America, said Mrs. Luce and the President "are to be commended for the decision they have reached." He added that he stood "on the record" he made in fighting her nomination.

The fiery Oregon Democrat also said he would "never flinch" from a similar fight in the future even though "it is never pleasant to get involved in a controversy such as this."

Mrs. Luce's husband, publisher Henry R. Luce, who had urged her to resign as a result of her row with Morse, had no statement on her resignation. But he previously had cited some of the reasons given by Mrs. Luce in her letter of resignation to the President.

Mrs. Luce, who has said her troubles started when Morse was kicked in the head by a horse, also had no comment on her resignation other than the reasons cited in her letter.

The President accepted her resignation with regret at an hour-long White House meeting during which she turned down his personal plea that she reconsider. Mrs. Luce was confirmed by the Senate, 79-11, just four days ago and thus never took her post.

Homicide Chief Harry Klenk said results of the test, conducted at police headquarters for about two hours, were "inconclusive." Klenk said Mrs. Crossman, who submitted to questioning voluntarily, appeared in such an emotional state "we were not able to gauge her replies correctly."

RETURN HOME

Mrs. Crossman, 27, and her husband, Robert, 28, who accompanied her to police headquarters, were permitted to return home to complete funeral arrangements for little Sharon. The battered body of the frail, blonde youngster, missing for more than 50 hours, was found Thursday night under a porch in a teeming district on the city's East Side.

Chief Klenk said Sharon's funeral will be Monday. He declined to say when Mrs. Crossman would be questioned again.

Crackdown Set On Abuses Of Traffic Laws

Monroe police authorities looked at reports of increases in minor traffic violation-caused accidents yesterday and announced an immediate crackdown to boost an already stiff traffic law enforcement policy.

Chief James C. Kelly Jr. and Major Jack Davis, head of the traffic division, concluded "we can't do anything about the accidents caused by weather conditions, but the violations can probably be cut more".

Both said that current rigid enforcement of traffic regulations would get a shot in the arm.

Kelly pointed to 128 accidents in April this year compared to 92 of last year.

For the first four months this year there have been 451 with 410 for the first four months of 1958.

There were 21 injuries last month and 20 for April last year. No deaths occurred either month.

LAST DEATH

The last death, March 1958, was that of a young Negro boy struck by a car on Powell Avenue at Halsell Street.

Kelly pleaded again for careful driving and said he hoped for another accident-free year. Free

U.S. Antitrust Complaint Filed

In a civil complaint filed in U. S. District Court, the government charged that Hertz, by acquiring other concerns, has throttled competition in renting automobiles throughout the United States.

9-Foot Channel Funds Opposed By Rail Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—Railroad opposition to appropriation of funds for projects which would improve the Arkansas, Ouachita and Alabama-Coosa rivers for navigation was sounded before the House Public Works Appropriations subcommittee Friday.

Earlier this week the committee heard testimony from various groups seeking funds for projects which would provide nine-foot navigation channels on the Ouachita and Arkansas.

Gullatt said he had an analysis concerning the proposed Ouachita project which shows "there is no basis for the economic justification" for the Ouachita navigation project and no federal funds should be voted for it.

Likewise, he contended, there is no bona fide engineering or economic appraisal available to justify construction of the Arkansas navigation project.

Therefore, he said, "any estimate submitted by the Corps of Engineers as to the ultimate cost of this project is conjectural and

Productive Field Prospects Seen As Well Finished

The successful completion of a new wildcat oil well in Richland parish opened up possibilities for another productive field in the petroleum - rich 14 - parish Monroe district, according to Duncan S. Cook, head of the local office of the state conservation department.

Ben D. Marks' Baker, et al, No. 1 struck the oil deposit in the Tuscaloosa Sand on April 16. The well is located one and a half miles northeast of Mangham in Section 33, Township 16, Range 7 east.

Last Thursday the well gauged 66 barrels per day through a 9-64 in. choke. Oil of 38.9 gravity is flowing from perforations between 3270 and 3278 feet. Total depth is 3326 ft.

McCarter, who is also a private oil and gas exploration consultant, said that Marks well, just 1,500 feet from the new producer, was temporarily abandoned about two weeks ago in favor of the Baker No. 1 location.

However, he said, the hole was not plugged and now probably will be put back into operation.

Iraq Point Four Program Slows

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Government officials said Friday that American contractors and technicians in Communist - threatened Iraq have been increasingly harassed and threatened in recent months.

One official said Point Four programs had been slowed almost to a halt. Others said U.S. engineers and contractors helping to build roads and dams have encountered countless hindrances. One official called it "sabotage."

Some Americans have been threatened but none has been mistreated so far. The trouble appears to be at least partially Communist-inspired but not a nationwide organized effort. Even so, officials said it presents serious implications for continued commercial operations in the Mideast country.

WIFE WATCHES IN HORROR

Two Survive Fall From Sixth Floor

NEW YORK (AP)—A Queens woman watched in horror Friday as her 3-year-old son and then her husband hurtled to the ground from their sixth-floor apartment.

Police said the father threw the boy out the window and then jumped out. Both survived the fall and were reported in fair condition at St. John's Hospital, Long Island City.

The Haynie family's day of horror began before dawn when the father, Horace, 34, a steelworker, wakened his wife, Leeanna, 34, and their six children.

Mrs. Haynie later told police he began "yelling and praying" and ordered her to summon a priest, but "no cops."

The woman was returning with two officers when she saw her son, Abraham, hurtling down. She screamed. Her husband then plunged to the ground.

Father and son landed on a rain-sodden lawn.

The five other children, 8 months to 11 years old, were found cowering in a room upstairs.

FOR TECHNICAL REASONS

U. S. Cancels June Venus Rocket Shot

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States Friday cancelled plans to fire a rocket to Venus in June because of "technical difficulties."

The announcement was made by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, which said an attempt will be made later. Official sources said the next likely time for a Venus shot would be Jan. 13, 1961.

The space agency said it had "postponed" three space launchings originally planned for April and June.

The April shot was billed as an attempt to put a satellite into an elongated orbit reaching 30,000 miles into space. The satellite would have been launched with an Air Force Thor-Able four - stage rocket of the type that sent America's first lunar probe into space.

On June 3 and June 4, the space agency had planned to launch a Thor-Able and an Atlas - Able on Venus trajectories.

The space agency said the postponement was prompted by "technical difficulties."

"Engineering difficulties developed in both the payload and the boost-vehicle systems," Dr. Abe Silverstein, NASA director of space flight development, said. "Therefore the firings have been postponed until a later time."

He said the Air Force was in complete agreement with the decision.

NASA said the satellite planned for a long elliptical orbit reaching 30,000 miles into space would have tested equipment to be used in the Venus shots.

The two June shots would have been designed "to obtain cosmic radiation and other data on journeys millions of miles into space in the general direction of Venus."

Shotgun Blast Ends Life Of Area Resident

WINNSBORO (Special) — A blast from a 12 guage shotgun yesterday ended the life of Albert Renka, 74-year-old retired Winnsboro farmer.

Dr. Vernon T. Baldwin, deputy Franklin parish coroner, said the wound was apparently self inflicted.

Renka's wife told authorities who heard the shot and rushed out to the garage and found her husband dead in front of the building.

Beside him were a single-barrel 12 gauge shotgun and a stick with a nail driven in one end, she told officials.

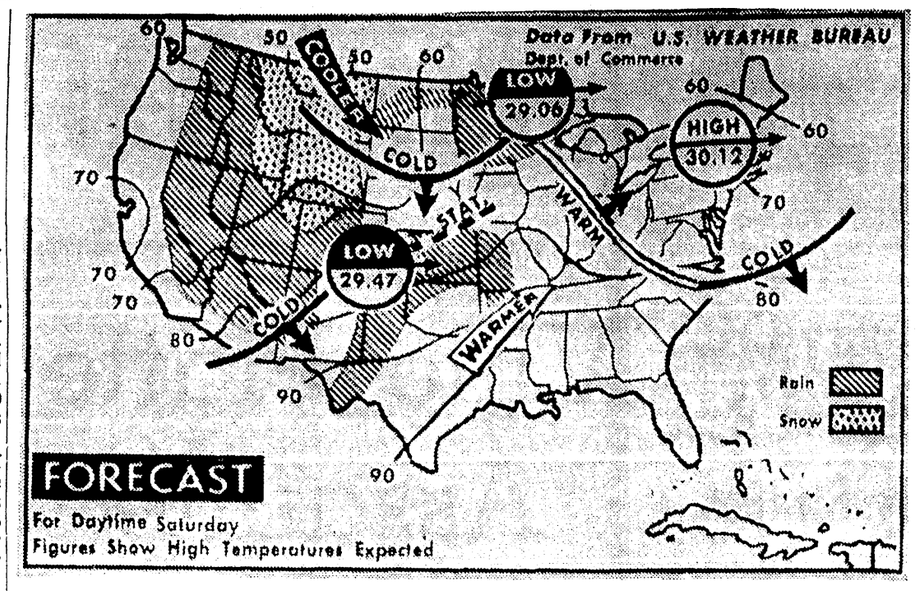

Authorities said that evidently Renka had used the stick to pull the trigger. A swarm of shot entered his left chest and dispersed downward.

Mrs. Renka could give no reason for the tragedy.

Born in Yugoslavia in 1885, Renka moved to Franklin parish in 1913.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete last night but will be handled by the First National Funeral Home.

Mental Health Consideration Is Being Stressed

More consideration of mental health is being stressed by the Northeast Branch of the Louisiana Association for Mental Health in cooperation with the national organization this week.

Aiding the local organization in the educational campaign is Dr. George S. Stevenson, medical consultant to the National Association for Mental Health.

Stevenson writes that more and more people are coming to understand that mental illness is not a stigma, but a sickness. And it is a sickness which responds to proper treatment.

This change in attitude is due to improved techniques and developments in the treatment of emotional disturbances, the doctor said.

THREE TYPES

He then outlined three types of mental disorder treatments which are being used today.

First is "Milieu" therapy which consists of recommended changes in work, recreation and social relationships when the mentally ill person is in an aggravated enviroment.

The second approach is to attempt to influence the illness by working with the patient's thoughts and emotions through spoken communication. In this way specialists seek to change the patient's attitudes and feelings.

Thirdly, doctors try to influence mental illness by working on the patient's nervous system, glands and muscles with the aim of altering or correcting the disorder.

Robbery Try Fails; Bastrop Man Assaulted

BASTROP (Special)—A posse of deputies and city policemen spread out over Bastrop last night after two Negroes assaulted a package liquor dealer with a rock and fled on foot after a futile robbery attempt.

Guy Stevenson, 55, the victim, told reporters the incident came during a business lull about 8:40 p. m. He was alone.

Stevenson said he was cut on the head but was not knocked down.

He said he had never seen the Negroes before but that both came in as customers asking the prices of wine and whiskey. Neither wore masks, he added.

Stevenson said he was near the counter when the pair came in and walked from behind it as one of the Negroes swung a hand-sized rock.

FELL TO FLOOR

"They didn't knock me out and ran when I came out from behind the counter. Neither showed any weapon besides the rock which fell to the floor after they hit me," Stevenson said.

The package store is a mile north of the Morehouse Parish Courthouse on the Crossett, Ark., highway.

Stevenson said he didn't see a car and believed the pair were walking.

Neither spoke during the assault, Stevenson said.

Morehouse Sheriff Red Hinton and Bastrop Police Chief Ray Sibley had a possee organized less than ten minutes after Stevenson notifed officers he had been assaulted.

Several houses and business places are near the package store.

Stevenson said at 10 p. m. he was enroute to the hospital for treatment of a small cut on his head. Other than that he was not hurt, the businessman said.

WINNSBORO (Special) — A blast from a 12 guage shotgun yesterday ended the life of Albert Renka, 74-year-old retired Winnsboro farmer.

Dr. Vernon T. Baldwin, deputy Franklin parish coroner, said the wound was apparently self inflicted.

Renka's wife told authorities who heard the shot and rushed out to the garage and found her husband dead in front of the building.

Beside him were a single-barrel 12 gauge shotgun and a stick with a nail driven in one end, she told officials.

Authorities said that evidently Renka had used the stick to pull the trigger. A swarm of shot entered his left chest and dispersed downward.

Mrs. Renka could give no reason for the tragedy.

Born in Yugoslavia in 1885, Renka moved to Franklin parish in 1913.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete last night but will be handled by the First National Funeral Home.

Mental Health Consideration Is Being Stressed

More consideration of mental health is being stressed by the Northeast Branch of the Louisiana Association for Mental Health in cooperation with the national organization this week.

Aiding the local organization in the educational campaign is Dr. George S. Stevenson, medical consultant to the National Association for Mental Health.

Stevenson writes that more and more people are coming to understand that mental illness is not a stigma, but a sickness. And it is a sickness which responds to proper treatment.

This change in attitude is due to improved techniques and developments in the treatment of emotional disturbances, the doctor said.

THREE TYPES

He then outlined three types of mental disorder treatments which are being used today.

First is "Milieu" therapy which consists of recommended changes in work, recreation and social relationships when the mentally ill person is in an aggravated environment.

The second approach is to attempt to influence the illness by working with the patient's thoughts and emotions through spoken communication. In this way specialists seek to change the patient's attitudes and feelings.

Thirdly, doctors try to influence mental illness by working on the patient's nervous system, glands and muscles with the aim of altering or correcting the disorder.

The body will lie in state in Hall's Chapel until time for services. Interment will be in the church cemetery under the direction of Hall's Funeral Home.

Brantley, and Mrs. James Neal, all of West Monroe; two brothers, John and Allen, both of Monroe; a sister, Mrs. Martha Barnes, Monroe; five grandchildren, one great grandchild and a number of nieces and nephews.

Robbery Try Fails; Bastrop Man Assaulted

BASTROP (Special)—A posse of deputies and city policemen spread out over Bastrop last night after two Negroes assaulted a package liquor dealer with a rock and fled on foot after a futile robbery attempt.

Guy Stevenson, 55, the victim, told reporters the incident came during a business lull about 8:40 p. m. He was alone.

Stevenson said he was cut on the head but was not knocked down.

He said he had never seen the Negroes before but that both came in as customers asking the prices of wine and whiskey. Neither wore masks, he added.

Stevenson said he was near the counter when the pair came in and walked from behind it as one of the Negroes swung a hand-sized rock.

FELL TO FLOOR

"They didn't knock me out and ran when I came out from behind the counter. Neither showed any weapon besides the rock which fell to the floor after they hit me," Stevenson said.

The package store is a mile north of the Morehouse Parish Courthouse on the Crossett, Ark., highway.

Stevenson said he didn't see a car and believed the pair were walking.

Neither spoke during the assault, Stevenson said.

Morehouse Sheriff Red Hinton and Bastrop Police Chief Ray Sibley had a possee organized less than ten minutes after Stevenson notifed officers he had been assaulted.

Several houses and business places are near the package store.

Stevenson said at 10 p. m. he was enroute to the hospital for treatment of a small cut on his head. Other than that he was not hurt, the businessman said.

Sanders had left Shreveport's Greater Municipal Airport at 4:29 p. m. in his private Cessna. He landed here at 5:30.

Present for the blessing of the two new buildings—first structures completed for a larger school plant—were Bishop Charles P. Greco of the Alexandria Diocese and Rev. Pius J. Barth, OFM, St. Louis Provincial of the Franciscan Fathers.

The convent, a brick veneer building, and the auditorium-cafeteria, constructed of brick and concrete block, are located on South 16th Street off Texas Avenue in Monroe. The Rev. Father Ardwin is pastor of the Little Flower of Jesus Catholic Church for Negroes.

In his remarks following the blessing of the new buildings, Bishop Greco complimented the Franciscan Order for the work done in the diocese. He expressed hopes the remaining structures in the planned school would soon be completed.

Rev. Barth thanked the Bishop for his recognition of the efforts of the Franciscan order and assured the local nuns and priests that the Little Flower school was already filling a need in this area of his province.

Montgomery Offers U. S. His Apology

LONDON (AP)—Field Marshal Montgomery came home from Moscow Friday with a ready apology for "my American friends" for saying U. S. leadership is slipping.

Britain's most unpredictable soldier did not retract his TV statement on American leadership.

"If I have caused offense to anybody on the other side of the Atlantic, I would like to apologize unreservedly for anything I said about American leadership," he told a news conference.

The 71-year-old Montgomery did not specifically withdraw his criticism. Nor did he say he had changed his views.

He repeated the apology to his audience three times, asked for it to be given the widest publicity and said he was under no sort of pressure to climb down.

The British press, saying his remarks were ill-timed, has been firing away at Montgomery. President Esienhower, Montgomery's old comrade-in-arms, told a news conference this week he agreed with the British press.

Montgomery passed off as a joke his TV remark that he would shoot an American himself to insure American blood is shed right from the start of the next war.

"I jokingly said British blood and American blood must be shed as soon as a war starts," he said.

Hatless, his war ribbons pinned on his brown tweed jacket, the old campaigner parried questions about his talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

"The whole thing is a private affair and it is my private business," he said repeatedly.

He said he wanted to go to Moscow to explore Soviet thinking on East-West problems.

He gave his opinion that war over Berlin can be avoided and he said he thinks a summit conference is coming up.

Montgomery said he saw no evidence to suggest Khrushchev is in failing health, as some West European papers have been saying lately.

Herter Gets High Praise From Truman

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman said Friday he thinks Christian A. Herter will make a good secretary of state.

He complimented Herter on reaching a "very successful" agreement with Western Allies on tactics for forthcoming Big Four talks with Russia at Geneva.

"I think we have a chance to reach an agreement that will end the cold war (at Geneva)," he said. "I certainly hope so."

Truman, here for a round of speeches, get-togethers with old friends and congressional testimony, made his remarks to newsmen on his usual early morning walk.

The jaunty ex - President changed his position somewhat on whether he would appear before one congressional committee with which he has long feuded.

He said he had not made up his mind whether to accept an invitation to tell the House Committee on Un-American Activities why he thinks it is "the most un-American thing in America today."

"There's nothing I can tell them I haven't already said," he commented.

Thursday, he said on his arrival in Washington he would appear before the group if he could find the time. Committee Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) promised to give him a full hearing "on 10 minutes notice."

Truman has agreed to testify Monday before a Senate subcommittee on a proposal to repeal the constitutional amendment limiting presidents to two terms. He will appear Tuesday before the House Foreign Affairs Committee to testify on President Eisenhower's foreign aid program.

Truman praised as "good men" C. Douglas Dillon, who was nominated by President Eisenhower Thursday to move up to Herter's former post, and Robert Murphy, who is expected to shift to the department's number three spot.

PERFECT PATIENT

LONDON (UPI) — Dr. George Day, Friday put on record in the British Medical Journal the hospital idea of the "perfect" patient — "helpless. . .dim - witted . . .irresponsible." With tongue in cheek, Dr.Day said the patient most welcome "conforms utterly, submits to absolute regimentation and, of course, exudes appreciation from every pore."

Price Increase Public Hearings Law Is Opposed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Justice Department and Federal Trade Commission (FTC) Friday opposed legislation that would require many major corporations to justify price increases at government-operated public hearings.

Robert A. Bicks, acting assistant attorney general in charge of anti-trust matters, said the bill would tend to make price changes subject to government inquiry rather than "to free market forces."

He also told the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee the measure could "slow the necessarily fast pace of price adjustment."

The proposed legislation, sponsored by Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), would cover any corporation worth 10 million dollars or more in an industry where eight or fewer firms control more than 50 per cent of the annual volume of business.

Such firms would be required to give the FTC, Justice Department and Congress 30 days advance notice of any price increase. The FTC would call a public hearing within 30 days, at which the corporation would be questioned by the commission and the attorney general on the reasons and needs for the price rise.

The bill would not give the government any power to forbid a price increase. Its aim is to ward off unwarranted and inflationary price hikes through the pressure of public opinion.

Inheritance Laws

Inheritance laws in Louisiana are different from those of any other state. They differ most strikingly from those of other states in the matter of forced heirs.

In general it may be said that the laws of this state adequately distribute estates of deceased persons in the absence of a will but there are a few cases in which the inheritance laws seem to entail unfair hardships, even when the best use of the will is made.

In one instance an article of the Louisiana civil code seems to work an undue hardship on a married couple simply because they have no children. On the occasion of his induction into the Tulane University chapter of the Order of Coif, national honorary leadership fraternity, Jacob S. Landry, New Iberia attorney pointed to this provision as "unsound, unfair and impracticable." Many others in the legal profession agree that article 915 of the code is wrong in principle and should be changed.

This article provides that if a married couple acquires a home and other community property after they are married and have no children, if one of them dies and the father or mother of the one who dies is still living, the father and mother, or either of them, inherit one-fourth of the property that has been accumulated by the younger couple. In other words, the father or mother, or both, inherits half of the community property share of the husband or wife who has died.

This means that the husband or wife who is a survivor either must re-buy this one fourth interest in the community property or must sell the property to pay for the share of the parents-in-law or must make some kind of arrangement satisfactory to the parents-in-law so that the husband or wife may continue to live in the house. This actually calls for a partial double buying of the house by the surviving spouse.

According to the attorney urging repeal of this provision, even if the husband or wife had made wills leaving the share of each in the community property to the other spouse, this would not cut off the rights of the parents-in-law. Parents are forced heirs in the estate of their child who is survived by no children.

Apparently no other state in the union has laws which make parents of childless children forced heirs. Even in the matter of children, Louisiana has forced-heir laws that extend further than those in any other state. In most states, a property owner may will all of his share of the estate to the surviving spouse and, in many of them he can will all his share of the community property to anyone he chooses. This avoids forced distribution of the property as soon as one spouse dies.

In Louisiana, in the case of surviving children, however, provision is made to keep the property intact and under the control of the surviving spouse as long as he does not remarry, but if he does remarry, half of the property goes to the children under immediate distribution unless some other agreement is made. It was not stated whether this stay is also provided when the parents inherit.

The parent-inheritance provision was written in law in Louisiana in 1844, long before the advent of social security and state welfare benefits.

Under present provisions for taking care of the aged, there seems less justification for parents to take one-half of a son's or daughter's share of the community property which a married couple has accumulated, than when the law was enacted, if it ever was justified.

There is a movement to petition the state legislature to make whatever amendments in the laws are necessary so that if a husband or wife dies without children the surviving husband or wife inherits the share of the other spouse in the community property that has been accumulated jointly by them.

It has also been suggested by some, however, that when community property is inherited by a childless surviving spouse the inheritance should be for his lifetime only, so that when the other spouse dies, half of the property shall go to the wife's side of the family and half to the husband's side.

Inheritance laws are complicated and it is difficult, if not impossible, to devise any laws that would seem to be entirely fair under every circumstance.

Nevertheless, in view of the present movement for some changes in the inheritance laws, it might be wise to look into the possibility of making the inheritance laws of this state more nearly in conformity with those in some other states, especially in regard to wills and forced heirs. Laws enacted as far back as 1844 may need revision.

Trade Excuse Gone

With American agriculture one of the chief sufferers from our diminishing foreign trade, the foreign agriculture service has announced that the more advanced countries of the world can no longer justifiably plead that they are hard up when approached to buy U. S. farm products.

Since the end of the war most of these countries, which were the major U. S. commercial markets, had contended with some justification, that they were short of dollars with which to buy American products.

In recent years, however, holdings of American dollars by foreign countries have risen sharply and are said to have reached a record high of 33½ billion dollars by the end of 1958.

"Thus, ability to buy with dollars should not limit U. S. market opportunities," the foreign agriculture service said. "Moreover, all these countries have liberalized their trade toward the dollar area in varying degrees and the recent adoption of external convertibility of moneys by most western countries will benefit trade in the long run."

Nevertheless, the report said, U. S. farm exports still face many barriers. Among these are:

The desire of some countries to buy farm products where they can make the best deals for their own industrial exports.

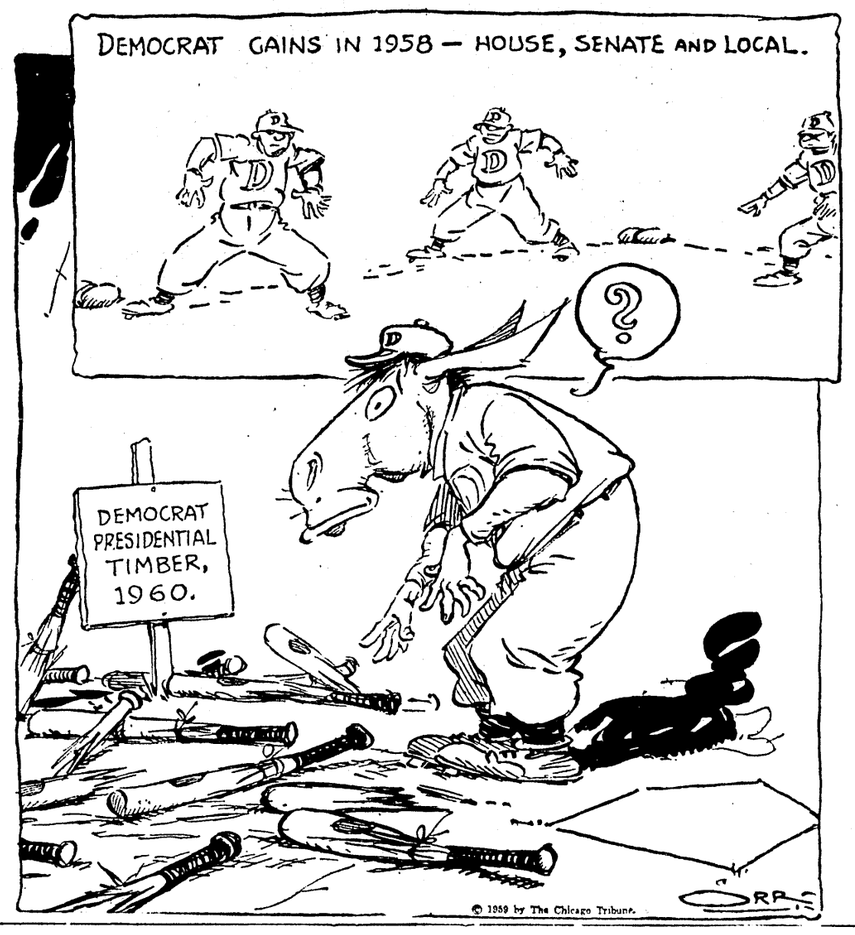

Fear in some countries that an increase in purchase of U. S. farm products might bring deterioration to their present favorable dollar positions.

Some of this is high-sounding talk but what it amounts to is the fact that the other countries are out to make the best possible deals they can obtain. It is a matter of competition and they are looking for the best bargains.

Radical-socialists in this country, commonly known as liberals, have been trying for more than a quarter of a century to end free trade and competition in the United States. We are reaping the harvest from the anti-competitive seeds that have been sown in this country.

Constant agitation by unions for higher wages have put the cost of American-produced goods so high that the other countries simply do better by trading with each other than by trading with the United States.

Union Charter Does Not Give Right To Destroy

The possession of a union charter is not an authorization to destroy our way of life. The American people have long preferred to organize hospitals, orphanages and similar institutions for the welfare of unfortunate people, out of their charity, out of the goodness of their hearts, rather than by compulsory taxes.

* * *

In New York City there are 81 nonprofit voluntary hospitals most of which were founded by religious groups but which, in this complex cosmopolitan city, are really undenominational. The nonprofit voluntary hospitals usually have free wards and free clinics and perform a significant service for the community. There are also 22 municipal hospitals paid for out of taxes.

Few, if any, of them are ever in the black and their officers are practically mendicants, raising funds to keep going. Even those that are heavily endowed find themselves, at the present time, faced by inflationary conditions which affect all costs. It is true that the nonmedical workers in hospitals are underpaid and they should not be. In fact, it would be preferable for patients if the hospitals could afford a higher grade of both skilled and unskilled workers. It is the uncertainty of income which very often explains the inefficiency of administration in some hospitals, because if the funds are not available to have the most efficient workers, things are not what they should be. Elevator operators, cleaning women, cooks, bakers and all that sort of personnel are usually underpaid and they get what the hospital can afford to pay which is not enough. In some instances, such workers depend upon tips to help out but the unseen workers get no tips.

Now along come some union organizers and demand that their unions be recognized or else there will be strikes. They do not immediately ask for increases for the workers; they first demand recognition which is their private business, namely, they can keep their charters. When these organizers threaten strikes, they threaten to commit murder, for that is precisely what can happen in a hospital if the services fail. Emergency operations cannot take place; women faced by childbirth cannot be attended to properly. Food will not be cooked and those patients living on special diets will be imperiled. Cleanliness, so essential to cures, will be impossible. One cannot overdraw the horrors of hospital care if the nonmedical facilities are abandoned. There is no other word for it than murder.

* * *

Those in charge of hospitals dare not recognize a union because it means interminable negotiations, interference in administration and the peril of sudden strikes. The recognition of the union in a hospital is as out of place as the recognition of a union for a police force would be. The union does not belong in such activities. Those who accept positions in such organizations ought to recognize that there is a realm of public activity which is different from private enterprise and that the union has no place in them. Also no one is coerced into accepting a position in a hospital, a police force or a fire department. One goes to work on such jobs, fully knowing the conditions of work in advance.

* * *

The unions seeking to invade the hospitals in New York are cagey. They selected six hospitals, as a trial, leaving 75 hospitals alone. They must have assumed that these six were the most vulnerable for many reasons. Thus far, they have not succeeded. The likelihood is that they will not succeed, but the lawlessness and callousness of the labor union organizer were best displayed in this situation. For the organizer, getting unions recognized is good business; it is his business. Suppose it does involve permanent injury and even death, what can that matter to him? This is particularly true of a Marxist labor union organizer who is prepared to sacrifice the few for the many as one steps on an ant hill to kill ants who may damage some shrubbery.

* * *

So somebody will die because it is impossible to operate on him during a strike! Does the organizer need to worry about that when he is seeking recognition for his union? It could be just another incident in the history of unionism! Another danger is that if the voluntary hospitals are eliminated by strikes, the burden on the taxpayer will mount.

'Hypochondriac' Used Too Often

Everybody has met an anxious person. When such a one is overly concerned about his health, then he is placed in the amorphous, wastebasket classification called HYPOCHONDRIACS. Often, many people have such a label pinned on them unfairly.

Many's the so - called hypochondriac, suffering for years without sympathy and understanding from his own family, who was later diagnosed as having serious, organic illness.

But first, let's turn to today's letter on the subject:

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: My father is a hypochondriac. How shall we treat him? Shall we be firm or sympathetic? We want to keep him; we love him.

He was all right until six months ago. He never used to complain. But lately all he keeps saying is that he "doesn't feel right."

He used to go in for bowling and golf, but he quit. He rarely goes out at night. He even wonders if he is well enough to keep on working.

* * *

"It's my chest," he keeps saying. We want him to go to our fine family doctor, but he won't. Says he is scared the doctor will find something serious. Please, Dr. Steincrohn, where do we go from here? Thanks much. Sincerely, Mrs. L. L. (Daughter).

ANSWER: There are two things you must do. First, get him to your doctor. Keep after him until you wear down his resistance.

Second, whatever the doctor's findings, resolve to be sympathetic. Whether his condition is imaginary or not, family members are a sufferer's last resort. When they let him down, he feels completely helpless.

I can't say whether your father is physically sick or not. But don't be surprised if he is. An apparently healthy man who has lived more than half a lifetime without complaing should be suspect when he becomes a "complainer." (So-called hypocyondriacs have been "sick" most of their lives.)

If your dad complains of chest discomfort, I am sure your doctor will take a chest X-ray and an electrocardiogram. He will also do a physical and take the necessary laboratory tests.

* * *

I dislike the connotations in the word HYPOCHONDRIAC. People who suffer chronic anxiety often suffer as much (or more) than those with real disease. Then, why make a distinction in how you handle them?

Mrs. L. L., you say "We love him; we want to keep him." Then better call a "family conference" and resolve to listen to his woes (real or imagined). So-called hypochondriacs are often the unhappiest people a doctor sees in his practice. The last hope for a healing balm is their own family's compassion.

TRANQUILIZERS

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: What do you think of tranquilizers like equinil and compazine? Are they better than bromides and phenobarbital? Mr. L. M. G.

ANSWER: I am not being facetious when I say "which is a better dessert, apple pie or plum pudding?"

The choice rests upon personal needs. Some patients, who have been on phenobarbital or bromides, have never needed to "switch" to the new-fangled tranquilizers.

Others would have been silly not to take advantage of them. I am sorry, but only your OWN doctor can give you the answer you wish.

Daily Devotional

Wherefore do the wicked live, become old, yea, are mighty in power? — Job 21:7.

Job was a troubled man and since he had been loyal to God, he could not understand why the wicked were allowed to prosper, as indicated in the verse above. It is also hard for us to understand why the wicked are allowed to grop strong and wealthy. But how do we know that certain ones are wicked? Only God can know the inner hearts of men and how best to treat each individual. Job was beset by trials and difficulties that he might finally be richly rewarded. As for us, we must accept God's decree that tares grow with the wheat and of rain on both the just and unjust.

O God, help us to think only of our own duties and obligationsto Thee. In the name of Christ we pray. Amen.

Senate Changes Kennedy Measure

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The U. S. Senate did itself proud. To put the matter succinctly: it changed its mind. This was done despite some weekend revisions by refusing to accept the Labor reform bill which came from the Kennedy Subcommittee and by rewriting this bill on the Senate floor.

The rewriting was mainly done in the fiery script of that redoubtable man, John McClellan of Camden, Arkansas—soldier, small-town lawyer, passionate advocate, patient listener and incandescent personality who glows only when he turns on the lamp of his genius.

McClellan could not have done it alone. he had good men, North and South, who backed him up. This was to be expected. But unexpectedly, McClellan also had the intangible asset of receptive minds, of minds susceptible to knowledge and conviction. As many as a dozen Labor-minded Senators came there to vote like robots, but remained to legislate like bipeds blessed with brains.

* * *

For example, all three of the Republican freshmen, each an avowed "modern"—Scott, Keating and Prouty—supported McClellan and voted with the conservative coalition of Southern Democarts and Old Guard Republicans. A freshman Democrat, Dodd of Connecticut, decided to think this one out for himself. Equally surprising, Case of New Jersey, who is up for reelection next year, gave the back of his hand to the Labor bosses. McClellan's stirring orchestration of eloquence—from rhetoric to humor, to irony, to bombast, to pathos—had the astonishing effect of uniting these self-styled liberals on the roll calls with such right-wing stalwarts as Bridges, Lausche, Talmadge and Thurmond.

Not all Modern Republicans went over to McClellan, and not all Southern Democrats stayed with him. Alabama's Labor-minded pair, Hill and Sparkman, voted against the Arkansas law-giver. The most theatrical example of soul-searching—and perhaps of muscle-bound thinking—was supplied by Modern Republican Jacob Javits. This is the pertinent dialogue:

Javits: "Mr. President. . .the Senator from Arkansas. . .has put us everlastingly in his debt. . It would be very easy to vote for his amendment. . .However, I cannot do so as a lawyer."

McClellan, looking first at Kennedy and then at Javits: ". . . let me say that never before have I heard so ridiculous an argument by one who has so much intelligence."

Javits: "I cannot vote for it because my conscience will not permit me to do so."

McClellan: "The distinguished Senator from New York said he could not vote for the amendment because his conscience would not let him do so. What is bothering his conscience, Mr. President? When we propose. . . . union members. . . .be given a right to have their case heard by an impartial person or persons, the Senator from New York says his conscience will not let him. . ."

* * *

For the most part, however, the debate was carried on in good humor by all parties. Senator Kennedy, whose political fortunes are very much at stake, kept his Irish temper under some ragging. He gave a good account of his knowledge in the intricate field of Labor law. He possibly gained some good will among his colleagues and in the press gallery, but he did not "deliver" for the Labor bosses who will obviously be sorely harassed by the McClellan bill of rights for union members. The American public now has a chance to judge Senator Kennedy on something other than his glamour. In summarizing his opposition to the McClellan bill of rights, Kennedy took these positions:

* * *

1. Against publishing the membership lists of unions. "I think it is highly unfair and unreasonable (to union leadership), in order to protect the rights of members, to provide that the lists of 15 million union members shall be made public. In the (Kennedy) bill we protect this basic principle by. . .election. . . We also provide the rights of the union (leadership) to preserve its list inviolate."

2. Against overprotection of union members from disciplinary action by their leaders. "It seems to be that we can trust union officers to run their affairs better than that."

3. Against any further Federal interference in union leadership matters. "The Federal Government (is) reaching its hands into the disciplinary action of a union and doing so in a completely unnecessary way."

4. Against giving the Attorney General power to act for union members. "I think any member of the Senate who voted for jury-trial rights (in the Civil Rights bill of 1957) would find it difficult to vote for. . .the (McClellan) amendment."

Star For Actor Is Overworked

NEW YORK (AP)—Veteran actress Thelma Ritter says she thinks Hollywood could take a tip from the Pentagon.

The word "star" has been kicked around so much it has lost its meaning, she said. "Some very fine actors aren't stars, and some very big film stars aren't actors.

"There should be one-star stars, two-star stars and three-star stars —just as the military has one-star generals, two-star generals and three-star generals."

If the movie industry ever does adopt such a system, it would be quite a problem to figure just how many stars Miss Ritter herself should be accorded.

For Thelma thrice has been nominated for an Academy Award in supporting actress roles. She is widely recognized, by producers and the public, as one of the most dependable performers in show business.

* * *

The love of acting has been a major mainstay of her life, and it started young. She was born in Brooklyn, the only child of a church soloist and his wife.

"The French have an old saying, 'An only child makes three fools,'" she said, "and there is some truth to it.

"But an only child has a great luxury—the luxury of being lonely. People today don't appreciate the advantages of being lonely individually. They seek loneliness en masse."

Lonely Thelma Ritter at the age of 8 was doing monologues in clubs and churches. At 16 she went to work in an office to earn the money to attend a drama school.

* * *

There followed 14 years of stock throughout New England, low - paid years of hard work during which she played literally hundreds of roles. But looking back on them now, she thinks of them as pretty wonderful.

During that time she met and married a young actor, Joseph Moran, now a retired advertising executive. They have been married more than 30 years, have two children.

"Young actors now need 10 times the equipment I needed when I started," she said. "Except for the work of a few writers, such as Eugene O'Neill, the plays were pretty bad. They often didn't require much talent.

* * *

How does any young person ever summon up the courage to try for a career in a field as capricious as the theater?

"I don't know," said Miss Ritter. "The average professional actor works under three months of each year, and earns only about $1,200.

* * *

"I remember one time years ago when I became tired and disgusted with the life. I threatened to quit and take a 9-to-5 job, and my roommate just laughed and said, 'You won't be happy. You'll meet nothing but squares.'

"I guess that's the real thing about the theater, and show business generally—it gives you an inside feeling."

Rogers Asserts Mob Abduction Blow To Nation

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers said Friday the kidnaping and possible lynching of a rape suspect in Poplarville, Miss., had been a tremendous blow to U.S. prestige in other countries.

He said the Parker incident along with recent school and church bombings "have shocked and dismayed the sense of decency and fairness of all responsible people."

He said the nation's prestige had been hurt throughout the world by the episode and it had received more headlines in Paris than the forthcoming foreign ministers' meeting.

He quoted an American correspondent as saying that many Europeans felt "America can't afford even one Little Rock, Ark. or one Poplarville, Miss., and be the world's leader, too."

Inheritance Laws

Inheritance laws in Louisiana are different from those of any other state. They differ most strikingly from those of other states in the matter of forced heirs.

In general it may be said that the laws of this state adequately distribute estates of deceased persons in the absence of a will but there are a few cases in which the inheritance laws seem to entail unfair hardships, even when the best use of the will is made.

In one instance an article of the Louisiana civil code seems to work an undue hardship on a married couple simply because they have no children. On the occasion of his induction into the Tulane University chapter of the Order of Coif, national honorary leadership fraternity, Jacob S. Landry, New Iberia attorney pointed to this provision as "unsound, unfair and impracticable." Many others in the legal profession agree that article 915 of the code is wrong in principle and should be changed.

This article provides that if a married couple acquires a home and other community property after they are married and have no children, if one of them dies and the father or mother of the one who dies is still living, the father and mother, or either of them, inherit one-fourth of the property that has been accumulated by the younger couple. In other words, the father or mother, or both, inherits half of the community property share of the husband or wife who has died.

This means that the husband or wife who is a survivor either must re-buy this one fourth interest in the community property or must sell the property to pay for the share of the parents-in-law or must make some kind of arrangement satisfactory to the parents-in-law so that the husband or wife may continue to live in the house. This actually calls for a partial double buying of the house by the surviving spouse.

According to the attorney urging repeal of this provision, even if the husband or wife had made wills leaving the share of each in the community property to the other spouse, this would not cut off the rights of the parents-in-law. Parents are forced heirs in the estate of their child who is survived by no children.

Apparently no other state in the union has laws which make parents of childless children forced heirs. Even in the matter of children, Louisiana has forced-heir laws that extend further than those in any other state. In most states, a property owner may will all of his share of the estate to the surviving spouse and, in many of them he can will all his share of the community property to anyone he chooses. This avoids forced distribution of the property as soon as one spouse dies.

In Louisiana, in the case of surviving children, however, provision is made to keep the property intact and under the control of the surviving spouse as long as he does not remarry, but if he does remarry, half of the property goes to the children under immediate distribution unless some other agreement is made. It was not stated whether this stay is also provided when the parents inherit.

The parent-inheritance provision was written in law in Louisiana in 1844, long before the advent of social security and state welfare benefits.

Under present provisions for taking care of the aged, there seems less justification for parents to take one-half of a son's or daughter's share of the community property which a married couple has accumulated, than when the law was enacted, if it ever was justified.

There is a movement to petition the state legislature to make whatever amendments in the laws are necessary so that if a husband or wife dies without children the surviving husband or wife inherits the share of the other spouse in the community property that has been accumulated jointly by them.

It has also been suggested by some, however, that when community property is inherited by a childless surviving spouse the inheritance should be for his lifetime only, so that when the other spouse dies, half of the property shall go to the wife's side of the family and half to the husband's side.

Inheritance laws are complicated and it is difficult, if not impossible, to devise any laws that would seem to be entirely fair under every circumstance.

Nevertheless, in view of the present movement for some changes in the inheritance laws, it might be wise to look into the possibility of making the inheritance laws of this state more nearly in conformity with those in some other states, especially in regard to wills and forced heirs. Laws enacted as far back as 1844 may need revision.

He used to go in for bowling and golf, but he quit. He rarely goes out at night. He even wonders if he is well enough to keep on working.

* * *

"It's my chest," he keeps saying. We want him to go to our fine family doctor, but he won't. Says he is scared the doctor will find something serious. Please, Dr. Steincrohn, where do we go from here? Thanks much. Sincerely, Mrs. L. L. (Daughter).

ANSWER: There are two things you must do. First, get him to your doctor. Keep after him until you wear down his resistance.

Second, whatever the doctor's findings, resolve to be sympathetic. Whether his condition is imaginary or not, family members are a sufferer's last resort. When they let him down, he feels completely helpless.

I can't say whether your father is physically sick or not. But don't be surprised if he is. An apparently healthy man who has lived more than half a lifetime without complaing should be suspect when he becomes a "complainer." (So-called hypocyondriacs have been "sick" most of their lives.)

If your dad complains of chest discomfort, I am sure your doctor will take a chest X-ray and an electrocardiogram. He will also do a physical and take the necessary laboratory tests.

* * *

I dislike the connotations in the word HYPOCHONDRIAC. People who suffer chronic anxiety often suffer as much (or more) than those with real disease. Then, why make a distinction in how you handle them?

Mrs. L. L., you say "We love him; we want to keep him." Then better call a "family conference" and resolve to listen to his woes (real or imagined). So-called hypochondriacs are often the unhappiest people a doctor sees in his practice. The last hope for a healing balm is their own family's compassion.

TRANQUILIZERS

Dear Dr. Steincrohn: What do you think of tranquilizers like equinil and compazine? Are they better than bromides and phenobarbital? Mr. L. M. G.

ANSWER: I am not being facetious when I say "which is a better dessert, apple pie or plum pudding?"

The choice rests upon personal needs. Some patients, who have been on phenobarbital or bromides, have never needed to "switch" to the new-fangled tranquilizers.

Others would have been silly not to take advantage of them. I am sorry, but only your OWN doctor can give you the answer you wish.

Daily Devotional

Wherefore do the wicked live, become old, yea, are mighty in power? — Job 21:7.

Job was a troubled man and since he had been loyal to God, he could not understand why the wicked were allowed to prosper, as indicated in the verse above. It is also hard for us to understand why the wicked are allowed to grop strong and wealthy. But how do we know that certain ones are wicked? Only God can know the inner hearts of men and how best to treat each individual. Job was beset by trials and difficulties that he might finally be richly rewarded. As for us, we must accept God's decree that tares grow with the wheat and of rain on both the just and unjust.

O God, help us to think only of our own duties and obligationsto Thee. In the name of Christ we pray. Amen.

Senate Changes Kennedy Measure

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The U. S. Senate did itself proud. To put the matter succinctly: it changed its mind. This was done despite some weekend revisions by refusing to accept the Labor reform bill which came from the Kennedy Subcommittee and by rewriting this bill on the Senate floor.

The rewriting was mainly done in the fiery script of that redoubtable man, John McClellan of Camden, Arkansas—soldier, small-town lawyer, passionate advocate, patient listener and incandescent personality who glows only when he turns on the lamp of his genius.

McClellan could not have done it alone, he had good men, North and South, who backed him up. This was to be expected. But unexpectedly, McClellan also had the intangible asset of receptive minds, of minds susceptible to knowledge and conviction. As many as a dozen Labor-minded Senators came there to vote like robots, but remained to legislate like bipeds blessed with brains.

* * *

For example, all three of the Republican freshmen, each an avowed "modern"—Scott, Keating and Prouty—supported McClellan and voted with the conservative coalition of Southern Democarts and Old Guard Republicans. A freshman Democrat, Dodd of Connecticut, decided to think this one out for himself. Equally surprising, Case of New Jersey, who is up for reelection next year, gave the back of his hand to the Labor bosses. McClellan's stirring orchestration of eloquence—from rhetoric to humor, to irony, to bombast, to pathos—had the astonishing effect of uniting these self-styled liberals on the roll calls with such right-wing stalwarts as Bridges, Lausche, Talmadge and Thurmond.

Not all Modern Republicans went over to McClellan, and not all Southern Democrats stayed with him. Alabama's Labor-minded pair, Hill and Sparkman, voted against the Arkansas law-giver. The most theatrical example of soul-searching—and perhaps of muscle-bound thinking—was supplied by Modern Republican Jacob Javits. This is the pertinent dialogue:

Javits: "Mr. President. . .the Senator from Arkansas. . .has put us everlastingly in his debt. . It would be very easy to vote for his amendment. . .However, I cannot do so as a lawyer."

McClellan, looking first at Kennedy and then at Javits: ". . . let me say that never before have I heard so ridiculous an argument by one who has so much intelligence."

Javits: "I cannot vote for it because my conscience will not permit me to do so."

McClellan: "The distinguished Senator from New York said he could not vote for the amendment because his conscience would not let him do so. What is bothering his conscience, Mr. President? When we propose. . . . union members. . . .be given a right to have their case heard by an impartial person or persons, the Senator from New York says his conscience will not let him. . ."

* * *

For the most part, however, the debate was carried on in good humor by all parties. Senator Kennedy, whose political fortunes are very much at stake, kept his Irish temper under some ragging. He gave a good account of his knowledge in the intricate field of Labor law. He possibly gained some good will among his colleagues and in the press gallery, but he did not "deliver" for the Labor bosses who will obviously be sorely harassed by the McClellan bill of rights for union members. The American public now has a chance to judge Senator Kennedy on something other than his glamour. In summarizing his opposition to the McClellan bill of rights, Kennedy took these positions:

* * *

1. Against publishing the membership lists of unions. "I think it is highly unfair and unreasonable (to union leadership), in order to protect the rights of members, to provide that the lists of 15 million union members shall be made public. In the (Kennedy) bill we protect this basic principle by. . .election. . . We also provide the rights of the union (leadership) to preserve its list inviolate."

2. Against overprotection of union members from disciplinary action by their leaders. "It seems to be that we can trust union officers to run their affairs better than that."

3. Against any further Federal interference in union leadership matters. "The Federal Government (is) reaching its hands into the disciplinary action of a union and doing so in a completely unnecessary way."

4. Against giving the Attorney General power to act for union members. "I think any member of the Senate who voted for jury-trial rights (in the Civil Rights bill of 1957) would find it difficult to vote for. . .the (McClellan) amendment."

Star For Actor Is Overworked

The word "star" has been kicked around so much it has lost its meaning, she said. "Some very fine actors aren't stars, and some very big film stars aren't actors.

"There should be one-star stars, two-star stars and three-star stars —just as the military has one-star generals, two-star generals and three-star generals."

If the movie industry ever does adopt such a system, it would be quite a problem to figure just how many stars Miss Ritter herself should be accorded.

For Thelma thrice has been nominated for an Academy Award in supporting actress roles. She is widely recognized, by producers and the public, as one of the most dependable performers in show business.

* * *

The love of acting has been a major mainstay of her life, and it started young. She was born in Brooklyn, the only child of a church soloist and his wife.

"The French have an old saying, 'An only child makes three fools,'" she said, "and there is some truth to it.

"But an only child has a great luxury—the luxury of being lonely. People today don't appreciate the advantages of being lonely individually. They seek loneliness en masse."

Lonely Thelma Ritter at the age of 8 was doing monologues in clubs and churches. At 16 she went to work in an office to earn the money to attend a drama school.

* * *

There followed 14 years of stock throughout New England, low - paid years of hard work during which she played literally hundreds of roles. But looking back on them now, she thinks of them as pretty wonderful.

During that time she met and married a young actor, Joseph Moran, now a retired advertising executive. They have been married more than 30 years, have two children.

"Young actors now need 10 times the equipment I needed when I started," she said. "Except for the work of a few writers, such as Eugene O'Neill, the plays were pretty bad. They often didn't require much talent.

* * *

How does any young person ever summon up the courage to try for a career in a field as capricious as the theater?

"I don't know," said Miss Ritter. "The average professional actor works under three months of each year, and earns only about $1,200.

* * *

"I remember one time years ago when I became tired and disgusted with the life. I threatened to quit and take a 9-to-5 job, and my roommate just laughed and said, 'You won't be happy. You'll meet nothing but squares.'

"I guess that's the real thing about the theater, and show business generally—it gives you an inside feeling."

Rogers Asserts Mob Abduction Blow To Nation

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers said Friday the kidnaping and possible lynching of a rape suspect in Poplarville, Miss., had been a tremendous blow to U.S. prestige in other countries.

He said the Parker incident along with recent school and church bombings "have shocked and dismayed the sense of decency and fairness of all responsible people."

He said the nation's prestige had been hurt throughout the world by the episode and it had received more headlines in Paris than the forthcoming foreign ministers' meeting.

He quoted an American correspondent as saying that many Europeans felt "America can't afford even one Little Rock, Ark. or one Poplarville, Miss., and be the world's leader, too."

invaders—four or five—who have not surrendered." He added that a small band of about five men had been spotted heading for Panama City and said they may be Panamanians. Most of the invading party was made up of Cubans.

An earlier government announcement had said two-thirds or about 60 members of the invasion force had pulled out of Nombre de Dios and were marching toward the main highway leading to this capital.

The later information from Lobo indicated, however, that the main body called it quits in the little town.

National Guard troops were deployed around Nombre de Dios earlier in the week but they had held off an attack while negotiations by the OAS and Cuban emissaries went on.

Although the largely bloodless invasion had comic-opera aspects, its serious potentialities were emphasized from the start. The OAS moved quickly to condemn any outside interference in President Ernesto de la Guardia's government. The United States put Navy planes and ships on patrol duty off Panama's coast amid rumors that more invaders were at sea and preparing new landings.

From the invasion area Associated Press Correspondent Jack Rutledge reported that the hungry, unshaven band appeared glad to put down their weapons and call it all off.

He said the invaders were taken aboard landing craft and headed for Colon. Two boatloads of Panamanian troops stood by while the surrender was made under the eyes of OAS representatives.

The invaders must come to Panama's tribunals and must explain "what they explained to us," Lobo told a news conference. He said they would be brought to Panama from Colon.

The invader leaders said they came here because of a belief there is a dictatorship in Panama, Lobo reported.

"We were wrong," the OAS official quoted them as saying.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon, a victim of anti-U.S. riots in South America last year, called her resignation "a great loss." He said it would be difficult to find another person with Mrs. Luce's "imagination, organizational ability and decisiveness."

Morse had questioned Mrs. Luce's competence and emotional stability and telephoned her doctor in New York to find out if she had ever been under a psychiatrist's care. The doctor said she had not.

Capehart, in calling for censure of Morse, charged the Oregon Democrat acted illegally in contacting Mrs. Luce's doctor without her consent. He said it was a violation of the Hippocratic oath and that Morse, as a lawyer, knew it.

Rauh said they had "thrown down the gauntlet" and made it clear they never would comply with the Supreme Court's 1954 school desegregation decision "unless and until the federal government takes action."

Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga.), in a statement submitted later, protested that the subcommittee's all-northern membership deprived the South "of its civil rights."

Police labeled little Sharon's death as murder after Medical Examiner Milton J. Schultz issued a certificate of homicide due to shock brought on by multiple contusions to the frail child's head and body.

Children playing "cowboy and Indians" found Sharon lying facedown on the ground, her bare feet about six inches inside a narrow opening under the porch of a rundown dwelling.

The unsoiled feet indicated someone had carried the body of the little blonde girl to the spot and attempted to conceal the crime, authorities said.

Angry Critic Blasted Back By Strauss

Pastore more or less overruled a charge by Inglis that Strauss was a "one-track" worshipper of nuclear force, as evidence by his determination as an AEC member in 1949 to push ahead with hydrogen bomb development.

Pastore said it was the House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee which "marched down to the White House" and persuaded President Truman to overrule scientific advisers and proceed with the H-bomb. He said he and other committee members are still proud of this.

Jail Where Man Is Held Kept Secret

Officers said the assailant opened the safe in the general store and took $800.

Rogers had served a term at the Louisiana state penitentiary for armed robbery and was out on probation.

Dr. Frank Savoy Sr., Evangeline Parish coroner, gave the details of the hideous killing. Rogers he said, would not have lived through the day had he remained at Ville Platte, seat of the south central Louisiana parish.

The sharp reaction apparently was spurred by last week's lynch-mob kidnaping from jail of Mack Charles Parker at Poplarville, Miss Parker, a 23-year-old Negro, was accused of raping a pregnant white woman. Neither he nor his abductors have been found in an extensive search.

"What do you expect when you have a maniac running loose?" asked Savoy, describing the enraged temper of the local people.

A neighbor saw the 200-pound, 6-2 Negro enter the Guillory store, Savoy said, about 7 a.m. The coroner set the time of Mrs. Guillory's death between 7 and 8 a.m.

Officers said Rogers hitchhiked to Ville Platte, left some of the stolen money and clothing at the home of his mother, hitchhiked to Opelousas, bought another suit of clothing and a set of diamond rings, and headed toward Melville in a taxicab to visit a girl friend. State troopers saw him in the cab and arrested him.

Both Sheriff Frank C. Fontenot and Dist. Atty. L. O. Fusilier were reported at Ville Platte to have accompanied the party that brought Rogers here.

Local officials, however, refused to say whether they were holding Rogers. Newsmen saw a man, believed to be Rogers, brought in by 11 heavily-armed officers.

A spokesman for Sheriff Grady Kelley Jr. — in a move apparently aimed at maximum security — refused to say either that Rogers was in the jail or was not. He would say nothing more than that he knew nothing about the case and that nobody made any arrangements with him for keeping any prisoner. Kelley was reported in Ohio on business.

Crackdown Set On Abuses Of Traffic Laws

parking about four weeks ago was allowed in Monroe in observance of over a year without a traffic death.

Davis and Kelly said that 30 of the accidents this April were attributed to rear-end collisions and 39 to miscellaneous, minor violations.

The report showed that only nine accidents were reported between the hours of 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. this April with 13 for the comparable time in April 1958.

Between 6 a.m. and 2 p.m. there were 43 accidents in April both years.

Seventy-two accidents were reported between 2 p.m. and 10 p.m. in April 1958 and 40 in April of this year.

The driver age bracket showed that 72 persons between the ages of 25 and 34 were involved in accidents last month.

ALMOST DOUBLE

Kelly said this was almost double the 35-44 age bracket, and exactly doubled the 20-24 year age group.

"Apparently there are more drivers in the 35-44 age group", Kelly said.

Going to specific causes of accidents Kelly said that last month stop intersection violations caused 15 accidents; backing into the street 12; sideswiping 12; traffic light violations six; leaving parked positions nine; left turns four, and wrong lane turns one.

"We'll just have to step up enforcement of such violations. This type of thing can be avoided and should be watched closely for the people's safety," the chief added.

Last fall the police department expanded its motorcycle division assigned to watch minor traffic violaters and assigned more beat patrolmen in the daytime downtown.

Rauh Jr., spokesman for 20 civil rights groups, said southern officials had proved the need for a strong civil rights bill by their testimony before the subcommittee.

Rauh said they had "thrown down the gauntlet" and made it clear they never would comply with the Supreme Court's 1954 school desegregation decision "unless and until the federal government takes action."

Rep. James C. Davis (D-Ga.), in a statement submitted later, protested that the subcommittee's all-northern membership deprived the South "of its civil rights."

Police labeled little Sharon's death as murder after Medical Examiner Milton J. Schultz issued a certificate of homicide due to shock brought on by multiple contusions to the frail child's head and body.

Children playing "cowboy and Indians" found Sharon lying facedown on the ground, her bare feet about six inches inside a narrow opening under the porch of a rundown dwelling.

The unsoiled feet indicated someone had carried the body of the little blonde girl to the spot and attempted to conceal the crime, authorities said.

Angry Critic Blasted Back By Strauss

Pastore more or less overruled a charge by Inglis that Strauss was a "one-track" worshipper of nuclear force, as evidence by his determination as an AEC member in 1949 to push ahead with hydrogen bomb development.

Pastore said it was the House-Senate Atomic Energy Committee which "marched down to the White House" and persuaded President Truman to overrule scientific advisers and proceed with the H-bomb. He said he and other committee members are still proud of this.

Jail Where Man Is Held Kept Secret

Officers said the assailant opened the safe in the general store and took $800.

Rogers had served a term at the Louisiana state penitentiary for armed robbery and was out on probation.

Dr. Frank Savoy Sr., Evangeline Parish coroner, gave the details of the hideous killing. Rogers he said, would not have lived through the day had he remained at Ville Platte, seat of the south central Louisiana parish.

The sharp reaction apparently was spurred by last week's lynch-mob kidnaping from jail of Mack Charles Parker at Poplarville, Miss Parker, a 23-year-old Negro, was accused of raping a pregnant white woman. Neither he nor his abductors have been found in an extensive search.

"What do you expect when you have a maniac running loose?" asked Savoy, describing the enraged temper of the local people.

A neighbor saw the 200-pound, 6-2 Negro enter the Guillory store, Savoy said, about 7 a.m. The coroner set the time of Mrs. Guillory's death between 7 and 8 a.m.

Officers said Rogers hitchhiked to Ville Platte, left some of the stolen money and clothing at the home of his mother, hitchhiked to Opelousas, bought another suit of clothing and a set of diamond rings, and headed toward Melville in a taxicab to visit a girl friend. State troopers saw him in the cab and arrested him.

Both Sheriff Frank C. Fontenot and Dist. Atty. L. O. Fusilier were reported at Ville Platte to have accompanied the party that brought Rogers here.

Local officials, however, refused to say whether they were holding Rogers. Newsmen saw a man, believed to be Rogers, brought in by 11 heavily-armed officers.

A spokesman for Sheriff Grady Kelley Jr. — in a move apparently aimed at maximum security — refused to say either that Rogers was in the jail or was not. He would say nothing more than that he knew nothing about the case and that nobody made any arrangements with him for keeping any prisoner. Kelley was reported in Ohio on business.

Crackdown Set On Abuses Of Traffic Laws

parking about four weeks ago was allowed in Monroe in observance of over a year without a traffic death.

Davis and Kelly said that 30 of the accidents this April were attributed to rear-end collisions and 39 to miscellaneous, minor violations.

The report showed that only nine accidents were reported between the hours of 10 p.m. and 6 a.m. this April with 13 for the comparable time in April 1958.

Between 6 a.m. and 2 p.m. there were 43 accidents in April both years.

Seventy-two accidents were reported between 2 p.m. and 10 p.m. in April 1958 and 40 in April of this year.

The driver age bracket showed that 72 persons between the ages of 25 and 34 were involved in accidents last month.

ALMOST DOUBLE

Kelly said this was almost double the 35-44 age bracket, and exactly doubled the 20-24 year age group.

"Apparently there are more drivers in the 35-44 age group", Kelly said.

Going to specific causes of accidents Kelly said that last month stop intersection violations caused 15 accidents; backing into the street 12; sideswiping 12; traffic light violations six; leaving parked positions nine; left turns four, and wrong lane turns one.

"We'll just have to step up enforcement of such violations. This type of thing can be avoided and should be watched closely for the people's safety," the chief added.

Last fall the police department expanded its motorcycle division assigned to watch minor traffic violaters and assigned more beat patrolmen in the daytime downtown.

Mail-Order Obsenity Is Target Here

"We can clean up the mails in Monroe, if enough citizens become aware of the seriousness of "'mail-order obscenity" and use their influence to fight it," Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn stated yesterday.

Earlier this week, he commented on the obscene literature and pictures flooding the Monroe area. Yesterday, he explained how it can be stamped out.

"All you have to do is complain to the Post Office department," Hathorn stressed.

Any person who receives unordered and unwanted mail soliciting sale of filthy, lewd and lascivious films, slides and other obscene and pornographic material should mail it, and the envelope it came in, to Hathorn.

SIGNED

A signed note, protesting the material, should accompany it when it is turned over to the Postmaster. The Postal Inspector will then take charge, in an effort to ban the material from the mail.

"We can help destroy this mail order business in obscenity, which nets its senders a half billion dollars in one year, if we try," he continued.

Explaining that much of this material is sent to youngsters, he pointed out that anyone who receives such material should complain to the Post Office.

Hopes Fading For Avoiding Steel Strike

NEW YORK (UPI)—The United Steelworkers of America, demanding a larger share of the industry's "fabulous" profits this year, put the finishing touches Friday to the most ambitious contract ever sought by the union.

Hopes for avoiding a 1959 steel strike appeared to be fading.

David J. McDonald, president of the USW, said flatly "common equity demands that steelworkers share equitably in these immense profits made possible in part by their efforts."

"This can be done," McDonald told a news conference, "with a substantial improvement in wages and fring benefits and no steel price increase."

The USW chief said a substantial wage increase for steelworkers would be "a real shot in the arm for the economy of America and of the world."

However, top spokesmen of the nation's steel producers stood by their guns that no wage increase was justified this year and left little doubt that they felt 1959 was the year for action to halt the wage-price spiral.

The International Wage Policy Committee of the union, in winding up a two-day meeting on 1959 contract demands, ignored the industry's plea for a one-year wage freeze and ordered the union's negotiators to seek substantial increases in wages and fringe benefits despite the consequences.

The commtitee's wage policy platform embodied some of the most substantial demands ever made by the USW and dimmed the outlook for a peaceful settlement.

The current three-year contract expires at midnight June 30. Negotiations on a new agreement covering the 500,000 steelworkers in the basic steel industry start next Tuesday, with both sides about as far apart on basic contract issues as they have ever been.

There have been five strikes in the post-war period.

Both management and union officials continued to express hopes for a peaceful settlement this year, but behind the scenes spokesmen for both sides appeared increasingly pessimistic at this stage.

Members of the Wage Policy Committee, in informal talks with newsmen, expressed the view that they were entitled to a wage increase and said they were willing to use every weapon in their command to get one.

Management spokesmen cautioned that talk of resisting wage increases should not be underestimated. A spokesman for one of the "big three" producers said: "Our people have made up their minds to fight a wage increase this year at all costs. We feel the steady increase in employment costs must be stopped."

McDonald scoffed at the industry's stand. He said U.S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel and the other major producers have enjoyed "one of the most fabulous profit periods" in history, which is "a conclusive demonstration of their ability to raise wages while holding the line on prices.

McDonald said he hoped that in 1959 the steel industry would enjoy its greatest earnings year in history. However, he told newsmen bluntly that his union intended to get a larger share of those profits.

McDonald reiterated the basic theme of the union's pre-negotiation campaign; that the American worker must make more money in order to be able to buy more goods and services. He said purchasing power was the key to continued economic growth and the unemployment problem.

The Wage Policy Committee Thursday approved higher wages, cost-of-living adjustments, shorter hours of work, premium pay for week ends, and additional unemployment provisions as contract issues.

Friday, they called for changes in such basic provisions as insurance and pensions, union shop, holidays and vacations, grievance procedures, and readjusted contract terms with respect to such things as shift premiums, overtime, severance pay, incentives, seniority, safety and health, jury pay and other working conditions.

AUTHOR IS UPSET

Soviets To Show Pirated Musical

WASHINGTON (UPI) — State Department officials indicated Friday there was little—if anything—they could do to prevent the showing in Russia of a pirated version of the popular Broadway musical, "My Fair Lady."

The author of the play and its lyrics, which have been drawing standing-room-only crowds in New York for years, asked the department to use its good offices in his behalf and that of Frederick Lowe, who wrote the music.

The author, Alan J. Lerner, was upset by reports that Victor Louis, a Russian who writes for a Swedish newspaper, intended to present the musical in the Soviet Union in 1959 and 1960.

It isn't that Lerner doesn't want the Russians to see the play, which is based on George Bernard Shaw's "pygmalian." What upset him was that Louis, in line with usual Soviet practice in such cases, dropped absolutely no hint of giving the authors any royalties.

State Department spokesman Lincoln White, asked about the matter, conceded the government had received a letter from Lerner and that it was "under consideration." He also said there would be a reply in due time.

However, White could not say what the State Department might be able to do—if anything.

Other officials pointed out that Russia in the past had refused to adhere to any international agreements in the copyright field. They said that in Russia the translation of literary works without the author's consent is not considered a copyright infringement.

Oratory Contest Delegate Named

Buddy McStravick, a St. Mathews High School sophomore, will represent the Monroe Optimist Club at a district oratorical contest May 21-23, it was announced yesterday.

Optimist Club president Billye Adams said the youth represented the local club last year. The young speaker is the 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. McStravick, 610 Hilton.

The Optimist contest will be held at Shreveport with approximately 100 youths competing. The district is composed of clubs from all over Arkansas and North Louisiana.

McStravick, who appeared before the Monroe club at its regular weekly luncheon yesterday, will speak on "Optimism."

Favorable View On Civil Rights Measures Held

Congressman Otto E. Passman thinks that pending "so-called civil rights" bills will be reported favorably by the Judiciary Committee to the House of Representatives, but believes this does not "necessarily mean the fight to protect the basic rights of the states and of the people as a whole is a lost cause."

Passman says the bills, "the real intent of which the sponsors would disguise", constitute "another dangerous step toward further centralizing government power in Washington, while whittling down basic rights of the sovereign states of our Union."

But he added, "I have strong faith in the good sense and spirit of fair-play of the American people. And that faith is the foundation for my hope that the majority of our citizens are beginning to realize that the actual effect of such legislation would be toward destruction, and not, protection, of Constitutional rights."

Friends, Critics Defend Graham Against Charges

SYDNEY, Australia (UPI)—Both friends and critics of American evangelist Billy Graham defended him Friday against charges by an Anglican bishop that his methods sometimes were "objectionable, dishonest, distressing and disgusting."

An attack on "some aspects" of Graham's Australian crusade for Christ was published in the May issue of the official Anglican Diocesan magazine of Rockhampton, in Brisbane.

The Rev. T. B. McCall, bishop of Rockhampton, said a priest in his diocese was invited to see a film of a Graham crusade meeting at the end of which a man asked in the audience "who accepted the Lord Jesus as their personal saviour" to stand up.

Naturally the priest felt he had to stand, said the bishop. He added that "those who stood were counted as conversions although they were already devout followers of their Lord and Master."

"This sort of thing is both objectionable and dishonest and we should be fearless enough to say so," the bishop wrote. In other passages of his article the bishop said some of Graham's methods were "objectionable, dishonest, distressing and disgusting."

IN MAY DAY CELEBRATION

Soviets Shorten Military Parade

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union celebrated May Day Friday with the shortest military parade since the revolution and switched the emphasis in the traditional ceremonies to the campaign to outstrip the United States economically.

The military section of the parade in the annual celebrations in Moscow's Red Square had been the showcase for the display of Communist military might in past years. Friday, in spite of perfect weather, it was no more than a token show. It took just seven minutes.

There were no planes or tanks. The weapons were confined to rocket launchers, anti-aircraft guns, field guns and amphibious personnel carriers.

Picked units of all the armed forces, in white gloves and knee-length boots, goose-stepped past the review stand on the Lenin-Stalin mausoleum before Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, Vice Premier Anastas Mikoyan and other members of the ruling presidium.

There was a similar deemphasis on the military in the May Day parades in the East European satellites. A few units of the Communist armed workers participated in the parade in Budapest, Hungary, while troops also put on a display of strength in Communist East Berlin.

(The accent in the Peiping celebrations was on Tibet. Keynote speaker Mayor Peng Chen praised the Red army for crashing the anti-Communist revolt and demanded the "interventionists immediately stop all the dirty activities" in Tibet.)

The entire accent in the Red Square ceremonies, which lasted only 40 minutes was on the economic projects of the Soviet Union and Khrushchev's seven-year-plan to outstrip America economically.

Even a 10-minute speech by Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky, the only speaker, was devoted mainly to glorifying the achievements and the promises of what he called "a program unmatched in human history."

"The tremendous constructive enthusiasm of the masses... creates confidence that the seven-year plan will be overfulfilled, let alone fulfilled," Malinovsky said.

LUNG CANCER REMOVED

Godfrey Reported In 'Good Spirits'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Arthur Godfrey Friday took the news that the tumor removed from his left lung was cancerous in "good spirits." But he showed concern over the possibility of a spread of the malignancy.

"Did you get it all out?" he asked.

"Yes, we think we did," a surgeon replied.

The 55-year-old radio and television entertainer confessed to a friend who visited him later that the after-effects of the operation "hurt like hell."

Doctors said it could not be known at this time whether the cancer had been discovered and removed before it could spread to other parts of the body. Cancer is considered "cured" if there has been no recurrence within five years of its arrest or removal.

Statistics made public by the American Cancer Society showed an average "cure" rate of 34 per cent if lung cancer is discovered early and treated promptly. Otherwise, the rate is only about 4 per cent.

They waited until he recovered strength before telling him that he had cancer, a possibility that he confessed before the operation filled him with a "cold, clammy, clothing fear."

If he was still fearful Friday, he showed no sign of it when told the news, side from asking if it was all out, he had no other questions.

Godfrey was visited in his $40-a-day bedroom-living room suite overlooking the Hudson River by his wife, Mary; his business partner, Attorney C. Leo De Orsey, of Washington, D.C., and his secretary, Miss Mary Ann Van.

According to an aide who was present, Godfrey first expressed concern for De Orsey, who has suffered two heart attacks within the last year.

"How are you, Leo?" Godfrey asked.

"I'm fine, but how are you," De Orsey said.

"It hurts like hell," replied Godfrey.

Soggy Links Prevent Ike From Playing

The day was bright, warm and sunny—but a heavy rain Thursday night made the course of the Gettysburg Country Club too soggy for comfortable play.

The pro, Dick Sleighter, received a telephone call from the White House about noon, asking about playing conditions. The President was spoiling for an afternoon battle with par.

But in polite tones, Sleighter informed the White House that if the President played, he'd have to walk all the way around the course and that he had better bring his overshoes.

The pro explained that a good bit of the course was too soft to permit travel by the President's electric golf carts. Eisenhower has used carts for traveling most golf holes since his 1955 heart attack in Denver.

"I sure wouldn't like those heavy carts tearing up my fairways," Sleighter said after his talk with Washington.

Eisenhower, who well understood the professional's problem, agreed not to play and decided to spend the summery afternoon around his farm.

U. S. Rubber Strike Ends In 18 Plants

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Rubber Co. and the United Rubber Workers Union announced agreement Friday on a new contract ending a 22-day-old strike by some 26,000 workers in 18 U.S. Rubber Co. plants in 11 states.

Details of the agreement will not be disclosed until Monday, the joint announcement said, although workers will start returning to their jobs immediately.

The majority of the striking workers will wait until Monday to report to work, the announcement said, but some will return Saturday and Sunday.

Terms of the agreement must be ratified by union locals at all of the 18 plants involved.

The U.S. Rubber Co. was the second of the Big Four to reach agreement. Goodyear previously reached agreement without a strike.

Strikes against Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. and the B. F. Goodrich Co. reached the 16-day mark Friday.

Wages were not an issue in any of the current negotiations. They will be taken up separately this summer.

Involved in the contract talks were pensions, insurance, hospital-surgical benefits, supplementary unemployment compensation and a master agreement covering working conditions.

Goodyear employes some 24,000 workers. The three other major companies, including U.S. Rubber, employ about 58,000 additional workers.

Wholesale Rate Hike On Natural Gas Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Gas Transmission Corp., Owensboro, Ky., Friday filed a proposed $5,423,000, or 5.1 per cent, annual wholesale natural gas rate increase with the power commission.

The hike would affect 61 wholesale customers in Illinois, Arkansas, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Ohio and Tennessee.

Texas Gas wants to make the boost effective June 1. It would be in addition to an increase of about $1,259,000 already being collected subject to refund in an earlier rate suspension proceeding.

Also pending before the commission is the matter of the company's rates to one customer, which were not covered in a settlement of still another rate suspension proceeding approved by the commission in January, 1958.

Texas Gas based the new proposal on increased costs. It also wants a 6½ per cent rate of return instead of the 6 per cent allowed in the January, 1958 settlement.

IN MAY DAY CELEBRATION

Soviets Shorten Military Parade

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union celebrated May Day Friday with the shortest military parade since the revolution and switched the emphasis in the traditional ceremonies to the campaign to outstrip the United States economically.

The military section of the parade in the annual celebrations in Moscow's Red Square had been the showcase for the display of Communist military might in past years. Friday, in spite of perfect weather, it was no more than a token show. It took just seven minutes.

There were no planes or tanks. The weapons were confined to rocket launchers, anti-aircraft guns, field guns and amphibious personnel carriers.

Picked units of all the armed forces, in white gloves and knee-length boots, goose-stepped past the review stand on the Lenin-Stalin mausoleum before Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, Vice Premier Anastas Mikoyan and other members of the ruling presidium.

There was a similar deemphasis on the military in the May Day parades in the East European satellites. A few units of the Communist armed workers participated in the parade in Budapest, Hungary, while troops also put on a display of strength in Communist East Berlin.

(The accent in the Peiping celebrations was on Tibet. Keynote speaker Mayor Peng Chen praised the Red army for crashing the anti-Communist revolt and demanded the "interventionists immediately stop all the dirty activities" in Tibet.)

The entire accent in the Red Square ceremonies, which lasted only 40 minutes was on the economic projects of the Soviet Union and Khrushchev's seven-year-plan to outstrip America economically.

Even a 10-minute speech by Defense Minister Marshal Rodion Malinovsky, the only speaker, was devoted mainly to glorifying the achievements and the promises of what he called "a program unmatched in human history."

"The tremendous constructive enthusiasm of the masses . . . creates confidence that the seven-year plan will be overfulfilled, let alone fulfilled," Malinovsky said.

LUNG CANCER REMOVED

Godfrey Reported In 'Good Spirits'

NEW YORK (UPI) — Arthur Godfrey Friday took the news that the tumor removed from his left lung was cancerous in "good spirits." But he showed concern over the possibility of a spread of the malignancy.

"Did you get it all out?" he asked.

"Yes, we think we did," a surgeon replied.

The 55-year-old radio and television entertainer confessed to a friend who visited him later that the after-effects of the operation "hurt like hell."

Doctors said it could not be known at this time whether the cancer had been discovered and removed before it could spread to other parts of the body. Cancer is considered "cured" if there has been no recurrence within five years of its arrest or removal.

Statistics made public by the American Cancer Society showed an average "cure" rate of 34 per cent if lung cancer is discovered early and treated promptly. Otherwise, the rate is only about 4 per cent.

They waited until he recovered strength before telling him that he had cancer, a possibility that he confessed before the operation filled him with a "cold, clammy, cluthing fear."

If he was still fearful Friday, he showed no sign of it when told the news, side from asking if it was all out, he had no other questions.

Godfrey was visited in his $40-a-day bedroom-living room suite overlooking the Hudson River by his wife, Mary; his business partner, Attorney C. Leo De Orsey, of Washington, D.C., and his secretary, Miss Mary Ann Van.

According to an aide who was present, Godfrey first expressed concern for De Orsey, who has suffered two heart attacks within the last year.

"How are you, Leo?" Godfrey asked.

"I'm fine, but how are you," De Orsey said.

"It hurts like hell," replied Godfrey.

Soggy Links Prevent Ike From Playing

The day was bright, warm and sunny—but a heavy rain Thursday night made the course of the Gettysburg Country Club too soggy for comfortable play.

The pro, Dick Sleighter, received a telephone call from the White House about noon, asking about playing conditions. The President was spoiling for an afternoon battle with par.

But in polite tones, Sleighter informed the White House that if the President played, he'd have to walk all the way around the course and that he had better bring his overshoes.

The pro explained that a good bit of the course was too soft to permit travel by the President's electric golf carts. Eisenhower has used carts for traveling most golf holes since his 1955 heart attack in Denver.

"I sure wouldn't like those heavy carts tearing up my fairways," Sleighter said after his talk with Washington.

Eisenhower, who well understood the professional's problem, agreed not to play and decided to spend the summery afternoon around his farm.

U. S. Rubber Strike Ends In 18 Plants

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Rubber Co. and the United Rubber Workers Union announced agreement Friday on a new contract ending a 22-day-old strike by some 26,000 workers in 18 U.S. Rubber Co. plants in 11 states.

Details of the agreement will not be disclosed until Monday, the joint announcement said, although workers will start returning to their jobs immediately.

The majority of the striking workers will wait until Monday to report to work, the announcement said, but some will return Saturday and Sunday.

Terms of the agreement must be ratified by union locals at all of the 18 plants involved.

The U.S. Rubber Co. was the second of the Big Four to reach agreement. Goodyear previously reached agreement without a strike.

Wages were not an issue in any of the current negotiations. They will be taken up separately this summer.

Involved in the contract talks were pensions, insurance, hospital-surgical benefits, supplementary unemployment compensation and a master agreement covering working conditions.

Goodyear employes some 24,000 workers. The three other major companies, including U.S. Rubber, employ about 58,000 additional workers.

Wholesale Rate Hike On Natural Gas Is Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas Gas Transmission Corp., Owensboro, Ky., Friday filed a proposed $5,423,000, or 5.1 per cent, annual wholesale natural gas rate increase with the power commission.

The hike would affect 61 wholesale customers in Illinois, Arkansas, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Ohio and Tennessee.

Texas Gas wants to make the boost effective June 1. It would be in addition to an increase of about $1,259,000 already being collected subject to refund in an earlier rate suspension proceeding.

Also pending before the commission is the matter of the company's rates to one customer, which were not covered in a settlement of still another rate suspension proceeding approved by the commission in January, 1958.

Texas Gas based the new proposal on increased costs. It also wants a 6½ per cent rate of return instead of the 6 per cent allowed in the January, 1958 settlement.

By JACK HAND

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Heavyweight Floyd Patterson, fighting in quick savage bursts of body punches, chopped down Britain's Brian London and knocked him out with a left hook to the head in 51 seconds of the 11th round of a title fight Friday night.

London was on the deck for a five-count when the bell sounded ending the 10th after absorbing a heavy right-hand punch to the head from the champion.

Sensing that the end was near in this "tuneup" for his June 25 bout with Sweden's Ingemar Johansson, the champ came out for the kill in the 11th.

Down went London on the seat of his britches. As Referee Frank Sikora picked up the count, London rolled over on his side and you knew he wasn't going to get up. Sikora tolled off the full 10-count and London never moved until his corner men came to get him.

London, a forlorn 10-1 shot who was not even given a permit to box the champ by his own British Board of Boxing Control, made menacing gestures but did not win a round on two of the official cards.

Hulking over the champion with a 25¾-pound edge in the weights at 208 to Patterson's 182¼, London absorbed a steady body-thumping throughout the night.

From time to time, the challenger drew cheers from the crowd with his right to the head. Two or three times he managed to get it home. Most of the time it slid harmlessly over Patterson's head as he ducked and moved inside.

Referee Sikora, imported from Chicago for the occasion, had it 10-0 on his scorecard, Judge Kelse McClure had it 9-0 with the third even and Judge Marshall Baumgartner scored the third for London and called the seventh even on an 8-1-1 card. On the official "five-point" must system used in Indiana, Sikora had it 50-34, McClure 50-40 and Baumgartner 49-40.

On The Associated Press card it was 9-0-1 in rounds and 50-39 in points. The AP called only the third even.

If Patterson wanted a workout under fight conditions for his potential million dollar gate with Johansson, he got it. London was a rugged foe who absorbed heavy body punishment and kept marching in with his head high.

Although Patterson was slamming away in those flashy bursts, he wasn't able to drop the challenger until the 10th. In the first, second and eight Brian was shaken but wouldn't go down.

London seemed to rile the champ as he opened the 10th with three quick left jabs to the face. Patterson landed a right high on the head and then shook him again with a left-right-left combination to the head that sent a spray of water from Brian's hair.

When London retreated to a corner, Patterson sprung after him, driving hard with both hands. A right to the chin had a delayed action effect on the Briton. He stood for a few seconds, looking strangely into space, and then slumped against the ropes. A left-right dropped him to the canvas on one knee where he remained when the bell sounded at a count of five.

It was obvious that the 24-year-old challenger who lost his British title to Henry Cooper in his last start, was just about through for the night. It took only 51 seconds of the 11th to prove it.

Patterson, loser of only one fight in 36 pro starts, now has won 22 straight. He has stopped 16 of his last 17 opponents, including four straight challengers.

London's record now is 22-5. It was his second knockout defeat.

This strangest of all title promotions, drew a crowd of about 10,000 to the Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum and an estimated gate of $120,000. It was the first world title fight ever held in Indiana.

Postponed from April 21 and moved from Las Vegas to Indianapolis with a change of promoters, the show was a surprising success.

When London left the ring he passed Johansson's ringside seat. "I hope you have better luck," he said. The challenger bled from a cut under his right eye, opened in the fourth.

Patterson came out of the fight with no cuts and no hand injury. He said in his dressing room that the body blows did the job.

"He was one of the three toughest guys I ever fought," he said. "The others were Hurricane Jackson and Dick Wagner. If I hadn't worked on his body, I wouldn't have gotten to him. I noticed from the fifth on that his right side seemed to pain him.

London had praise for the champ who he called "not only the fastest man I ever met but the best man in the world one-two-three.

"He definitely dazed me with that blow to the right temple in the 10th. I said to myself: 'I'll try to do it in the 11th; but when he's got you, he's got you.'"

"I think my chances of becoming the next champion are very good. I didn't learn too much because Patterson was taking it easy."

The husky Briton from Blackpool got a $60,000 guarantee plus expenses that probably will run as high as $15,000. Patterson got 60 per cent of the net receipts and all of the $200,000 TV money, out of which he had to pay the challenger his end.

STERN TEST

Tribe Thinclads Face East Texas

Northeast's trackmen meet their sternest dual test of the season today in Commerce, Texas, when they face East Texas State, generally considered the best small college track team in the country.

East Texas, competing in some of the top track carnivals in the country such as the Kansas and Drake Relays, has turned in the nation's best times in the 440 relay with a 40.8 clocking and in the 880 relay with a 1:24.9. Relay team members include John West, Fred Scheafer, James Baird and Sidney Garton

Northeast pulled the biggest surprise of the Southwestern Recreation Track and Field Meet March 14 when the Indian thinclads upset heavily-favored East Texas State 54-53 to win the college division.

It was the Northeast mile relay team of Dave Styron, Jim Mouser, Dick Hays and Don Styron that provided the difference with a first-place record of 3:17.6.

And the mile relay team will again be favored as consistent wins this season prove its surprise victory in the Sugar Bowl was no accident. The mile relay team has emerged victorious in nine of the 10 track meets in which the Indians have participated this spring. Its only loss was to LSU at the Florida Relays but the Redmen came back to beat the Tigers in this event in both the SLI Relays and the LSU Invitational track meet.

The Styrons will find tough competition in their best events. Dave will face Sid Garton in the century and 220. Garton has done the 100 in 9.4, the same time as Styron, and has run the 220 in :20.5 to Dave's :20.6 clocking only last Saturday at LSU.

Don Styron will also be pressed by Charles Bode in the high and low hurdles. Don has a :14.2 clocking in the 120 HH and a :22.8 time in 220 LH.

Other East Texas stars will include Socrates Bagiackas in the 880 run. His best time in this event has been 1:55.2. Jim Baird leads the nation in the broad jump with a record 25-2¾.

Hartzog was optimistic about team members sidelined earlier this season by injuries. "I am extremely pleased with Eiland. He is definitely coming around and will be a threat in the mile." He was obviously referring to Buddy's 9:47.9 clocking in the two-mile that bettered the GSC record and his 4:20.8 record-matching time in the mile Tuesday at Ruston when the Indians edged Louisiana Tech 73 1-6 to 66 5-6.

Gene Hagan vaulted and high jumped Tuesday for the first time since March 14. "I feel like he will probably be in pretty good shape by the time of the GSC meet," said the Northeast coach. Hagan has been sidelined since the Southwest Recreation meet when he won with a 13-3 leap in the pole vault.

The Indians have won six of seven meets in college competition this year, won one university meet and came out fourth in two other university meets for a 7-3 overall record

MANSFIELD, RUSTON, ATLANTA WIN

Eight Records Broken In District 2-AA Track Meet

RUSTON, La. (Special —Eight class 2-AA track records were broken here yesterday afternoon as defending state champion Ruston swept to victory in that division and Mansfield won the 1-A district crown, with Atlanta edging past Georgetown for the class C title.

Ruston piled up 110 points to lead second - place Haynesville by a wide margin in the 2-AA meet. Haynesville had 72 points, Jonesboro - Hodge 57 and Neville 55.

Mansfield also had a wide edge in the 1-A meet with 116 7-10 points to 87½ for runner - up Coushatta. LaSalle had 46 2-15, Farmerville 25 13-15 and Winnfield 17 8-15.

Atlanta had 73½ points to win in class C, with Georgetown second with 64½ and Summerfield third with 60. Dodson had 40, Central of Delhi 36, Calvin 12 and Ogden 8.

In the class C baseball tournament at Tech, Mer Rouge won the title with a 15-13 victory over Lisbon. Mer Rouge beat Sibley, 6-1, and Lisbon defeated Chatham, 10-8, in preliminary games.

Five of the new district records in 2-AA were set by Ruston AA state champions for three years. Earl Wright erased the mark of 2:03.4 in the 880 run with a time of 1:59.3.

Mickey Cox of Neville set new marks in the shot put and discus. His heave of 46 feet broke the old mark of 44-10 in the shot and his discus toss of 131-8 erased the record of 121 feet in that event.

Sammy Simonton of Ruston set a new mark in the 180- yard low hurdles, his 50.7 erasing the record of 52 seconds. Allen Herbert of Ruston bettered the 16 second mark in the 120 high hurdles with a time of 15.8. Ed Davis of Ruston broke the district record of 52 seconds in the 440 with a time of 50.7.

Ruston's mile relay team of Ed Davis, Hollis Grafton, John Porter and Earl Wright also set a new record, winning in 3:31.1. The old mark was 3:36.4.

In these district meets, the individuals and relay teams placing first and second in each event qualify for the state meets.

In the class 1-A meet, Mansfield won all three relays and five other individual first places to win the crown. Coushatta had five firsts and a tie for first.

Jerry Hines of Haynesville won four first places in the 2-AA meet, the 100 and 220, the broad jump and hop - step - jump.

Doyle Rivers of Mansfield ran in all three winning relays in the 1-A meet and won the 440 dash.

ONE-HIT PERFORMANCE

Wynn Tosses 1-0 Win Over Bosox

By JOE MOOSHIL

The 39-year-old right - hander limited the Red Sox to one hit and blasted a 2-1 pitch into the left field stands in the bottom of the eighth inning to break up a tight pitching duel with Tom Brewer.

Wynn gave a single to Pete Runnels in the first inning and then blanked the Red Sox the rest of the way.

The victory was the 252nd for Wynn and gave him a season record of 3-1. Old Gus, as he is known to his teammates, struck out 14 but had to work his way out of several jams because of wildness.

Spillers Drops One-Hitter To Calhoun, 3 To 0

CHOUDRANT, La. (Special) — Calhoun, managing only one hit off the pitching of Lamar Spillers, used six Choudrant errors to overcome the hosts, 3-0, here yesterday.

An eighth-grader, Billy Heath, collected the only Calhoun hit, a double to drive in a run. The hit was the second of the year in three pinch-hitting tries by Heath.

Charley Pyle tossed three-hit ball for Calhoun, whiffing nine while walking only one. Spillers fanned eight and gave up four free passes.

The game, ending the season for Coach Jerry Lovett's Chieftains, gave Calhoun a record of 7 wins and 4 defeats.

STILL LEAD LEAGUE

Braves Drop 6-4 Scrap To Giants

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The San Francisco Giants got off to a four-run lead over Milwaukee in the fifth inning on a pair of home runs and held on to take a 6-4 decision from the Braves Friday night.

Despite the loss, the Braves were able to stay in first place in the close National League race, a few percentage points in front of the Los Angeles Dodgers who were beaten by the Cincinnati Reds 5-3. The Braves now have a 9-5 record.

Carleton Willey, making his first start of the year for Milwaukee, was charged with the defeat while Sam Jones got credit for the victory although he had to be relieved by Al Worthington in the eighth inning.

The Giants got only six hits off three Milwaukee pitchers but got them while they counted. The Braves got eight.

The Giants got off to their four-run lead on a pair of walks and the two homers. Daryl Spencer and Andre Rodgers walked before catcher Bob Schmidt hit his second home run, scoring the two men in front of him. Jim Davenport hit his first home run for the Giants' other tally.

San Francisco made it 6-0 in their half of the sixth, getting two runs off Bob Buhl who went in for Willey. Willie Mays walked to open the frame. Cepeda doubled to right and Mays scored. Buhl retired the next two men on strike outs but Rodgers singled to score Cepeda.

Milwaukee came back with three runs on four hits in their half of the eighth to cut the margin to 6-4, knocking out Jones. Al Worthington replaced him. Singles by Billy Bruton, Mathews and Wes Covington and a double by Frank Torre accounted for the scores.

Patterson Stops London In 11th

By JACK HAND

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Heavyweight Floyd Patterson, fighting in quick savage bursts of body punches, chopped down Britain's Brian London and knocked him out with a left hook to the head in 51 seconds of the 11th round of a title fight Friday night.

London was on the deck for a five-count when the bell sounded ending the 10th after absorbing a heavy right-hand punch to the head from the champion.

Sensing that the end was near in this "tuneup" for his June 25 bout with Sweden's Ingemar Johansson, the champ came out for the kill in the 11th.

Down went London on the seat of his britches. As Referee Frank Sikora picked up the count, London rolled over on his side and you knew he wasn't going to get up. Sikora tolled off the full 10-count and London never moved until his corner men came to get him.

London, a forlorn 10-1 shot who was not even given a permit to box the champ by his own British Board of Boxing Control, made menacing gestures but did not win a round on two of the official cards.

Hulking over the champion with a 25¾-pound edge in the weights at 208 to Patterson's 182¼, London absorbed a steady body-thumping throughout the night.

From time to time, the challenger drew cheers from the crowd with his right to the head. Two or three times he managed to get it home. Most of the time it slid harmlessly over Patterson's head as he ducked and moved inside.

Referee Sikora, imported from Chicago for the occasion, had it 10-0 on his scorecard, Judge Kelse McClure had it 9-0 with the third even and Judge Marshall Baumgartner scored the third for London and called the seventh even on an 8-1-1 card. On the official "five-point" must system used in Indiana, Sikora had it 50-34, McClure 50-40 and Baumgartner 49-40.

On The Associated Press card it was 9-0-1 in rounds and 50-39 in points. The AP called only the third even.

If Patterson wanted a workout under fight conditions for his potential million dollar gate with Johansson, he got it. London was a rugged foe who absorbed heavy body punishment and kept marching in with his head high.

Although Patterson was slamming away in those flashy bursts, he wasn't able to drop the challenger until the 10th. In the first, second and eight Brian was shaken but wouldn't go down.

London seemed to rile the champ as he opened the 10th with three quick left jabs to the face. Patterson landed a right high on the head and then shook him again with a left-right-left combination to the head that sent a spray of water from Brian's hair.

When London retreated to a corner, Patterson sprung after him, driving hard with both hands. A right to the chin had a delayed action effect on the Briton. He stood for a few seconds, looking strangely into space, and then slumped against the ropes. A left-right dropped him to the canvas on one knee where he remained when the bell sounded at a count of five.

It was obvious that the 24-year-old challenger who lost his British title to Henry Cooper in his last start, was just about through for the night. It took only 51 seconds of the 11th to prove it.

Patterson, loser of only one fight in 36 pro starts, now has won 22 straight. He has stopped 16 of his last 17 opponents, including four straight challengers.

London's record now is 22-5. It was his second knockout defeat.

This strangest of all title promotions, drew a crowd of about 10,000 to the Indiana State Fairgrounds Coliseum and an estimated gate of $120,000. It was the first world title fight ever held in Indiana.

Postponed from April 21 and moved from Las Vegas to Indianapolis with a change of promoters, the show was a surprising success.

When London left the ring he passed Johansson's ringside seat. "I hope you have better luck," he said. The challenger bled from a cut under his right eye, opened in the fourth.

Patterson came out of the fight with no cuts and no hand injury. He said in his dressing room that the body blows did the job.

"He was one of the three toughest guys I ever fought," he said. "The others were Hurricane Jackson and Dick Wagner. If I hadn't worked on his body, I wouldn't have gotten to him. I noticed from the fifth on that his right side seemed to pain him.

London had praise for the champ who he called "not only the fastest man I ever met but the best man in the world one-two-three.

"He definitely dazed me with that blow to the right temple in the 10th. I said to myself: 'I'll try to do it in the 11th; but when he's got you, he's got you."

"I think my chances of becoming the next champion are very good. I didn't learn too much because Patterson was taking it easy."

The husky Briton from Blackpool got a $60,000 guarantee plus expenses that probably will run as high as $15,000. Patterson got 60 per cent of the net receipts and all of the $200,000 TV money, out of which he had to pay the challenger his end.

STERN TEST

Tribe Thinclads Face East Texas

Northeast's trackmen meet their sternest dual test of the season today in Commerce, Texas, when they face East Texas State, generally considered the best small college track team in the country.

East Texas, competing in some of the top track carnivals in the country such as the Kansas and Drake Relays, has turned in the nation's best times in the 440 relay with a 40.8 clocking and in the 880 relay with a 1:24.9. Relay team members include John West, Fred Scheafer, James Baird and Sidney Garton

Northeast pulled the biggest surprise of the Southwestern Recreation Track and Field Meet March 14 when the Indian thinclads upset heavily-favored East Texas State 54-53 to win the college division.

It was the Northeast mile relay team of Dave Styron, Jim Mouser, Dick Hays and Don Styron that provided the difference with a first-place record of 3:17.6.

And the mile relay team will again be favored as consistent wins this season prove its surprise victory in the Sugar Bowl was no accident. The mile relay team has emerged victorious in nine of the 10 track meets in which the Indians have participated this spring. Its only loss was to LSU at the Florida Relays but the Redmen came back to beat the Tigers in this event in both the SLI Relays and the LSU Invitational track meet.

The Styrons will find tough competition in their best events. Dave will face Sid Garton in the century and 220. Garton has done the 100 in 9.4, the same time as Styron, and has run the 220 in :20.5 to Dave's :20.6 clocking only last Saturday at LSU.

Don Styron will also be pressed by Charles Bode in the high and low hurdles. Don has a :14.2 clocking in the 120 HH and a :22.8 time in 220 LH.

Other East Texas stars will include Socrates Bagiackas in the 880 run. His best time in this event has been 1:55.2. Jim Baird leads the nation in the broad jump with a record 25-2¾.

Hartzog was optimistic about team members sidelined earlier this season by injuries. "I am extremely pleased with Eiland. He is definitely coming around and will be a threat in the mile." He was obviously referring to Buddy's 9:47.9 clocking in the two-mile that bettered the GSC record and his 4:20.8 record-matching time in the mile Tuesday at Ruston when the Indians edged Louisiana Tech 73 1-6 to 66 5-6.

Gene Hagan vaulted and high jumped Tuesday for the first time since March 14. "I feel like he will probably be in pretty good shape by the time of the GSC meet," said the Northeast coach. Hagan has been sidelined since the Southwest Recreation meet when he won with a 13-3 leap in the pole vault.

The Indians have won six of seven meets in college competition this year, won one university meet and came out fourth in two other university meets for a 7-3 overall record

MANSFIELD, RUSTON, ATLANTA WIN

Eight Records Broken In District 2-AA Track Meet

ONE-HIT PERFORMANCE

Wynn Tosses 1-0 Win Over Bosox

By JOE MOOSHIL

The 39-year-old right - hander limited the Red Sox to one hit and blasted a 2-1 pitch into the left field stands in the bottom of the eighth inning to break up a tight pitching duel with Tom Brewer.

Wynn gave a single to Pete Runnels in the first inning and then blanked the Red Sox the rest of the way.

The victory was the 252nd for Wynn and gave him a season record of 3-1. Old Gus, as he is known to his teammates, struck out 14 but had to work his way out of several jams because of wildness.

STILL LEAD LEAGUE

Braves Drop 6-4 Scrap To Giants

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The San Francisco Giants got off to a four-run lead over Milwaukee in the fifth inning on a pair of home runs and held on to take a 6-4 decision from the Braves Friday night.

Despite the loss, the Braves were able to stay in first place in the close National League race, a few percentage points in front of the Los Angeles Dodgers who were beaten by the Cincinnati Reds 5-3. The Braves now have a 9-5 record.

Carleton Willey, making his first start of the year for Milwaukee, was charged with the defeat while Sam Jones got credit for the victory although he had to be relieved by Al Worthington in the eighth inning.

The Giants got only six hits off three Milwaukee pitchers but got them while they counted. The Braves got eight.

The Giants got off to their four-run lead on a pair of walks and the two homers. Daryl Spencer and Andre Rodgers walked before catcher Bob Schmidt hit his second home run, scoring the two men in front of him. Jim Davenport hit his first home run for the Giants' other tally.

San Francisco made it 6-0 in their half of the sixth, getting two runs off Bob Buhl who went in for Willey. Willie Mays walked to open the frame. Cepeda doubled to right and Mays scored. Buhl retired the next two men on strike outs but Rodgers singled to score Cepeda.

Milwaukee came back with three runs on four hits in their half of the eighth to cut the margin to 6-4, knocking out Jones. Al Worthington replaced him. Singles by Billy Bruton, Mathews and Wes Covington and a double by Frank Torre accounted for the scores.

First Landing Favored In Unpredictable Derby Run

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The starting gate snaps open Saturday in the most unpredictable Kentucky Derby in the memory of old timers, with 18 thoroughbreds scheduled to perform in the 1¼ mile classic.

If all show up for the 85th running, it will be the second richest Kentucky Derby with a purse of $165,000. The winner would net $120,000, second only to the $123,450 earned by Needles in 1956.

The weather man predicted a fast track, mostly sunny skies, and a temperature of 84 degrees by post time, 4:30 p.m., EST.

Oddsmakers pick First Landing, owned by Christopher T. Chenery of Virginia and New York. He was quoted by 3 to 1 and will be ridden by Eddie Arcaro, the leading Kentucky Derby jockey. Arcaro will be seeking his sixth victory.

But Tomy Lee, the British-bred, Texas owned, and California-raced colt of Fred Turner Jr., could wind up as the favorite when the mobs march on the parimutuel windows. Tomy Lee was listed at 4 to 1. Willie Shoemaker, his rider, plucked the roses with California's Swaps four years ago, beating Arcaro and Nashua.

The biggest unaswered question is Calumet Farm's On-and-On. Trainer Jimmy Jones hasn't decided whether the colt will run.

Jones and Calumet have won the trophy two consecutive years with Iron Liege and Tim Tam. Nobody ever has won three straight.

"I hate to mislead you fellows," Jimmy told newsmen. "We may not know until the last minute whether he'll start.

Jockey Johnny Heckman gal-On-and-On Friday, and presumably will be aboard if Calumet shoots for its eighth Kentucky Derby.

The uncertainty caused the downs parimutuel department to place On-and-On in the mutuel field with five others. Odds on the field were 20 to 1, a price that will drop if On-and-On starts.

C. V. Whitney's Silver Spoon, only filly in the race, is listed at 10 to 1 but sentiment could cut that price.

Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer is third choice at 5 to 1 and Jim Norris' Easy Spur is fourth at 6 to 1. Bill Boland, who won the Kentucky Derby with Middleground, rides Sword Dancer and Bill Hartack, who scored with Iron Liege, will pilot Easy Spur.

Others in the classic are Patrice Jacobs' Our Dad, the Briardale Farm's Rico Tesio, the Elkcam Stable and Lou Chesler entry of Atoll and Open View, the Claiborne Farm's Dunce, Neil S. McCarthy's Finnegan, Bayard Sharp's Troilus, Kenneth Marshall's John Bruce, the Jacnot Stable's Die Hard, C. B. Fischbach's Festival King, Mrs. S. Helen Sadacca's The Chosen One and Mrs. Jacques Braunstein's Royal Orbit.

"I think the race lies between the No. 3 (First Landing) and the No. 9 (Tomy Lee) horses," he continued. "I believe that No. 15 outside post will bother that horse (Sword Dancer) a bit."

"I've been seeing these derbies for a half century or more," said Ben Jones, the former Calumet trainer and father of Jimmy. "I don't ever recall a more open race than this one."

Nodding assent was Roscoe Goose, the veteran horseman who rode Donerail to victory in 1913 and posted the all-time Kentucky Derby payoff of $184.90 for $2.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Goose. "You couldn't be really surprised if any one of 10 or 12 horses should win Saturday."

There isn't a seat available in the huge stands which run from the head of the stretch where the race starts and down around the first turn. The race usually attracts an estimated 100,000.

The race will be broadcast and television nationally by CBS from 4:55-4:45 p.m., EST.

Phils Score 4-2 Decision Over Bruins

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Husky right-hander Jim Owens broke into the win column with a neat four-hitter, backed up by homers by teammates Willie Jones and Wally Post, and the Philadelphia Phillies scored a 4-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday night.

Owens went all the way, notching seven strikeouts and issuing only one walk. He had only one rough inning, the fourth, when a walk to Alvin Dark, George Altman's triple, a single by Ernie Banks and Jim Marshall's sacrifice fly accounted for all the Cubs' scoring.

It was the fourth homer of the year for both Jones and Post, and both of the big blows sailed into the left field stands.

Starter Glen Hobbie, driven from the mound in the Phillies' big fourth inning, was the loser, evening his record at 2-2 for the season. Owens now has a 1-1 slate.

Derby Favorite Gives Opinion Of Opposition

First Landing, favored to win today's Kentucky Derby, sticks out his tongue yesterday while munching grass after a workout. It could be, of course, this expression registers First Landing's opinion of the other horses in the racing classic. However, he probably just swallowed an unflavorsome blade of grass. Wade Quits As Southern Loop Head

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (AP) — Wallace Wade said Friday he is resigning as commissioner of the Southern Conference, effective at the end of this year.

Wade, who gained fame as head football coach at Duke and Alabama, has been commissioner of the conference since 1950. He is 67.

The conference rejected by a unanimous vote a recommendation that its basketball teams be permitted to play in the National Invitation Tournament in New York.

APPROVED BY COUNCIL

Two All-Star Games May Be Scheduled This Year

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Two major league all-star baseball games may be played this year and there is a strong probability two such games will be played each year in the future.

Robin Roberts, Phillies pitcher and National League player representative, presented the proposal to the major league excutive council Thursday and it was favorably received by that group.

"The council like it immediately," Commissioner Ford Frick, council chairman, said Friday. players, and I understand Frank Scott, the representative of the new players' central office, already has started the poll.

"If the suggestion is approved by the players it will be submitted to the club owners for their approval.

"It is impossible to say what the chances are of playing two all-star games this year, but I imagine the players can act very fast, and I know the council and club owners can act fast if necessary."

Roberts' proposal, which has the approval of Eddie Yost, the American League representative on the pension committee, would have the two games played in different sections of the country, with the proceeds from the additional games used for the promotion of amateur baseball, the Old Timers Assn., pension, and other purposes to be decided upon later.

Frick said that if the players vote for the two games and the club owners follow the recommendation of the council, the two contests might yet be played this year if a second break in the schedule could be arranged.

In future years, if the resolution is adopted, the two games would be played during one break, possibly by lengthening the present break by one day.

"With plane travel as it is today it would create no problem," Frick said. "The same teams would compete in both games," the teams now are chosen by the players, managers and coaches, with the managers naming the pitchers. The game this year is scheduled for July 7 at Pittsburgh.

Only one member of the council—Chuck Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox—was absent when Roberts' suggestion was received and approved.

The members are National League president Warren Giles, American League president Joe Cronin, Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Bob Carpenter of the Phillies representing the National League, and George Weiss of the New York Yankees and Comiskey representing the American League.

Although saying it was impossible to forecast the result of the players' poll, Frick hinted the club owners would go for the idea.

Cardinals Hand Bucs 7-6 Setback

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The St. Louis Cards exploded for 14 hits Friday night to down the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-6 and hand pitcher Bob Friend his fourth straight loss of the season.

The Pirates had to come back from a 7-1 deficit to score five runs in the last three innings. The rally was highlighted by a two-run homer by Dick Stuart in the last half of the ninth.

The Cards had Pirate pitchers in trouble in almost every inning after the third. They exploded for three runs in the fourth, one in the fifth and three in the seventh.

With one out in the fourth, Stan Musial walked, went to second on a single by Ken Boyer and scored on a single by Bobby Gene Smith. An intentional pass to Hal Smith loaded the bases and Alex Grammas' smashing singled scored the other two runs.

Cimoli started things off again in the seventh with a single to right. Pirate shortstop Dick Groat then dropped Bill White's pop-fly and Cimoli went to second. Bobby Gene Smith bunted safely to score Cimoli. Hal Smith's triple scored two more runs.

Billy Virdon opened the seventh for the Pirates with a single. Pinch hitter Harry Bright forced Virdon at second. Then Don Hoak slashed an infield single and Bright went all the way to third on an overthrow to first by Don Blasingame. An infield out made the score 7-2.

Then Smoky Burgess, the second-ranked hitter in the National League, smashed a home run into the upper deck of the right field stands to drive in two more runs. But that was all, as the next batter struck out to end the inning.

Starter Vinegar Bend Mizell, who went 7 1-3 innings, chalked up his third victory of the season against one defeat. Jim Brosnan finished the game for the Cards.

Friend, the first of four Pirate pitchers, went 6 2-3 innings. He has yet to complete a game this season in five starts.

Teener Loop To Hold Tryouts Today At Legion

Second tryouts of the season for Teener League Baseball here will be conducted this afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, at Legion Memorial Stadium.

Buddy Berry, league president for the sponsoring Veterans of Foreign Wars post, said many boys who had registered failed to report for the first workout last Saturday, and that it is necessary to show the managers of the clubs their ability in these tryouts in order to be selected.

The four clubs in the league have each lost several players through age eligibility limitations and all need replacements. A third tryout session is planned next week before player selections are made.

Members of last year's teams who are still eligible are also due at the workouts.

Brian To Return, Learn To Fight

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "I'm coming back to the States and learn to fight."

"I took body punishment I shouldn't have taken," the stand-up British fighter said in his dressing room a few minutes after he was counted out in the ring.

He had a cut under his right eye, and his body was bright pink with red lacings.

The big blow, London said, was Patterson's hard right that caught the challenger on the left temple near the end of the 10th round and sent him down for a five-count.

"He definitely hurt me with that one," London said. "He definitely dazed me. I thought: "I'll try to do it in the 11th'—but when he's got you he's got you. He's a great champion—one, two, three in the ranks."

London said he thought he could have done better if he had worked six months in the United States, "but I think I didn't do too bad."

Asked what he said to Patterson in several verbal exchanges during the fight, London explained:

"I would tell him 'good blow, Floyd—and then he would give me another cut."

London's wife, Veronica, and in the dressing room when London mother, Mrs. John Harper, were came in. They hugged one another and no one seemed too disappointed.

Homers Pace Tech To 12-2 Rout Of State

JONESBORO, La. (Special) — Jackie Moreland, Wade Scott and slugger-pitcher J. W. Mercer blasted home runs to spark heavy-hitting Louisiana Tech to a 12-2 rout of Arkansas State here yesterday.

Scott's homer came in the third with nobody on and Mercer, who has hit five, blasted his in the 6th, also with no one aboard.

Tech had a 12-0 lead before Arkansas State managed to notch runs in the 7th and 9th.

The win was Tech's 15th against four losses and State's record is now 7-10. The two teams play a doubleheader today.

Hair Specialist Here SUNDAY Will Show How to Save Hair And Prevent Baldness

CORAL GABLES, Fla. — New home treatment methods for saving hair and improving its growth will be demonstrated in Monroe, on May 3, Sunday only.

Trichologist J. J. Stalteri will be in charge representing the dynamic Harlow Hair Experts organization. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1:00 to 8:00 p.m. Sunday at the Frances Hotel.

This new treatment is neither "mail order" nor "cure-all." It is adapted to the individual after a personal examination and progress is checked personally at regular intervals by a Harlow expert.

Who Can Be Helped

For many years now Harlow Hair Experts have been checking the hair of thousands of people across the country. They have encountered and dealt with hundreds of cases of every kind of hair trouble. From this experience has grown the body of scientific knowledge leading to the development of the new Harlow home treatment.

Will the new Harlow treatment cure baldness? "No!" For we cannot help men and women who are slick-bald after years of gradual hair-loss. But if you still have fuzz and your scalp is creating hair, you can at least save and thicken what you have. Some conditions, such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

Other conditions that usually bring an excessive hair loss — dandruff, itching, over-oiliness or dryness, follicles clogged with sebum or seborrhea — can be corrected by the Harlow home treatment if caught before the "hair factories" are destroyed.

Evidence of the success of the Harlow method is that the organization has quickly expanded to serve hundreds of cities in 21 states.

Surveys among men and women in all walks of life show that the worst enemies of your hair are (1) skepticism and (2) procrastination. The average balding person justifies his condition with one or the other of these two statements:

"I don't think anybody can stop hair loss"—or "Oh, I'm going to see an expert when I get around to it."

Baldness won't wait for doubters to be convinced or for procrastinators to take action later. You're going to grow right on losing hair till you're bald . . . unless you get your scalp in healthy, hair growing condition again.

Satisfy 95 Percent

"Actually, our biggest problem is not in doing what we claim," says Harlow, "for we satisfy at least 95 per cent of our clients which, when you consider that almost every person is a 'doubter' or a 'putter-offer' where hair is concerned, is an excellent showing. Getting these doubters and putter-offers to come in for an examination is really the problem.

Examine You Free

We want to make it clear that you incur absolutely no charge or obligation by coming in for an examination.

"Your only obligation is to yourself to ease your mind of hair worries by learning how to save and thicken your hair, at home. We will tell you frankly and sincerely whether or not you can be helped, how long it will take and how much it will cost. We do not accept cases that will not respond.

Guarantee Satisfaction

The Harlow Hair Experts will give you a written guarantee that you must be satisfied within 30 days or it costs you nothing.

For a free examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk at the Frances Hotel Sunday only between 1:00 and 8:00 p.m. for Mr. J. J. Stalteri's room number. He does not make appointments, so come in at your convenience.

You won't be obligated or embarrassed in any way. Examinations are given in private.

First Landing Favored In Unpredictable Derby Run

By JOHN CHANDLER

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The starting gate snaps open Saturday in the most unpredictable Kentucky Derby in the memory of old timers, with 18 thoroughbreds scheduled to perform in the 1¼ mile classic.

If all show up for the 85th running, it will be the second richest Kentucky Derby with a purse of $165,000. The winner would net $120,000, second only to the $123,450 earned by Needles in 1956.

The weather man predicted a fast track, mostly sunny skies, and a temperature of 84 degrees by post time, 4:30 p.m., EST.

Oddsmakers pick First Landing, owned by Christopher T. Chenery of Virginia and New York. He was quoted by 3 to 1 and will be ridden by Eddie Arcaro, the leading Kentucky Derby jockey. Arcaro will be seeking his sixth victory.

But Tomy Lee, the British-bred, Texas owned, and California-raced colt of Fred Turner Jr., could wind up as the favorite when the mobs march on the parimutuel windows. Tomy Lee was listed at 4 to 1. Willie Shoemaker, his rider, plucked the roses with California's Swaps four years ago, beating Arcaro and Nashua.

The biggest unaswered question is Calumet Farm's On-and-On. Trainer Jimmy Jones hasn't decided whether the colt will run.

Jones and Calumet have won the trophy two consecutive years with Iron Liege and Tim Tam. Nobody ever has won three straight.

"I hate to mislead you fellows," Jimmy told newsmen. "We may not know until the last minute whether he'll start.

Jockey Johnny Heckman gal On-and-On Friday, and presumably will be aboard if Calumet shoots for its eighth Kentucky Derby.

The uncertainty caused the downs parimutuel department to place On-and-On in the mutuel field with five others. Odds on the field were 20 to 1, a price that will drop if On-and-On starts.

C. V. Whitney's Silver Spoon, only filly in the race, is listed at 10 to 1 but sentiment could cut that price.

Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer is third choice at 5 to 1 and Jim Norris' Easy Spur is fourth at 6 to 1. Bill Boland, who won the Kentucky Derby with Middleground, rides Sword Dancer and Bill Hartack, who scored with Iron Liege, will pilot Easy Spur.

Others in the classic are Patrice Jacobs' Our Dad, the Briardale Farm's Rico Tesio, the Elkcam Stable and Lou Chesler entry of Atoll and Open View, the Claiborne Farm's Dunce, Neil S. McCarthy's Finnegan, Bayard Sharp's Troilus, Kenneth Marshall's John Bruce, the Jacnot Stable's Die Hard, C. B. Fischbach's Festival King, Mrs. S. Helen Sadacca's The Chosen One and Mrs. Jacques Braunstein's Royal Orbit.

"I think the race lies between the No. 3 (First Landing) and the No. 9 (Tomy Lee) horses," he continued. "I believe that No. 15 outside post will bother that horse (Sword Dancer) a bit."

"I've been seeing these derbies for a half century or more," said Ben Jones, the former Calumet trainer and father of Jimmy. "I don't ever recall a more open race than this one."

Nodding assent was Roscoe Goose, the veteran horseman who rode Donerail to victory in 1913 and posted the all-time Kentucky Derby payoff of $184.90 for $2.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Goose. "You couldn't be really surprised if any one of 10 or 12 horses should win Saturday."

There isn't a seat available in the huge stands which run from the head of the stretch where the race starts and down around the first turn. The race usually attracts an estimated 100,000.

The race will be broadcast and television nationally by CBS from 4:55-4:45 p.m., EST.

Phils Score 4-2 Decision Over Bruins

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Husky right-hander Jim Owens broke into the win column with a neat four-hitter, backed up by homers by teammates Willie Jones and Wally Post, and the Philadelphia Phillies scored a 4-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs Friday night.

Owens went all the way, notching seven strikeouts and issuing only one walk. He had only one rough inning, the fourth, when a walk to Alvin Dark, George Altman's triple, a single by Ernie Banks and Jim Marshall's sacrifice fly accounted for all the Cubs' scoring.

It was the fourth homer of the year for both Jones and Post, and both of the big blows sailed into the left field stands.

Starter Glen Hobbie, driven from the mound in the Phillies' big fourth inning, was the loser, evening his record at 2-2 for the season. Owens now has a 1-1 slate.

Derby Favorite Gives Opinion Of Opposition

First Landing, favored to win today's Kentucky Derby, sticks out his tongue yesterday while munching grass after a workout. It could be, of course, this expression registers First Landing's opinion of the other horses in the racing classic. However, he probably just swallowed an unflavorsome blade of grass. APPROVED BY COUNCIL

Two All-Star Games May Be Scheduled This Year

By WHITNEY MARTIN

NEW YORK (AP)—Two major league all-star baseball games may be played this year and there is a strong probability two such games will be played each year in the future.

Robin Roberts, Phillies pitcher and National League player representative, presented the proposal to the major league excutive council Thursday and it was favorably received by that group.

"The council like it immediately," Commissioner Ford Frick, council chairman, said Friday. players, and I understand Frank Scott, the representative of the new players' central office, already has started the poll.

"If the suggestion is approved by the players it will be submitted to the club owners for their approval.

"It is impossible to say what the chances are of playing two all-star games this year, but I imagine the players can act very fast, and I know the council and club owners can act fast if necessary."

Roberts' proposal, which has the approval of Eddie Yost, the American League representative on the pension committee, would have the two games played in different sections of the country, with the proceeds from the additional games used for the promotion of amateur baseball, the Old Timers Assn., pension, and other purposes to be decided upon later.

Frick said that if the players vote for the two games and the club owners follow the recommendation of the council, the two contests might yet be played this year if a second break in the schedule could be arranged.

In future years, if the resolution is adopted, the two games would be played during one break, possibly by lengthening the present break by one day.

"With plane travel as it is today it would create no problem," Frick said. "The same teams would compete in both games," the teams now are chosen by the players, managers and coaches, with the managers naming the pitchers. The game this year is scheduled for July 7 at Pittsburgh.

Only one member of the council—Chuck Comiskey of the Chicago White Sox—was absent when Roberts' suggestion was received and approved.

The members are National League president Warren Giles, American League president Joe Cronin, Walter O'Malley of the Los Angeles Dodgers and Bob Carpenter of the Phillies representing the National League, and George Weiss of the New York Yankees and Comiskey representing the American League.

Although saying it was impossible to forecast the result of the players' poll, Frick hinted the club owners would go for the idea.

FRIEND LOSES 4TH

Cardinals Hand Bucs 7-6 Setback

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The St. Louis Cards exploded for 14 hits Friday night to down the Pittsburgh Pirates 7-6 and hand pitcher Bob Friend his fourth straight loss of the season.

The Pirates had to come back from a 7-1 deficit to score five runs in the last three innings. The rally was highlighted by a two-run homer by Dick Stuart in the last half of the ninth.

The Cards had Pirate pitchers in trouble in almost every inning after the third. They exploded for three runs in the fourth, one in the fifth and three in the seventh.

With one out in the fourth, Stan Musial walked, went to second on a single by Ken Boyer and scored on a single by Bobby Gene Smith. An intentional pass to Hal Smith loaded the bases and Alex Grammas' smashing singled scored the other two runs.

Cimoli started things off again in the seventh with a single to right. Pirate shortstop Dick Groat then dropped Bill White's pop-fly and Cimoli went to second. Bobby Gene Smith bunted safely to score Cimoli. Hal Smith's triple scored two more runs.

Billy Virdon opened the seventh for the Pirates with a single. Pinch hitter Harry Bright forced Virdon at second. Then Don Hoak slashed an infield single and Bright went all the way to third on an overthrow to first by Don Blasingame. An infield out made the score 7-2.

Then Smoky Burgess, the second-ranked hitter in the National League, smashed a home run into the upper deck of the right field stands to drive in two more runs. But that was all, as the next batter struck out to end the inning.

Starter Vinegar Bend Mizell, who went 7 1-3 innings, chalked up his third victory of the season against one defeat. Jim Brosnan finished the game for the Cards.

Friend, the first of four Pirate pitchers, went 6 2-3 innings. He has yet to complete a game this season in five starts.

PRAISES PATTERSON

Brian To Return, Learn To Fight

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "I'm coming back to the States and learn to fight."

"I took body punishment I shouldn't have taken," the stand-up British fighter said in his dressing room a few minutes after he was counted out in the ring.

He had a cut under his right eye, and his body was bright pink with red lacings.

The big blow, London said, was Patterson's hard right that caught the challenger on the left temple near the end of the 10th round and sent him down for a five-count.

"He definitely hurt me with that one," London said. "He definitely dazed me. I thought: "I'll try to do it in the 11th'—but when he's got you he's got you. He's a great champion—one, two, three in the ranks."

London said he thought he could have done better if he had worked six months in the United States, "but I think I didn't do too bad."

Asked what he said to Patterson in several verbal exchanges during the fight, London explained:

"I would tell him 'good blow, Floyd—and then he would give me another cut."

London's wife, Veronica, and in the dressing room when London mother, Mrs. John Harper, were came in. They hugged one another and no one seemed too disappointed.

Homers Pace Tech To 12-2 Rout Of State

JONESBORO, La. (Special) — Jackie Moreland, Wade Scott and slugger-pitcher J. W. Mercer blasted home runs to spark heavy-hitting Louisiana Tech to a 12-2 rout of Arkansas State here yesterday.

Scott's homer came in the third with nobody on and Mercer, who has hit five, blasted his in the 6th, also with no one aboard.

Tech had a 12-0 lead before Arkansas State managed to notch runs in the 7th and 9th.

The win was Tech's 15th against four losses and State's record is now 7-10. The two teams play a doubleheader today.

Teener Loop To Hold Tryouts Today At Legion

Second tryouts of the season for Teener League Baseball here will be conducted this afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock, at Legion Memorial Stadium.

Buddy Berry, league president for the sponsoring Veterans of Foreign Wars post, said many boys who had registered failed to report for the first workout last Saturday, and that it is necessary to show the managers of the clubs their ability in these tryouts in order to be selected.

The four clubs in the league have each lost several players through age eligibility limitations and all need replacements. A third tryout session is planned next week before player selections are made.

Members of last year's teams who are still eligible are also due at the workouts.

THEY REGREW HAIR!

Mr. H. Newhouse, Woodale, Ill. Mrs. H. Haller, Miami, Fla.

CORAL GABLES, Fla. — New home treatment methods for saving hair and improving its growth will be demonstrated in Monroe, on May 3, Sunday only.

Trichologist J. J. Stalteri will be in charge representing the dynamic Harlow Hair Experts organization. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1:00 to 8:00 p.m. Sunday at the Frances Hotel.

This new treatment is neither "mail order" nor "cure-all." It is adapted to the individual after a personal examination and progress is checked personally at regular intervals by a Harlow expert.

Who Can Be Helped

For many years now Harlow Hair Experts have been checking the hair of thousands of people across the country. They have encountered and dealt with hundreds of cases of every kind of hair trouble. From this experience has grown the body of scientific knowledge leading to the development of the new Harlow home treatment.

Will the new Harlow treatment cure baldness? "No!" For we cannot help men and women who are slick-bald after years of gradual hair-loss. But if you still have fuzz and your scalp is creating hair, you can at least save and thicken what you have. Some conditions, such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

Other conditions that usually bring an excessive hair loss — dandruff, itching, over-oiliness or dryness, follicles clogged with sebum or seborrhea — can be corrected by the Harlow home treatment if caught before the "hair factories" are destroyed.

Evidence of the success of the Harlow method is that the organization has quickly expanded to serve hundreds of cities in 21 states.

Surveys among men and women in all walks of life show that the worst enemies of your hair are (1) skepticism and (2) procrastination. The average balding person justifies his condition with one or the other of these two statements:

"I don't think anybody can stop hair loss"—or "Oh, I'm going to see an expert when I get around to it."

Baldness won't wait for doubters to be convinced or for procrastinators to take action later. You're going to keep right on losing hair till you're bald . . . unless you get your scalp in healthy, hair growing condition again.

Satisfy 95 Percent

"Actually, our biggest problem is not in doing what we claim," says Harlow, "for we satisfy at least 95 per cent of our clients which, when you consider that almost every person is a 'doubter' or a 'putter-offer' where hair is concerned, is an excellent showing. Getting these doubters and putter-offers to come in for an examination is really the problem.

Examine You Free

We want to make it clear that you incur absolutely no charge or obligation by coming in for an examination.

"Your only obligation is to yourself to ease your mind of hair worries by learning how to save and thicken your hair at home. We will tell you frankly and sincerely whether or not you can be helped, how long it will take and how much it will cost. We do not accept cases that will not respond.

Guarantee Satisfaction

The Harlow Hair Experts will give you a written guarantee that you must be satisfied within 30 days or it costs you nothing.

For a free examination and discussion of your hair problems ask the desk clerk at the Frances Hotel Sunday only between 1:00 and 8:00 p.m. for Mr. J. J. Stalteri's room number. He does not make appointments, so come in at your convenience.

You won't be obligated or embarrassed in any way. Examinations are given in private.

MOCK POLES HOMER

Gross Hurls Northeast To 5-1 Verdict Over Centenary

SHREVEPORT, La. (Special) — Capitalizing on four unearned runs in the seventh inning, Northeast tagged Centenary with a 5-1 defeat here yesterday afternoon as lefthander Jay Gross hurled a sparkling three-hitter.

The win, a non-conference affair, gave Coach George Luffey's Indians a 13-8 slate for the year while Centenary dropped its sixth game in 16 decisions. The two teams play again here today in a doubleheader.

After giving up a lone tally in the first frame, Gross was in complete command the rest of the way, walking four and hitting one batter while fanning six.

Ed Monk was the victim of Northeast's four-run binge in the seventh before giving way to King in the eighth. Monk was tapped for seven hits but four errors by the Gents paved the way for four unearned runs.

Gross spotted Centenary a run in the first inning. Leadoff batter Spanky McCoy walked, moved to third on Jim Love's single and scored on a long fly by Steve Victory.

Monk held the Redskins scoreless until the seventh when centerfielder Homer Rouse was issued a base on balls. Eddie McGowan rapped a base hit and the runners moved to second and third when rightfielder Richard Jarrell bobbled the ball.

Gross tapped out to the pitcher with the runners holding for the second out. Consecutive errors by Victory and McCoy on blows by Red Rushing and Mock brought in two runs. Rushing and Mock moved down on Monk's wild pitch and John O'Conner singled the two runners in with the third and fourth counters.

King relieved in the eighty and Mock greeted him in the final frame with a towering circuit clout over the centerfield fence.

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT (AP)—Harmon Killebrew smashed Jim Bunning's 3-and-2 pitch a dozen rows into the upper left field seats Friday and gave the Washington Senators a stirring 4-3 triumph over the Detroit Tigers in a 10-inning duel.

It was Killebrew's second home run of the day and his fifth of the season, and brought Cuban Camilo Pascual the victory in a well-pitched battle with the Detroit right hander.

Bunning, whose gopher-ball tendencies have cost him more than 60 home runs in the last two seasons, yielded a second inning home run to the young Washington third baseman. That one was a towering smash several rows into the upper left field pavilion.

The Tigers, who now have lost 14 games in 16 decisions, would have won the game over the regulation distance except for a pair of eighth inning errors by two former Washington infielders. Third baseman Eddie Yost and shortstop Rocky Bridges both bobbled grounders as the Senators scored an unearned run and pulled from behind for a 2-2 tie.

Bunning had only himself to blame for the other Washington run. He walked the first two batters he faced in the fourth inning and ex-Tiger J. W. Porter scored a runner with a line single to left field.

Pascual went the route for the first time in three starts and got his first victory in three decisions as the Senators made it two in a row over the last place Tigers.

Pascual spaced eight hits, the Tigers bunching most of them in the first and sixth innings.

Yost led off the game with his fifth home run and the Tigers added one more run in the first on a pair of singles and Bridges' sacrifice fly. The first three batters for Detroit hit safely in the sixth, but the Tigers could score only once.

Pascual got out of that jam by getting Yost on a force play and striking out Larry Osborne. Pascual did not yield another hit.

The Senators had Bunning on the ropes twice before winning it on Killebrew's blast. Double plays helped Bunning out of two jams but his old trouble, the long ball, finally wrecked his bid for his first victory. Bunning has lost three and has given up eight home runs in 24 1-3 innings.

Detroit apparently was well on its way to victory in the sixth inning, when catcher Red Wilson drove in a tie - breaking run with a single. It was Wilson's first hit in 17 at bats this season and the first run he has driven across.

BRITON 'GAME FIGHTER'

Body Punching Won For Champ

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "If I didn't work on his body, I never would have got him at all."

World heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson was visibly spent as he talked to writers jammed in his dressing room after his 11th round knockout of England's Brian London.

"I noticed he was in pain from my body punching to his right side as early as the fifth round," said Patterson. "But he was tough and game. I know of only two other fighters I faced who were as game—Hurricane Jackson and Dick Wagner."

Patterson said although he had been sharper in training than he was against the brawny Briton, that the bout would make him "50 per cent better" for his June 25 bout with Ingemar Johansson in New York.

"I don't know just what punches hurt him. I just kept throwing punches whenever I saw the opportunity. He caught me a couple of times, but his punches weren't effective because I was going away.

"Maybe I was a little too cautious about his right hand. I kept waiting for it, but he never threw it."

Patterson said he didn't know what punch actualy set up London for the kill, although ringsiders agreed it was a whistling right to the jaw which apparently had London out on his feet just before the 10th ended. He dropped to his knee in delayed action for a five count.

Patterson said London was a better fighter than Roy Harris, his last previous title foe last Aug. 18.

"I'll say one thing, those 10-1 odds were way out of line," added the champion. "I think London deserves a rematch.

"As for myself, I'll have this fight with Johansson in two months and then I'd like to fight again in two months. This inactivity I've had didn't do me much good."

Patterson said Johansson would be a much tougher opponent. "After all, he's the No. 1 challenger," he said.

Lion Elevens Battle To Tie In Spring Tilt

Possibly taking a cue from LSU's national champion team, Head Coach Bob Ellen split his prospects for next season into five squads — Red, Blue, Green, Yellow and "Goosie Ganders."

Coach Tommy Wilson's golden seniors had the edge on offense, driving deep into the second-stringers territory four times. But the attack fizzled each time and the Reds took over on downs.

After James Simmons had intercepted a Bobby Hendrix pass on his own 28 in the first period the seniors began to march. The drive carried to the Reds' 19-yard line where quarterback Rex Carter fumbled and the Reds took over. Two plays earlier, David Barker had scampered over from nine yards out but a penalty erased the score.

Senior tackle Harold Moore picked up a fumble and chugged 24 yards to the 11 in the second period but the veterans couldn't score. Junior end Ervin Bates, a halfback last season, pushed Carter out of bounds on a fourth down play at the six.

Sports To Hold Tryouts Today

Manager Bob Carter announced yesterday that the Monroe Sports would hold another tryout session this afternoon at 2:30 on the Northeast diamond.

Carter said 16 players turned up at last week's workout and several others have indicated they would play on the amateur team when school is out.

Pitch Chips Yankee Star's Index Finger

The accident happened during batting practice before the Yankee game with the White Sox in Chicago. Duke Maas was on the mound and Mantle was finishing his practice swings with an attempted bunt. The pitch came close to his face and Mantle threw up his hand as a protection, the ball hitting the finger.

Doctors said the digit would be sore approximately a week but that Mantle could resume play as soon as he was able to grip a bat. Because he is a switch hitter, it may be possible for him to bat left handed by Sunday. It is expected he will be unable to bat right handed for about a week to 10 days.

BEATS OFF HOGAN'S CHALLENGE

Hebert Shoots Another 67 To Hold Lead In Colonial

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Calculating Lionel Hebert from Lafayette, La., shot another 3-under-par 67 Friday to increase his lead at the halfway mark to two strokes in the $27,300 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

He beat off a roaring challenge from the great Ben Hogan as he tied the 36-hole tournament record at 134.

Playing with Bantam Ben, who makes only periodical appearances now, Hebert whipped the gusty, 7,021-yard Colonial Country Club course with a round he described as better than Thursday's opening 67.

Hogan shot a 3-under-par 67 and was inching closer to Hebert as they came into the final green. Here Hebert had a 40-foot putt for a birdie and he went for it. The ball rolled straight and true and the former PGA champion, seeking his first tournament triumph this year, made it two strokes over Hogan, who missed a long putt on 18 and wound up with 136 for 36 holes.

Despite the fact that the course played harder because of the wind—Hebert said it was at least three strokes tougher—seven players bettered par. Among the great nine-hole rounds was a 4-under-par 31 on the back nine by Byron Nelson of Roanoke, Tex., the golf great of the 40s—in the Hogan era.

It gave him a 69 for the day and made him 145 for 36 holes. The 31 tied the record set by Fred Wampler of 1954 and equalled by Arnold Palmer last year.

A crowd of 7,000 turned out to watch one of the better days of par-busting over the long, tough course. Among the par-crackers was Jim Ferree of Winston-Salem, N.C., his 69 shot him into a tie for third place at 139 with Ted Kroll of Sarasota, Fla. Kroll, who was in second place with a 68 Thursday, had a 71.

Tied at 140 were Don January of Denver, another par-buster, and Tommy Jacobs of Whittier, Calif., who had a 70. At 141 were Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., who had a 61, and Gardner Dickinson of Panama City, Fla., who shot a 71.

Mike Souchak of Grosinger, N.Y., who had a 69, skied to a 78 with a horrendeous 4-over par 7 on the eighth hole where he hit into the river.

Cleveland Edges Yankees In 10th

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pinch hitter Tito Francona blasted a three-run homer in the 10th inning to give the first-place Cleveland Indians a 4-2 come-back victory over the New York Yankees Friday night.

The other big blow for Cleveland was Rocky Colavito's fifth inning homer, the only blot against right-hander Art Ditmar, who pitched an otherwise seven perfect innings.

The world champions, who lost their ninth in 16 starts, went ahead in the 10th. Again with two out Bobby Richardson singled, pinch hitter Hank Bauer walked and Tony Kubek bounced a run-scoring single into right for a 2-1 lead.

Cleveland won it in a wild finale. Bobby Shantz, the third of four New York pitchers, started the 10th. Minnie Minoso opened with a single and Colavito drew a walk. Minoso was forced at third on a bunt attempt.

Zack Monroe relieved Shantz at this point and got Billy Martin on a force play for the second out. Francona then was sent up to hit for George Strickland and drove a 1-0 pitch into the right field stands.

Cal McLish went the route for the Tribe to pick up his third straight triumph. The victory, before 36,682 fans—the largest crowd of the year here — was the Indians' 11th in 15 starts. McLish permitted seven hits and was as tough as Ditmar until the late innings.

Kramer Quits As Davis Cup Aide To Jones

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Kramer has resigned as aide to Davis Cup Captain Perry Jones because of charges that he "fixed" the victory in Australia last December, the Journal-American said Friday.

The paper quoted Kramer as saying the charges were made by Australian tennis officials and U.S. Davis Cupper Ham Richardson, accusing the pro tennis promoter of controlling the outcome when Alex Olmedo defeated Australian stars Ashley Cooper and Mal Anderson.

"It was too uncomfortable a position for me," Kramer was quoted. "It's not worth it to me to put up with that stuff.

"The Australians said I had Cooper and Anderson lay down so the U.S. could win. Then Richardson said I fixed it so Barry MacKay would play because he's a pro prospect and Ham's not. He denies it but he said it."

Richardson, ranked No. 1 in the United States, played in the doubles only as Jones named Olmedo and MacKay for the singles matches. After the matches, Anderson and Cooper joined Kramer's pro troope.

Davis Cup Committee Chairman W. Harcourt Woods was surprised at the report. He said Kramer's position never was designed as official and was based on Kramer's willingness to aid Jones in Australia.

It is believed Jones plans to make Noel Brown of Los Angeles the Cup team coach. Brown probably will handle the team early in the summer, with Jones taking over before the challenge round at Forest Hills, Aug. 28-30.

Kramer was reported in Indianapolis for the Patterson-London fight but could not be reached for comment.

Jones' office in Los Angeles said, however, that Kramer had not resigned. In Seattle, President Vic Denny of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. said there was no change in Kramer's status to his knowledge. He said he doubted that Brown would be available because of his impending marriage and the considerable travel the job would entail.

Tech Golf Team Plays McNeese On Ruston Links

RUSTON, La. (Special) —Louisiana Tech's golf team, beaten only once this season, will play McNeese State's defending Gulf States Conference champions here Saturday afternoon at the Ruston Country Club course.

Tech beat Centenary 14-4, for the second time this season Thursday in Shreveport. Tech star and Captain Roy Nash remains unbeaten in individual play.

The Tech-Centenary summary:

John Bird (C) defeated Don Goodspeed, (LT), 2-1.

Roy Nash (LT) beat Jim Hughes (D), 3-0.

Goodspeed-Nash defeated Bird-Hughes, 2½-½.

Joe Thomas (LT) beat Eddie Neilson (C), 3-0.

Race Issue Forces Scots To Disband

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—The McDonald Scots, accepted only this past winter for membership in the National Industrial Basketball League, disbanded Friday with segregation one of the prime reasons.

Real estate dealer Cecil McDonald said the action was necessary because the Scots could not obtain a suitable home playing site and the segregation issue could not be avoided.

McDonald said earlier the segregation issue could be skirted farming out games against teams with Negro players, but New York, he said, applied for league membership and would have Negroes on the squad. Too many games, he said, would have to be played away from home.

Louisiana law forbids competition between white and Negro athletes.

In three years Scots won 146 games and lost only 28. They went to the quarter-finals of the National AAU Tournament in 1957 and 1958.

Demons Defeat McNeese, 7 To 4

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Northwestern scored four unearned runs on five McNeese errors Friday for a 7-4 Gulf States Conference victory.

NSC clinched it with three runs in the fourth inning. Two came in on NSC's only extra base hit, Billy Cook's double. Cook came home next on an out.

The game put NSC in second place in the GSC with a 6-5 record. McNeese is in the cellar with 3-7.

Dupas To Meet Charley Scott

The fight will be carried over ABC-TV.

West Monroe Slates Tryout

Dave McKenzie, former pro pitcher, has been named manager of the West Monroe entry in the La-Ark baseball league and will conduct a tryout session this afternoon.

McKenzie was named manager in a club meeting Wednesday night.

Redlegs Deal Ennis To Pale Sox For Pair

Redleg officials said Skizas will be assigned directly to a Cincinnati minor league team.

Rudolph, who won 11 games and lost 12 for Indianapolis last season, will report to the Reds Saturday.

Ennis, 33, who spent most of his 12 major league years with Philadelphia, has appeared mainly in pinch-hit roles with the Reds this season, getting four hits in 12 appearances. He has a career batting average of .285.

Rudolph, 27, was with the Sox late last season and had a 1-0 record. He has no 1959 record and worked only three innings in relief.

The Sox drafted Skizas, 26, from Charleston last winter after he had been with the New York Yankees, Kansas City A's and Detroit Tigers.

Welter Champ Gives Moyer Shot At Title

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Don Jordan of Los Angeles will defend his welterweight title here July 10 against Denny Moyer of Portland, promoter Tommy Moyer said Friday.

Moyer, 19, is undefeated in 20 professional fights. The National Boxing Assn. picks him as the No. 5 challenger, Ring Magazine No. 6.

The Journal said it had learned the bout probably would be televised nationally, with the Portland area blacked out.

Gross Hurls Northeast To 5-1 Verdict Over Centenary

SHREVEPORT, La. (Special) — Capitalizing on four unearned runs in the seventh inning, Northeast tagged Centenary with a 5-1 defeat here yesterday afternoon as lefthander Jay Gross hurled a sparkling three-hitter.

The win, a non-conference affair, gave Coach George Luffey's Indians a 13-8 slate for the year while Centenary dropped its sixth game in 16 decisions. The two teams play again here today in a doubleheader.

After giving up a lone tally in the first frame, Gross was in complete command the rest of the way, walking four and hitting one batter while fanning six.

Ed Monk was the victim of Northeast's four-run binge in the seventh before giving way to King in the eighth. Monk was tapped for seven hits but four errors by the Gents paved the way for four unearned runs.

Gross spotted Centenary a run in the first inning. Leadoff batter Spanky McCoy walked, moved to third on Jim Love's single and scored on a long fly by Steve Victory.

Monk held the Redskins scoreless until the seventh when centerfielder Homer Rouse was issued a base on balls. Eddie McGowan rapped a base hit and the runners moved to second and third when rightfielder Richard Jarrell bobbled the ball.

Gross tapped out to the pitcher with the runners holding for the second out. Consecutive errors by Victory and McCoy on blows by Red Rushing and Mock brought in two runs. Rushing and Mock moved down on Monk's wild pitch and John O'Conner singled the two runners in with the third and fourth counters.

King relieved in the eighty and Mock greeted him in the final frame with a towering circuit clout over the centerfield fence.

By DAVE DILES

DETROIT (AP)—Harmon Killebrew smashed Jim Bunning's 3-and-2 pitch a dozen rows into the upper left field seats Friday and gave the Washington Senators a stirring 4-3 triumph over the Detroit Tigers in a 10-inning duel.

It was Killebrew's second home run of the day and his fifth of the season, and brought Cuban Camilo Pascual the victory in a well-pitched battle with the Detroit right hander.

Bunning, whose gopher-ball tendencies have cost him more than 60 home runs in the last two seasons, yielded a second inning home run to the young Washington third baseman. That one was a towering smash several rows into the upper left field pavilion.

The Tigers, who now have lost 14 games in 16 decisions, would have won the game over the regulation distance except for a pair of eighth inning errors by two former Washington infielders. Third baseman Eddie Yost and shortstop Rocky Bridges both bobbled grounders as the Senators scored an unearned run and pulled from behind for a 2-2 tie.

Bunning had only himself to blame for the other Washington run. He walked the first two batters he faced in the fourth inning and ex-Tiger J. W. Porter scored a runner with a line single to left field.

Pascual went the route for the first time in three starts and got his first victory in three decisions as the Senators made it two in a row over the last place Tigers.

Pascual spaced eight hits, the Tigers bunching most of them in the first and sixth innings.

Yost led off the game with his fifth home run and the Tigers added one more run in the first on a pair of singles and Bridges' sacrifice fly. The first three batters for Detroit hit safely in the sixth, but the Tigers could score only once.

Pascual got out of that jam by getting Yost on a force play and striking out Larry Osborne. Pascual did not yield another hit.

The Senators had Bunning on the ropes twice before winning it on Killebrew's blast. Double plays helped Bunning out of two jams but his old trouble, the long ball, finally wrecked his bid for his first victory. Bunning has lost three and has given up eight home runs in 24 1-3 innings.

Detroit apparently was well on its way to victory in the sixth inning, when catcher Red Wilson drove in a tie - breaking run with a single. It was Wilson's first hit in 17 at bats this season and the first run he has driven across.

BRITON 'GAME FIGHTER'

Body Punching Won For Champ

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "If I didn't work on his body, I never would have got him at all."

World heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson was visibly spent as he talked to writers jammed in his dressing room after his 11th round knockout of England's Brian London.

"I noticed he was in pain from my body punching to his right side as early as the fifth round," said Patterson. "But he was tough and game. I know of only two other fighters I faced who were as game—Hurricane Jackson and Dick Wagner."

Patterson said although he had been sharper in training than he was against the brawny Briton, that the bout would make him "50 per cent better" for his June 25 bout with Ingemar Johansson in New York.

"I don't know just what punches hurt him, I just kept throwing punches whenever I saw the opportunity. He caught me a couple of times, but his punches weren't effective because I was going away.

"Maybe I was a little too cautious about his right hand. I kept waiting for it, but he never threw it."

Patterson said he didn't know what punch actualy set up London for the kill, although ringsiders agreed it was a whistling right to the jaw which apparently had London out on his feet just before the 10th ended. He dropped to his knee in delayed action for a five count.

Patterson said London was a better fighter than Roy Harris, his last previous title foe last Aug. 18.

"I'll say one thing, those 10-1 odds were way out of line," added the champion. "I think London deserves a rematch.

"As for myself, I'll have this fight with Johansson in two months and then I'd like to fight again in two months. This inactivity I've had didn't do me much good."

Patterson said Johansson would be a much tougher opponent. "After all, he's the No. 1 challenger," he said.

Lion Elevens Battle To Tie In Spring Tilt

Possibly taking a cue from LSU's national champion team, Head Coach Bob Ellen split his prospects for next season into five squads — Red, Blue, Green, Yellow and "Goosie Ganders."

Coach Tommy Wilson's golden seniors had the edge on offense, driving deep into the second-stringers territory four times. But the attack fizzled each time and the Reds took over on downs.

After James Simmons had intercepted a Bobby Hendrix pass on his own 28 in the first period the seniors began to march. The drive carried to the Reds' 19-yard line where quarterback Rex Carter fumbled and the Reds took over. Two plays earlier, David Barker had scampered over from nine yards out but a penalty erased the score.

Senior tackle Harold Moore picked up a fumble and chugged 24 yards to the 11 in the second period but the veterans couldn't score. Junior end Ervin Bates, a halfback last season, pushed Carter out of bounds on a fourth down play at the six.

Sports To Hold Tryouts Today

Manager Bob Carter announced yesterday that the Monroe Sports would hold another tryout session this afternoon at 2:30 on the Northeast diamond.

Carter said 16 players turned up at last week's workout and several others have indicated they would play on the amateur team when school is out.

Kramer Quits As Davis Cup Aide To Jones

NEW YORK (AP)—Jack Kramer has resigned as aide to Davis Cup Captain Perry Jones because of charges that he "fixed" the victory in Australia last December, the Journal-American said Friday.

The paper quoted Kramer as saying the charges were made by Australian tennis officials and U.S. Davis Cupper Ham Richardson, accusing the pro tennis promoter of controlling the outcome when Alex Olmedo defeated Australian stars Ashley Cooper and Mal Anderson.

"It was too uncomfortable a position for me," Kramer was quoted. "It's not worth it to me to put up with that stuff.

"The Australians said I had Cooper and Anderson lay down so the U.S. could win. Then Richardson said I fixed it so Barry MacKay would play because he's a pro prospect and Ham's not. He denies it but he said it."

Richardson, ranked No. 1 in the United States, played in the doubles only as Jones named Olmedo and MacKay for the singles matches. After the matches, Anderson and Cooper joined Kramer's pro troope.

Davis Cup Committee Chairman W. Harcourt Woods was surprised at the report. He said Kramer's position never was designed as official and was based on Kramer's willingness to aid Jones in Australia.

It is believed Jones plans to make Noel Brown of Los Angeles the Cup team coach. Brown probably will handle the team early in the summer, with Jones taking over before the challenge round at Forest Hills, Aug. 28-30.

Kramer was reported in Indianapolis for the Patterson-London fight but could not be reached for comment.

Jones' office in Los Angeles said, however, that Kramer had not resigned. In Seattle, President Vic Denny of the U.S. Lawn Tennis Assn. said there was no change in Kramer's status to his knowledge. He said he doubted that Brown would be available because of his impending marriage and the considerable travel the job would entail.

Pitch Chips Yankee Star's Index Finger

The accident happened during batting practice before the Yankee game with the White Sox in Chicago. Duke Maas was on the mound and Mantle was finishing his practice swings with an attempted bunt. The pitch came close to his face and Mantle threw up his hand as a protection, the ball hitting the finger.

Doctors said the digit would be sore approximately a week but that Mantle could resume play as soon as he was able to grip a bat. Because he is a switch hitter, it may be possible for him to bat left handed by Sunday. It is expected he will be unable to bat right handed for about a week to 10 days.

Herb Elliott To Wed

Herb Elliott (left), the world's fastest miler, and his home-town sweetheart, Anne Dudley, of Perth, Aust., announced they will be married in Perth today. Elliott, who attends Melbourne University, says he has such a hectic year ahead of him that he will have no time for any sport after his examinations in November. (AP Wirephoto)

BEATS OFF HOGAN'S CHALLENGE

Hebert Shoots Another 67 To Hold Lead In Colonial

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Calculating Lionel Hebert from Lafayette, La., shot another 3-under-par 67 Friday to increase his lead at the halfway mark to two strokes in the $27,300 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament.

He beat off a roaring challenge from the great Ben Hogan as he tied the 36-hole tournament record at 134.

Playing with Bantam Ben, who makes only periodical appearances now, Hebert whipped the gusty, 7,021-yard Colonial Country Club course with a round he described as better than Thursday's opening 67.

Hogan shot a 3-under-par 67 and was inching closer to Hebert as they came into the final green. Here Hebert had a 40-foot putt for a birdie and he went for it. The ball rolled straight and true and the former PGA champion, seeking his first tournament triumph this year, made it two strokes over Hogan, who missed a long putt on 18 and wound up with 136 for 36 holes.

Despite the fact that the course played harder because of the wind—Hebert said it was at least three strokes tougher—seven players bettered par. Among the great nine-hole rounds was a 4-under-par 31 on the back nine by Byron Nelson of Roanoke, Tex., the golf great of the 40s—in the Hogan era.

It gave him a 69 for the day and made him 145 for 36 holes. The 31 tied the record set by Fred Wampler of 1954 and equalled by Arnold Palmer last year.

A crowd of 7,000 turned out to watch one of the better days of par-busting over the long, tough course. Among the par-crackers was Jim Ferree of Winston-Salem, N.C., his 69 shot him into a tie for third place at 139 with Ted Kroll of Sarasota, Fla. Kroll, who was in second place with a 68 Thursday, had a 71.

Tied at 140 were Don January of Denver, another par-buster, and Tommy Jacobs of Whittier, Calif., who had a 70. At 141 were Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., who had a 61, and Gardner Dickinson of Panama City, Fla., who shot a 71.

Mike Souchak of Grosinger, N.Y., who had a 69, skied to a 78 with a horrendeous 4-over par 7 on the eighth hole where he hit into the river.

Cleveland Edges Yankees In 10th

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pinch hitter Tito Francona blasted a three-run homer in the 10th inning to give the first-place Cleveland Indians a 4-2 come-back victory over the New York Yankees Friday night.

The other big blow for Cleveland was Rocky Colavito's fifth inning homer, the only blot against right-hander Art Ditmar, who pitched an otherwise seven perfect innings.

The world champions, who lost their ninth in 16 starts, went ahead in the 10th. Again with two out Bobby Richardson singled, pinch hitter Hank Bauer walked and Tony Kubek bounced a run-scoring single into right for a 2-1 lead.

Cleveland won it in a wild finale. Bobby Shantz, the third of four New York pitchers, started the 10th. Minnie Minoso opened with a single and Colavito drew a walk. Minoso was forced at third on a bunt attempt.

Zack Monroe relieved Shantz at this point and got Billy Martin on a force play for the second out. Francona then was sent up to hit for George Strickland and drove a 1-0 pitch into the right field stands.

Cal McLish went the route for the Tribe to pick up his third straight triumph. The victory, before 36,682 fans—the largest crowd of the year here — was the Indians' 11th in 15 starts. McLish permitted seven hits and was as tough as Ditmar until the late innings.

Race Issue Forces Scots To Disband

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP)—The McDonald Scots, accepted only this past winter for membership in the National Industrial Basketball League, disbanded Friday with segregation one of the prime reasons.

Real estate dealer Cecil McDonald said the action was necessary because the Scots could not obtain a suitable home playing site and the segregation issue could not be avoided.

McDonald said earlier the segregation issue could be skirted farming out games against teams with Negro players, but New York, he said, applied for league membership and would have Negroes on the squad. Too many games, he said, would have to be played away from home.

Louisiana law forbids competition between white and Negro athletes.

In three years Scots won 146 games and lost only 28. They went to the quarter-finals of the National AAU Tournament in 1957 and 1958.

LAKE CHARLES, La. (AP) — Northwestern scored four unearned runs on five McNeese errors Friday for a 7-4 Gulf States Conference victory.

NSC clinched it with three runs in the fourth inning. Two came in on NSC's only extra base hit, Billy Cook's double. Cook came home next on an out.

The game put NSC in second place in the GSC with a 6-5 record. McNeese is in the cellar with 3-7.

McKenzie was named manager in a club meeting Wednesday night.

Redlegs Deal Ennis To Pale Sox For Pair

Redleg officials said Skizas will be assigned directly to a Cincinnati minor league team.

Rudolph, who won 11 games and lost 12 for Indianapolis last season, will report to the Reds Saturday.

Ennis, 33, who spent most of his 12 major league years with Philadelphia, has appeared mainly in pinch-hit roles with the Reds this season, getting four hits in 12 appearances. He has a career batting average of .285.

Rudolph, 27, was with the Sox late last season and had a 1-0 record. He has no 1959 record and worked only three innings in relief.

The Sox drafted Skizas, 26, from Charleston last winter after he had been with the New York Yankees, Kansas City A's and Detroit Tigers.

Welter Champ Gives Moyer Shot At Title

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Don Jordan of Los Angeles will defend his welterweight title here July 10 against Denny Moyer of Portland, promoter Tommy Moyer said Friday.

Moyer, 19, is undefeated in 20 professional fights. The National Boxing Assn. picks him as the No. 5 challenger, Ring Magazine No. 6.

The Journal said it had learned the bout probably would be televised nationally, with the Portland area blacked out.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Grandparents' Giving Causes Consternation

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

If every situation in life were ideal for all concerned, there never would be any occasion for resentment. But there are some things about all situations which please one and some things which are displeasing. We have to determine which outweighs the other.

Mrs. E.T. writes, "For as long as I can remember on every holiday our children's dear grandparents either bring or send the children boxes of valentines, Christmas goodies, elaborate Easter baskets. One grandparent in particular gives more than she can afford on holdiays and birthdays and several times a month she gives them toys and money.

"If you wonder why I complain, it is because we, as parents, never have the thrill of giving gifts to our children and see them appreciated. They have too much too often. This is just a thought jotted down on a rainy day by one of your steady readers."

ANSWER

I am sure when the sun came out you felt better. You have to admit in life that even silver linings have clouds. You feel badly because your children have so many gifts lavished upon them and the grandparents think of them constantly, but you would feel far worse if they ignored them and never gave them any presents.

You are denied some of the pleasures of giving, but you have to weigh it this way — would you rather they did or did not give?

Grandparents, in the main, tend to do the lavish and extravagant things they think a parent may not be able to afford. They want to please the children and by doing just these things, they sometimes edge the parent out of the picture, not for any mean reason but to be kind, thoughtful and good.

You always can tell your parents and your in-laws that you would prefer at times they give the children money, or some useful gift so that you may give them the holdiay or seasonal one. If you have a good relationship with your parents and in-laws, they will understand.

Supper Party For The Jones Saturday Night

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Bryan Jones were the honorees Saturday night at a supper given by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pipes in their home on Frances Place.

Mrs. Jones wore a dress of sandlewood surah silk with white coin dots topped with a duster of sandlewood and lined with the same material as the dress. Her shoes were brown. Her corsage was a red camellia presented to her by Mr. and Mrs. Pipes.

Guests enjoying the evening with Mr. and Mrs. Pipes were Mr. and Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Pierce and Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Ransom.

How Is Your Cake Appeal?

CHICAGO (AP)—A woman is known by the cake she bakes, says a producer of a cake mix.

Psychologists were called on a "reading" survey to see how three types of women reacted when handed a box of mix and told to make any of the four recipes on the box or invent her own.

The chic group unexpectedly proved to be "kitchen types" and baked fancy cakes. They made pastries richly filled with nuts and raisins, poppy seeds, cheese or fruit, topped with frosting.

The non - glamorous group included wholesome "American girl" types and older women. All but four of the 15 in the group made plain cakes, with or without topping.

The group of women whose common characteristic was fastidious housekeeping favored gooey pecan rolls, made with scarcely a departure from package directions, but they outranked the others in quick cleanup action.

Transylvania PTA Meeting This Week

LAKE PROVIDENCE — The Transylvania PTA meeting was held in the lunch room of the Transylvania Junior School, with the outgoing president, Mrs. J. D. Chambers presiding over a short business session.

The nominating committee presented the list of officers selected for the next fiscal year as follows: President, Mrs. Herman Ragus; vice - president, Mrs. Talmadge Pearson and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. W. M. Nichols. The proposed list of officers were unanimously elected by the unit, and are scheduled to be installed at the next meeting.

A brief discussion followed on the pre - school round up held in the parish, and the benefits that were derived from it for the children who are to enter school in the fall.

For the program, the guest speaker was Captain M. E. Kidd, commanding officer of Troop F, of Monroe, whose topic was "Safety on the Highway." He compared the fatalities on the highways in Louisiana with other states. He also pointed out how teachers, parents and organizations could be of help in educating the children on safety in order to lower the future death rates while traveling in motor vehicles.

The hostesses, Mrs. D. F. Davis and Mrs. Henry Winters served refreshments to the members and guests.

YOUR PROBLEMS

No Need To Report All Your Beauty Secrets

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: The other night at my sister's house we got into a discussion about women who dye their hair. I made the remark I thought it was wonderful that Emma (my wife) is 53 and doesn't have a gray hair in her head.

It was then my sister said "Emma has been dyeing her hair for years, Stupid." I defended Emma and told my sister she was crazy. She bet me $5.00 that she was right and I was wrong.

When I got home I asked Emma straight out. She said my sister was right. Now I feel like a big fool. Shouldn't my wife have told me years ago what she was doing so I wouldn't be embarrassed like this?—BARNEY

DEAR BARNEY: I see no reason for your wife to have told you that she's been TINTING (please, that word "dyeing" is so funereal) her hair. Many women do it, and there's no need to report every time the process takes place.

(P.S. Your sister is a needle artist—and a cat.)

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm jealous — so jealous I can't see straight. And of whom? A woman who wrote to you and signed her letter "Just Tired." She complained because her husband insisted on coming home for lunch every day.

I would like to say one thing to this woman: I don't know what you've got that I haven't, but, Sister, I salute you. A wife who can make her husband want to see her in the middle of the day is a howling success.

I missed the boat somehow. I'm lucky if my husband comes home to sleep. Don't ask me where he goes. The only thing I know for sure is, he's NOT home with me.

Maybe I tried too hard to please my man. I've heard it said a man likes a little orneriness in his woman. He loses interest if she's too sweet and giving. But that's my nature and I can't change. I'd still give, if there was somebody around. But there isn't—not for breakfast, lunch or dinner. I'll just sign ths letter — Have Problems, Wll Trade — With Anybody

DEAR HAVE PROBLEMS: One interesting thing about problems is everybody has 'em, in one form or another. And no one can trade with the next person. One philosopher said if all of us could hang our troubles on a clothes line, and a great downpour began, everyone would run to grab his own.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our teenage daughter came home today in tears. It so happens that in the past year she has sprained her ankle twice, broken her arm, dislocated her back, broken a toe and had a few other mionor accidents.

Today she accidently mashed her finger in the door of the girls' lavatory. It was then the school principal told her she has had more accidents than any four people in school combined. My daughter said Miss Jones implied she was having accidents on purpose, which is absurd. She suggested maybe the girl needs professional help.

Why would a principal be so mean as to upset a child like this? Will you please comment? — JUDY'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: The principal was not trying to upset your child. She was suggesting that the girl is accident prone, and judging by the record, she's probably right.

We all know people to whom "everything" seems to happen. The insurance companies have some enlightening literature on this subject. Inquire and become acquainted with the facts.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Grandparents' Giving Causes Consternation

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

If every situation in life were ideal for all concerned, there never would be any occasion for resentment. But there are some things about all situations which please one and some things which are displeasing. We have to determine which outweighs the other.

Mrs. E.T. writes, "For as long as I can remember on every holiday our children's dear grandparents either bring or send the children boxes of valentines, Christmas goodies, elaborate Easter baskets. One grandparent in particular gives more than she can afford on holdiays and birthdays and several times a month she gives them toys and money.

"If you wonder why I complain, it is because we, as parents, never have the thrill of giving gifts to our children and see them appreciated. They have too much too often. This is just a thought jotted down on a rainy day by one of your steady readers."

ANSWER

I am sure when the sun came out you felt better. You have to admit in life that even silver linings have clouds. You feel badly because your children have so many gifts lavished upon them and the grandparents think of them constantly, but you would feel far worse if they ignored them and never gave them any presents.

You are denied some of the pleasures of giving, but you have to weigh it this way — would you rather they did or did not give?

You can't have it both ways.

Grandparents, in the main, tend to do the lavish and extravagant things they think a parent may not be able to afford. They want to please the children and by doing just these things, they sometimes edge the parent out of the picture, not for any mean reason but to be kind, thoughtful and good.

You always can tell your parents and your in-laws that you would prefer at times they give the children money, or some useful gift so that you may give them the holdiay or seasonal one. If you have a good relationship with your parents and in-laws, they will understand.

Tallulah Junior-Senior Banquet

TALLULAH— "Fairyland Rhapsody" was the theme chosen for the annual junior - senior banquet which took place at the Tallulah Country Club on Friday evening. The lounge and banquet hall had been converted into a land of enchantment with decorations of flowers, fairies and elves.

As guests entered the porch they noted a bubbling fountain in a garden pool surrounded with vines and blossoms, and around the door leading to the lounge glittering letters proclaimed "Fairyland Rhapsody."

In the flower bedecked lounge a trellis covered with ivy and roses was placed in front of the fireplace. At one end of the ballroom there was a large painting, "The Blue Fairy and Her Prince" used as a backdrop for the stage, and over the mantel a rainbow and sparkling greeting, "Welcome to Fairyland," created an atmosphere of charm together with many beautiful flower arrangements and numerous fairies and pixies.

Garden flowers sprinkled with green confetti also held program books and place cards, appropriately designed with the fairyland theme marking each place. Serving the delicious turkey banquet were twenty sophomore girls dressed as pixies in two tone green costumes.

"If for Girls" was given by Thelma Levee and "If for Boys" by Carolyn Friis. Phyllis Gardsbane read the senior class history; Thelma Levee gave a dance, "Fairy Queen's Frolic" and the program was concluded with the class will by Mary Jo Provine and Craig Wilson.

Presentation of gift certificates to class sponsors, Ginny Williamson to J. M. Yeates and Mrs. Josie Clawson and Letha Mae Erwin to Dean DeWees, Mrs. D. B. Lancaster and N. P. Mier.

White Lipstick In Vogue Over Country

The woman who finds that ordinary cosmetics irritate her sensitive skin will not have to lag behind this spring's beauty trends. A white lipstick has been introduced, the first in a new line of high fashion beauty needs created for the woman sensitive or allergic to the usual cosmetics.

A white lipstick, the dramatic Italian beauty idea, is giving a new look to American women this spring . White lipstick gives flexibility and subtlety to lip makeup. It is applied over or under the regular lipstick to give the lips a soft, dewy look, eliminating the bright sheen of ordinary lipstick. In addition, it lightens basic tones to the degree desired, enabling the wearer to develop her own personal shade of makeup.

Eliminate All The Extraneous In Cleaning

NEW YORK (UPI) — One way to keep down spring cleaning is to eliminate husbands, children and pets.

Together, they manage to account for 35 per cent of the mess the average homemaker cleans up each day, says the head of the nation's largest home-care organization. Kenneth N. Hansen of Service Master says that on the basis of clean-up statistics in the average household, here is where all that dirt comes from:

Children, 12 per cent; the foot parade of the family, 10; bad weather, 8; entertaining, 7; and pets, 5.

Just to discourage further all us neat-as-pin types, Hansen said that the dirt-fall is on the increase, varying from two to 25 pounds per room per year—depending on the city.

Wash ornaments that stand around all year and collect dust in crevices; keep rags for cleaning (old bath towels and sheets have a useful second life); clean out radiators in between all the coils;

And clean out magazine and newspaper baskets and decide to part with old issues that never will be read.

LeMay-McLane Married In California

Miss Lodia Le May, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Le May of Bristol, Connecticut, and Lieutenant (jg) L. Patrick McLane, USNR, were married at St. John's Catholic Church in San Diego, California on April 4 at nine o'clock in the morning. Lt. McLane is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. McLane of Ruston.

Fr. Dennis Ryan performed the ceremony before arrangements of white lilies and giant stock. The organist played "Ave Maria" and "On This Day" during the ceremony.

Tallulah Junior-Senior Banquet

TALLULAH— "Fairyland Rhapsody" was the theme chosen for the annual junior - senior banquet which took place at the Tallulah Country Club on Friday evening. The lounge and banquet hall had been converted into a land of enchantment with decorations of flowers, fairies and elves.

As guests entered the porch they noted a bubbling fountain in a garden pool surrounded with vines and blossoms, and around the door leading to the lounge glittering letters proclaimed "Fairyland Rhapsody."

In the flower bedecked lounge a trellis covered with ivy and roses was placed in front of the fireplace. At one end of the ballroom there was a large painting, "The Blue Fairy and Her Prince" used as a backdrop for the stage, and over the mantel a rainbow and sparkling greeting, "Welcome to Fairyland," created an atmosphere of charm together with many beautiful flower arrangements and numerous fairies and pixies.

Garden flowers sprinkled with green confetti also held program books and place cards, appropriately designed with the fairyland theme marking each place. Serving the delicious turkey banquet were twenty sophomore girls dressed as pixies in two tone green costumes.

A medley of piano numbers was rendered by Jane Caldwell after which she and Peggy Morgan read the class prophecy.

"If for Girls" was given by Thelma Levee and "If for Boys" by Carolyn Friis. Phyllis Gardsbane read the senior class history; Thelma Levee gave a dance, "Fairy Queen's Frolic" and the program was concluded with the class will by Mary Jo Provine and Craig Wilson.

ON INTERNATIONAL COURT

Senator Attacks Nixon Proposal

MEMPHIS (AP) — Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) Friday attacked a proposal by Vice President Richard Nixon that the jurisdiction of the International Court of Justice be extended.

"What the vice president is asking us to do is to surrender the sovereignty of the United States to a court named by God knows who and with the jurisdiction over God knows what," Eastland said.

Eastland, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee, addressed a "Law Week" luncheon sponsored by the Memphis and Shelby County Bar Assn.

The senator referred to a speech made by Nixon April 13 before the Academy of Political Science in New York. Eastland quoted Nixon as suggesting that the Senate eliminate the Connaly reservation to the World Court treaty.

The Connaly reservation retained for the United States the right to determine whether the subject matter of a particular dispute is within the domestic jurisdiction of the United States and therefore excluded from the jurisdiction of the court.

Eastland said the move would be unconstitutional and would violate the sovereignty if the United States:

"An attribute of a sovereign is that the sovereign cannot be sued without its own consent. Mr. Nixon has asked us to give up this attribute of sovereignty by granting blanket authority for the United States to be used on occasions we cannot control and on questions about which we have not been informed in advance."

O'Day Is Freed On $3,000 Bond In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Former Benton County court reporter James T. O'Day was free Friday under $3,000 bond on charges of obtaining money on false pretenses.

The charge was filed by Atty. Gen. Joe Patterson on the basis of a $400 advance paid by the state for completion of a transcript of a trial the attorney general instituted. O'Day did not complete the transcript in time for Patterson to take the case to the State Supreme Court and the appeal was dismissed.

The state had sought to recover $78,000 it charged was misused by former Benton County school Supt. Douglas Autry. The lower court had ordered Autry to make restitute for just over $13,000 and the state sought to increase the amount.

O'Day was bound over to the Hinds County grand jury earlier this week in a justice of the peace court hearing.

Air Force Academy Spendings Assailed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The General Accounting Office accused the Air Force Friday of running up the cost of its new academy to almost double the original 139 million dollar estimate — all without telling Congress.

The head of the agency, Comptroller General Joseph Campbell, said the Air Force already has spent or obligated 197 million dollars for the Colorado Springs academy and that the final price tag will be almost 270 million dollars.

"The Air Force has not disclosed these facts to Congress," Campbell said in a report.

Chairman Chet Holifield (D-Calif.) of the House military operations subcommittee promptly ordered a staff analysis of the GAO report to determine whether a congressional investigation was needed.

Campbell said his auditors, who act as congressional watchdogs on federal spending, found the Air Force had plans for 72 million dollars worth of academy facilities over and above the 197 million dollars already spent or obligated.

These plans, he said, included a $5,225,000 hotel and $2,300,000 football stadium.

Campbell focused particular criticism on a projected $24,700,000 academy airfield. He said congressional approval was not obtained for the project and it has been "questioned repeatedly" at congressional hearings.

He said about $3,500,000 already had been spent for the 2,600-acre airfield site even though official reports and records indicate it "may have limited capabilities and may create an air traffic problem."

The GAO charges amplified on an earlier report submitted in connection with a March 19 hearing at which Air Force officials were questioned by a House appropriations subcommittee about some of the charges.

Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.) said at that time the academy might turn into one of the Defense Department's "classic scandals". He predicted an eventual "full-dress" inquiry by Congress.

Campbell said the GAO was "recommending to the secretary of the Air Force that in the future a full disclosure be made to Congress as to the total foreseeable costs of major construction programs."

Challenge Issued To Candidates In Mississippi

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Mississippi Republican Party Friday challenged the state's candidates for governor to take a stand on legislative reapportionment, prohibition, higher teacher pay and equitable taxation.

The GOP issued a statement saying the individual candidates "either have not taken a stand on certain of these issues, or have taken a stand that is so uncertain as to create a doubt" and there is little likelihood that they would take a stand voluntarily.

The six points on which the Republicans demanded a stand were:

Two Fishermen Rescued After 9 Days Afloat

CLO-OOSE, B.C. (AP) — Two American fishermen who had been adrift in their disabled boat for nine days through turbulent Pacific storms were hauled to safety at this tiny Vancouver Island village Thursday.

Maddern and Turner, both in good condition, left Aberdeen on April 21 on what was to have been a 13-hour run to Neah Bay in the 34-foot troller Thordis.

The boat's engine broke down. For nine days, through some of the stormiest weather of the spring, the Thordis drifted. Maddern and Turner had no radio transmitter.

Edgar phoned Mr. and Mrs Clyde Ordway and the Ordways ran to the beach, waded into the icy water, caught a rope thrown from the Thordis, and hauled the boat through the one small gap in the reef that hems in bay.

Two Fishermen Rescued After 9 Days Afloat

CLO-OOSE, B.C. (AP) — Two American fishermen who had been adrift in their disabled boat for nine days through turbulent Pacific storms were hauled to safety at this tiny Vancouver Island village Thursday.

Only four cans of soup separated Bob Maddern, 40, and Bob Turner, 46, both of Aberdeen, Wash., from starvation when they reached shore.

Maddern and Turner, both in good condition, left Aberdeen on April 21 on what was to have been a 13-hour run to Neah Bay in the 34-foot troller Thordis.

The boat's engine broke down. For nine days, through some of the stormiest weather of the spring, the Thordis drifted. Maddern and Turner had no radio transmitter.

The Thordis drifted close to shore near this fishing village, 80 miles northwest of Victoria, and the boat was spotted by Postmaster Joshua Edgar.

Edgar phoned Mr. and Mrs Clyde Ordway and the Ordways ran to the beach, waded into the icy water, caught a rope thrown from the Thordis, and hauled the boat through the one small gap in the reef that hems in bay.

Student Receives Research Grant

A Northeast State College freshman, Tommy Allen of Farmerville, has been chosen to receive a $476 grant from the Louisiana Heart Association to be used in a study of insects, President George T. Walker has assounced.

Notification that the grant was being awarded was received in a latter from Rayford C. Rogers, executive director, Louisiana Heart Association, New Orleans. It will begin July 1.

The student's research problem will be entitled, "A Study of the Activity of Insects under Several Conditions of Light, Temperature and Humidity." He will work at the college under the supervision of Edward C. Whatley, assistant professor of biology.

The son of Mrs. R. J. Allen of Farmerville, Tommy is majoring in biology and minoring in chemistry at Northeast. Although a freshman, research in this field is not new to him as he did two year of study on "The Periodic Activity of Insects" as a high school student.

The grant is part of thousands of dollars given to undergraduates annually by heart associations throughout the country to get students interested in research. The donors feel that promoting scientific research of any kind will eventually accrue dividends to their special field of interest, explained Emmett J. Foster, Acting Head, Department of Pure and Applied Sciences.

This is the third scientific grant sponsored by the Louisiana Heart Association on which Northeast students have worked. Three students, Sylvia Jones, in 1954, and Jamie Nay Poulon and Jessie Lee Hilman, both in 1955, did research on the first grant, and Lloyd Posey Jr. and Mickey Drane both studied under the second grant in 1957.

Two Monkeys Shield Babe From Camera

By AUSTIN ABRAMS
Staff Writer

The parents of a newborn baby rhesus monkey at Bernstein Park zoo last night hogged the camera, but strictly refused to allow junior to be photographed.

Mama clutched the youngster, born Thursday night, like a boy holds an ice cream cone and papa squared his shoulders between mama and the photographer.

She must have known it because as the last flash popped, she wheeled to face City Recreation Director Jack Hesketh and thrust the small monk forward for everyone to see.

Hesketh had tried every trick in the book to get mamma to relent and show off her babe.

COAXED

About the only success he had was to get her down out of a box to share an extra helping of chopped corn with pappa.

However a half-dozen other monkeys in adjoining cages preened for late visitors at the zoo and apparently would have struck any pose for the camera.

Hesketh said the monk was born sometime Thursday night but was not the first born at the zoo.

He said the remainder of the zoo population took the event calmly, especially the big bears who are working diligently at eating all the wood parts of their cage. Or at least they're gnawing it down.

Hesketh said a new one was planned.

Hiding Newborn

Both parents of a rhesus monkey born Thursday night at the Bernstein Park zoo shielded their youngster from the camera last night in an obvious show-hogging exhibition. It's the first for the mother monk. Pappa's in front with mamma crouched with junior in the background. (Staff photo by Austin Abrams)

Eleanor Powell Sues To Divorce Actor Husband

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI)—Eleanor Powell filed suit for divorce Friday to end her 15-year marriage to actor Glenn Ford, 1958's movie box office champion, charging him with "great mental cruelty."

The action by the former screen dance star shattered another "ideal" movieland marriage. Attorney Jerry Giesler filed the suit, which fixed Ford's annual movie income at $260,000. Mrs. Ford seeks custody of the couple's 14-year old son, Peter.

Ford and Miss Powell married Oct. 23, 1943, when the actor was a sergeant in the Marine Corps and Miss Powell was one of the leading Metro - Goldwyn - Mayer stars. She gave up movie roles when her son was born.

Integration Is Opposed By Attorney

WASHINGTON (Special)—Shreveport Attorney W. Scott Wilkinson told the house civil rights subcommittee Friday it was better for Louisiana children to "grow up in ignorance" than to attend integrated schools.

He testified that segregationists "are not defiant of constituted authority" but believe that the Supreme Courts 1954 integration decision "violates the constitution." He said that while public officials swear to uphold the constitution, not to uphold Supreme Court or any mortal body of men"

Promptly queried by acting subcommittee chairman Bryon Rogers (D) Colo. whether he counseled officials to ignore court rulings, Wilkinson admitted "an officer of the Federal Government has a problem. However, he can do what he can to correct an error of the court."

Asked by a committee attorney whether Louisiana has been reducing its voting registration list, Wilkinson said, "We have been purging the rolls. A number of white people and some negroes have been eliminated.

Wilkinson asserted that only top-class citizens should vote and that others could be barred from the polls. "Whether it's gone too far is for further investigation." He added.

Esso Employes Hold Meeting On Contract Offer

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Independent union workers at Esso Standard Oil withdrew National Relations Board charges and held a mass meeting Friday night to conduct last-minute talks about Esso's new contract offer.

Months of contract bitterness between the refinery management and 4,000 workers may end quickly.

The members of the Independent Industrial Workers Assn. (IIWA) start voting Monday for three days on Esso's new one-year contract. They have been working without a contract since last July.

In a latest development, the NLRB regional office at New Orleans said IIWA top officers had withdrawn charges of unfair practice against Esso growing out of the contract struggles.

The IIWA bargaining committee met with Esso employe relations staff members during the day, discussing the form in which the previously agreed upon changes will appear in a new contract.

During recent weeks of contract difficulties, several national unions, including James Hoffa's teamsters, made a bid for the IIWA membership. The teamsters are still trying.

PREDICTS NEW GROWTH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Chemical Week magazine predicted Friday the petrochemical industry will outgrow industrial chemicals as a whole and be reaching a production volume of 11 to 12 billion dollars by 1965.

'VISITOR' RETURNS

GAILY COLORED COAL

NOTTINGHAM, England (UPI) —Wilfred Furness, chairman of the Regional Coal Utilization Council, Friday predicted men in white uniforms soon would be delivering red, silver and gold-colored coal to home users. He said the sprayed-on colors would make the coal dust-proof.

State Prison To Try New Farm System

ANGOLA, La. (AP) — The farming operation at the state penitentiary is going through a fiscal change designed to make the Angola farm self-supporting.

"With the new system," said Warden Victor Walker, "we can figure the production cost and charge accordingly."

Gov. Earl Long recently told a news conference Angola needed a first class business manager and a new farm manager.

LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP) — Offerings of high-yielding No. 1 and 2 grades of butcher hogs under 230 lbs were scarce Friday and prices of that group were steady to 25 cents higher but others were steady to strong. Sows were steady to mostly 25 cents lower.

Buyers paid $16.90-17.10 for several lots of 200-220 lb mostly No. 1 butcher grade and the $17.25 top very sparingly, for only one small lot of 200 lb No. 1s.

The 190-225 lb mixed 1s and 2s moved at $16.65-17.00 and mixed 1-3 grades of the same weights at $16.25-16.75. Heavier weights were $14.75-16.25 and sows $11.75-14.00.

There were not enough slaughter steers on sale to test the market. Heifers were scarce and steady to weak, bulls steady to 50 cents lower and vealers steady.

Heifers sold at $24.00-26.50 for the few standard and good kinds offered, cutter and utility bulls $20.50-23.50, and standard to good vealers $27.00-34.00.

In the sheep market, a few good and choice shorn slaughter lambs cleared at $21.75 and cull to choice ewes at $5.00-7.50.

GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures activity on the Board of Trade Friday was guided almost entirely by speculative positions in the May contracts where about half the volume of business was done.

At times, prices of most of these deliveries were well ahead as short interests bid them up to cover commitments. However, the longs appeared as eager to sell out at the higher levels as the shorts were to even up and nearly all contracts closed within small fractions of previous finishes.

With commercial influences almost entirely absent and the outlook for even a moderate pickup not very good, longs in May wheat have been looking for any small bulges to liquidate. Circumstances in other grains, though, have not been so decidedly bearish.

Wheat closed ⅜ cent a bushel higher to ⅜ lower, May $1.93¼-⅛; corn ⅜ higher to ¼ lower, May $1.25⅜; oats; ½ higher to ⅛ lower, May 66⅛-¼; rye 1¼ higher to ¼ lower, May $1.40¼-40, and soybeans ½-⅞ higher, May $2.28⅞-29.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 5 to 45 cents a bale higher Friday.

Favorable weather reports from the cotton belt caused futures to sag in early dealings. Spot house buying in new crop months, which was believed to be associated with textile mill selling of cotton for delivery in the second half, reversed the trend in futures. The buying gained momentum toward the close.

There were 10 May delivery notices issued and they were reported stopped by a leading Houston spot firm. Selling in nearby May futures was mostly scale up. Trading in nearby May expires May 13. The open interest in that position at the start was down to a net 134,300 bales.

BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

United Press International

PRICES

The Justice Department and Federal Trade Commission opposed legislation to require corporations in industries dominated by only a few companies to give advance notice and justification of price increases. The Justice Department said the bill would "discourage price declines" as well as increases.

BANK MERGER

The Justice Department said it lacks legal authority to bring anti-trust action against the merger of J. P. Morgan & Co. and Guaranty Trust Co. Robert A. Bicks, acting assistant attorney general in charge of the anti-trust division, noted the department had urged changes in the law in the past.

LOTTERY

The Treasury Department, which has its problems raising the money needed to run the government, drew the line at running a lottery as a fund-raiser. Rep. Paul A. Fino (R-N.Y.), long an advocate of a national lottery, disclosed that Treasury Secretary Anderson had come out against his bill calling for a referendum on the subject.

PRODUCTION

Production shutdowns for annual spring inventories and other work stoppages at General Motors plants this week dropped the auto industry's production 11 per cent below last week's count, Ward's Automotive reports said. The statistical agency said the industry was expected to turn out 119,739 cars and 26,290 trucks this week.

OIL

For the fourth month in a row free world crude oil production rose to an all-time high in February, the Oil & Gas Journal reported. The February record of 16,825,500 barrels daily was reached despite a decline in the U.S. to 7,187,000 barrels daily, the magazine said.

Stocks Close Out Week On Strong Note

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market closed the week on a cheerful note, with industrials, rails and utilities all closing higher for the first time in two weeks.

Rails made the best gain on a percentage basis, with improvement ranging close to 2 points in Illinois Central. The best individual gains, however, came among the industrials where there were rises running to 11 points in Bell & Howell and to 2 and 3 points in many of the electronics, drug and chemical shares, tires, and steels.

While there was no news of major importance to influence market action, individual stocks often moved in line with corporate announcements. A point gain in American Motors, for instance, accompanies a prediction by its president for an important pickup in the third quarter.

Hoffman electronics gained 3½ on a sharply higher first quarter earnings report. Sperry Rand continued to be traded actively, with some sources ascribing at least part of the demand to recent publicity given the company's Univac in connection with horse racing predictions. Realizing of profits marked up earlier in the week cut Sperry fractionally in the final session.

On the other hand tobacco stocks stood out as the chief soft spot. In the background here was publicity given the Arthur Godfrey lung cancer operation and the increased cigarette tax in New York. American Tobacco fell 2¼, Reynolds 2½, Liggett & Myers 3.

Cotton Exchange Restates Position To Monroe Man

The New Orleans Cotton Exchange yesterday restated its position of supporting direct payments to farmers by making public the contents of a letter to Paul Ransom, Monroe, chairman of the Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Advisory Committee, who had criticized their position.

Lodwick said the Exchange has urged protection for the farmer but objects to the present method which is harmful even to the farmer himself.

He added that the Exchange believes the direct payment plan would offer visible rather than veiled protection to the farmer during a period of adjustment while he makes the difficult transition back to free planting and free marketing.

Bolin Speaker At Observance Of Law Day

Judge James E. Bolin addressed the Fourth District Bar Association here yesterday for the first local observation of Law Day.

Judge Bolin, judge-elect of the Second Circuit Court of Appeals, pointed to the necessity of attorneys to maintain a standard for all the judiciary and warned of allowing courts to become pawns of other branches of the government.

The judge stated that the U. S. Supreme Court is "in the hands of the executive department. "This, he said, began during the depression and has continued to the present. He added that each of the judges is selected on a basis of how his personal views coincide with the administration in power.

But, he asserted, "In this country we have a system of laws and not of men. This means that we try to guard so that our laws will remain laws and not personalities."

The Minden resident said that the acceptance by the general population of the State of Louisiana on matters pertaining to the courts when the bar associations recommend them, exhibits the confidence of the public in the bar which must be maintained.

3 New Well Sites Staked In District

Three new well sites staked in the northeast Louisiana area were filed yesterday in the Monroe District office of the state department of conservation.

Duncan S. Cook, district manager said that two of the locations in Catahoula parish were to be oil wells and one in Union parish was to be a gas well.

The gas well is Louisiana Gas Producing Company's Reppond No 1 and is in the Monroe Gas Field.

It is located in Section 11, Township 22 north, Range 3 east and will be drilled to 2,300 feet.

Both of the oil wells belong to A. J. Hodges Industries, Inc., and are in Prichard Field.

One, the International Paper Company No. 2, is in Section 20, Township 10 north, Range 6 east.

The other well, Louisiana Central A-5, is located in Section 17, Township 10 north, Range 6 east.

Both wells are to be drilled to the lower Cretaceous zone at about 8,500 feet.

Presently there are three producing wells in Prichard field which was discovered several months ago, Cook said.

LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO (AP) — Offerings of high-yielding No. 1 and 2 grades of butcher hogs under 230 lbs were scarce Friday and prices of that group were steady to 25 cents higher but others were steady to strong. Sows were steady to mostly 25 cents lower.

Buyers paid $16.90-17.10 for several lots of 200-220 lb mostly No. 1 butcher grade and the $17.25 top very sparingly, for only one small lot of 200 lb No. 1s.

The 190-225 lb mixed 1s and 2s moved at $16.65-17.00 and mixed 1-3 grades of the same weights at $16.25-16.75. Heavier weights were $14.75-16.25 and sows $11.75-14 00.

There were not enough slaughter steers on sale to test the market. Heifers were scarce and steady to weak, bulls steady to 50 cents lower and vealers steady.

Heifers sold at $24.00-26.50 for the few standard and good kinds offered, cutter and utility bulls $20.50-23.50, and standard to good vealers $27.00-34.00.

In the sheep market, a few good and choice shorn slaughter lambs cleared at $21.75 and cull to choice ewes at $5.00-7.50.

GRAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures activity on the Board of Trade Friday was guided almost entirely by speculative positions in the May contracts where about half the volume of business was done.

At times, prices of most of these deliveries were well ahead as short interests bid them up to cover commitments. However, the longs appeared as eager to sell out at the higher levels as the shorts were to even up and nearly all contracts closed within small fractions of previous finishes.

With commercial influences almost entirely absent and the outlook for even a moderate pickup not very good, longs in May wheat have been looking for any small bulges to liquidate. Circumstances in other grains, though, have not been so decidedly bearish.

Wheat closed ⅜ cent a bushel higher to ⅜ lower, May $1.93¼-⅛; corn ⅜ higher to ¼ lower, May $1.25⅜; oats; ½ higher to ⅛ lower, May 66⅛-¼; rye 1¼ higher to ¼ lower, May $1.40¼-40, and soybeans ½-⅞ higher, May $2.28⅞-29.

COTTON

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK (AP)—Cotton futures closed 5 to 45 cents a bale higher Friday.

Favorable weather reports from the cotton belt caused futures to sag in early dealings. Spot house buying in new crop months, which was believed to be associated with textile mill selling of cotton for delivery in the second half, reversed the trend in futures. The buying gained momentum toward the close.

There were 10 May delivery notices issued and they were reported stopped by a leading Houston spot firm. Selling in nearby May futures was mostly scale up. Trading in nearby May expires May 13. The open interest in that position at the start was down to a net 134,300 bales.

Futures closed 5 to 45 cents a bale higher than the previous close.

Mixed rubbers favored gains with both Goodrich and General Tire up 1¾, while Goodyear slipped 1¾. Aircrafts were mixed, with Martin up 1⅜, while sale of a block dipped General Dynamics 1⅛. American added ⅝ in little changed airlines. Steels were better with gains from 1¼ to 1¾ by U. S. Steel, Youngstown, National and Lukens. BUSINESS HIGHLIGHTS

United Press International

PRICES

The Justice Department and Federal Trade Commission opposed legislation to require corporations in industries dominated by only a few companies to give advance notice and justification of price increases. The Justice Department said the bill would "discourage price declines" as well as increases.

BANK MERGER

The Justice Department said it lacks legal authority to bring anti-trust action against the merger of J. P. Morgan & Co. and Guaranty Trust Co. Robert A. Bicks, acting assistant attorney general in charge of the anti-trust division, noted the department had urged changes in the law in the past.

LOTTERY

The Treasury Department, which has its problems raising the money needed to run the government, drew the line at running a lottery as a fund-raiser. Rep. Paul A. Fino (R-N.Y.), long an advocate of a national lottery, disclosed that Treasury Secretary Anderson had come out against his bill calling for a referendum on the subject.

PRODUCTION

Production shutdowns for annual spring inventories and other work stoppages at General Motors plants this week dropped the auto industry's production 11 per cent below last week's count, Ward's Automotive reports said. The statistical agency said the industry was expected to turn out 119,739 cars and 26,290 trucks this week.

OIL

For the fourth month in a row free world crude oil production rose to an all-time high in February, the Oil & Gas Journal reported. The February record of 16,825,500 barrels daily was reached despite a decline in the U.S. to 7,187,000 barrels daily, the magazine said.

Stocks Close Out Week On Strong Note

NEW YORK (UPI)—The stock market closed the week on a cheerful note, with industrials, rails and utilities all closing higher for the first time in two weeks.

Rails made the best gain on a percentage basis, with improvement ranging close to 2 points in Illinois Central. The best individual gains, however, came among the industrials where there were rises running to 11 points in Bell & Howell and to 2 and 3 points in many of the electronics, drug and chemical shares, tires, and steels.

While there was no news of major importance to influence market action, individual stocks often moved in line with corporate announcements. A point gain in American Motors, for instance, accompanies a prediction by its president for an important pickup in the third quarter.

Hoffman electronics gained 3½ on a sharply higher first quarter earnings report. Sperry Rand continued to be traded actively, with some sources ascribing at least part of the demand to recent publicity given the company's Univac in connection with horse racing predictions. Realizing of profits marked up earlier in the week cut Sperry fractionally in the final session.

On the other hand tobacco stocks stood out as the chief soft spot. In the background here was publicity given the Arthur Godfrey lung cancer operation and the increased cigarette tax in New York. American Tobacco fell 2¼, Reynolds 2½, Liggett & Myers 3.

Cotton Exchange Restates Position To Monroe Man

The New Orleans Cotton Exchange yesterday restated its position of supporting direct payments to farmers by making public the contents of a letter to Paul Ransom, Monroe, chairman of the Louisiana Farm Bureau Cotton Advisory Committee, who had criticized their position.

Ransom reportedly questioned the "motives of this attempt to saddle farmers with a program which would make them wards of the federal government."

Lodwick said the Exchange has urged protection for the farmer but objects to the present method which is harmful even to the farmer himself.

He added that the Exchange believes the direct payment plan would offer visible rather than veiled protection to the farmer during a period of adjustment while he makes the difficult transition back to free planting and free marketing.

Bolin Speaker At Observance Of Law Day

Judge James E. Bolin addressed the Fourth District Bar Association here yesterday for the first local observation of Law Day.

Judge Bolin, judge-elect of the Second Circuit Court of Appeals, pointed to the necessity of attorneys to maintain a standard for all the judiciary and warned of allowing courts to become pawns of other branches of the government.

The judge stated that the U. S. Supreme Court is "in the hands of the executive department. "This, he said, began during the depression and has continued to the present. He added that each of the judges is selected on a basis of how his personal views coincide with the administration in power.

But, he asserted, "In this country we have a system of laws and not of men. This means that we try to guard so that our laws will remain laws and not personalities."

The Minden resident said that the acceptance by the general population of the State of Louisiana on matters pertaining to the courts when the bar associations recommend them, exhibits the confidence of the public in the bar which must be maintained.

3 New Well Sites Staked In District

Three new well sites staked in the northeast Louisiana area were filed yesterday in the Monroe District office of the state department of conservation.

Duncan S. Cook, district manager said that two of the locations in Catahoula parish were to be oil wells and one in Union parish was to be a gas well.

The gas well is Louisiana Gas Producing Company's Reppond No 1 and is in the Monroe Gas Field.

It is located in Section 11, Township 22 north, Range 3 east and will be drilled to 2,300 feet.

Both of the oil wells belong to A. J. Hodges Industries, Inc., and are in Prichard Field.

One, the International Paper Company No. 2, is in Section 20, Township 10 north, Range 6 east.

The other well, Louisiana Central A-5, is located in Section 17, Township 10 north, Range 6 east.

Both wells are to be drilled to the lower Cretaceous zone at about 8,500 feet.

Presently there are three producing wells in Prichard field which was discovered several months ago, Cook said.

Sixty Deputies Break Up School Board Fisticuffs

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—A riot broke out at a school board meeting at suburban Aldin late Thursday night in a dispute involving a dry treasury. Two board members suffered minor cuts before 60 deputy sheriffs broke up the affair.

The board called the emergency meeting after teachers voted a second time in two weeks not to work without pay. The 9,000-pupil system is without funds.

Three board members who refused to resign took refuge in a rest room after two of them received minor cuts in a brief fight with citizens. Several persons rushed to the high school auditorium stage, pulled two board members from the platform and struck them with chairs.

ENOUGH MONEY

The injured members were Robert L. Whitmarsh and Harry Ammons. The third minority member, Carl H. Tautenhahn, escaped behind the stage. They refused to resign and the flareup followed.

The special meeting was called after teachers of the independent school district voted 169-12 to leave their jobs until enough money is in sight to assure they will be paid through Aug. 31, end of the fiscal year.

A similar vote shut the school down two weeks ago but the Legislature rushed through a bill authorizing the district to issue $200,000 in warrants. A Houston bank, however, declined to accept.

Condition Of Boy's Eye Turns Worse

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The condition of seven-year-old Hugh Thornhill's one remaining eye has taken a turn for the worse, according to his mother.

Hugh, who suffers from glaucoma, lost his right eye four years ago. When hope for his left eye began to fade, residents of Natchez raised a fund to send the boy to Dr. William Ferguson, a San Francisco eye specialist.

Soviet Scientist Gives Theory On Two Tiny Moons

LONDON (AP)—A Soviet scientist said Friday the two tiny moons of Mars are artificial space stations, placed in orbit by a now-extinct race of Martians.

I. Shklovskiy set forth his theory in the Communist youth paper Komsomolskaya Pravda, quoted by Moscow radio.

Shklovskiy said the Martian moons, Phobos and Deimos, are probably hollow. From his observations, he believes they are slowly spiraling down toward Mars and untilmately will crash on its surface.

The Soviet physicist said there is definite evidence that Phobos, the moon nearest Mars, is speeding up as it rotates about its parent planet.

"This is the same behavior as that of artificial earth satellites. Their speed is slowed down by the resistance of the atmosphere and they lose height, going faster and faster as they approach the earth."

"These two bodies may weigh about 100 million tons," Shklovskiy said, "but the creation of such satellites would not be an insoluble engineering problem for intelligent beings.

"But many astronomers believe the atmosphere did have oxygen two to three billion years ago.
